Why This Winter's Natural Gas Bills Are Higher

Natural gas bills are up because of colder temperatures and because the federal government has approved higher gas prices at the wellhead.

The major cause of higher bills since December is colder temperatures, according to Harry Borchert, vice president of rates and regulatory affairs for Michigan Gas Utilities in Monroe. Borchert said Michigan Gas Utilities has received an increased number of complaints this year about high January natural gas bills.

Borchert said temperatures were almost 25 per cent colder in the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area during January this year compared to temperatures in January, 1975. According to Michigan Gas Utilities figures, the median temperature during January this year was 22.8 degrees in the Twin Cities area, while the median temperature of January last year was 30.3 degrees.

In addition to colder temperatures which causes customers to burn more fuel, Borchert said the cost for natural gas charged to Michigan Gas Utilities from suppliers has also increased. The Michigan Public Service Commission, which regulates gas rates, allows the cost to be forwarded to customers, Borchert said. The cost increase is reflected in the purchase gas adjustment (PGA) figure on customer's bills, he said.

For the average natural gas customer (using 288 units or 28,800 cubic feet of gas during January) the increase would have amounted to approximately $6.43, from $2.61 in January last year, to $9.04 in January this year.

The increase in natural gas prices was granted to natural gas suppliers by the Federal Power commission recently, Borchert said, because of their concern over natural gas shortages. The new rate allowed by the Federal Power commission is 2.850 cents per unit (100 cubic feet of gas). The rate, which fluctuates from month to month, was seven-tenths of a cent last January, according to Borchert.

The Nixons Will Return To China

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon and his wife will visit China, scene of his greatest diplomatic triumph as president, at the repeated invitation of Chinese leaders.

The visit is scheduled to begin Feb. 21, the fourth anniversary of the Nixons' first trip to China. The Chinese will send a plane to California for the former president and all other costs of the trip will be borne by Nixon, a Nixon spokesman said. Nixon had declined earlier Chinese invitations because of poor health; American visitors to China have reported that the Chinese speak fondly of Nixon and ask that greetings be conveyed to him.

Sources close to Nixon also said he refused a 1975 invitation so as not to conflict with President Ford's journey to China.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nease stressed that Nixon would be traveling "as a private citizen" and the trip was "not expected to have any impact on diplomatic relations" or on domestic issues.

"There is no significance attached by the White House to the invitation," Nease said.

President Ford's only advance knowledge of the trip came in a telephone conversation with Nixon and a visit Thursday by the head of the Chinese liaison office in Washington who delivered the text of the official announcement made in Peking.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had known of the plans, but not the exact date, since he visited San Clemente last Monday, the Los Angeles Times reported.

After the official announcement, Kissinger said: "President Nixon has the historic achievement of having been the president who opened up relations with China and his visit as a private citizen will symbolize that relationship, which we expect to grow between our two countries."

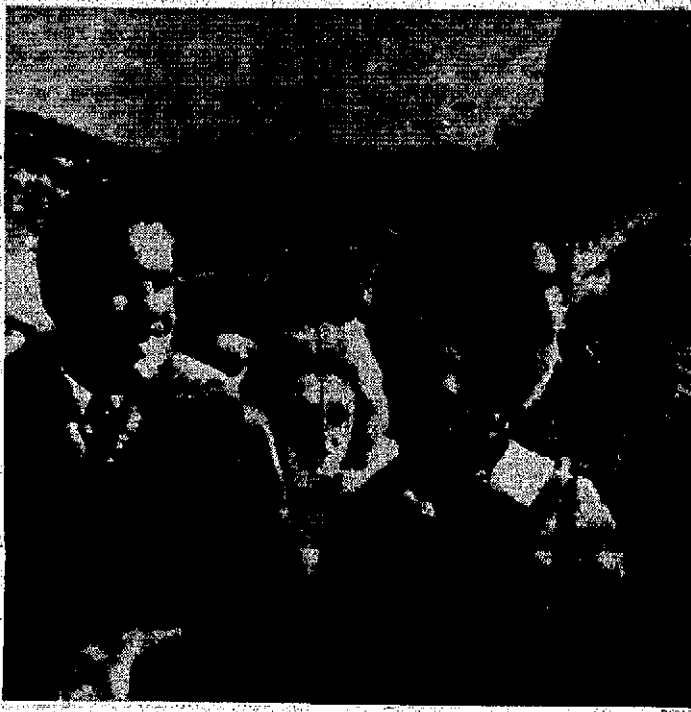

When David and Julie Eisenhower visited China in December, Chairman Mao Tse-tung not only invited her father back to China but said he would be on hand to greet him, according to Nixon family sources.

The trip was arranged by the Nixon family and the Chinese government, without the participation of American officials, it was learned.

The Nixon spokesman said the Chinese will provide Nixon with a medical team and a supply of his type of blood during the trip.

Nixon suffered a near-fatal attack of pleuritis after leaving office.

The entourage will include Nixon's San Clemente chief of staff, retired Marine Col. Jack Brennan, and his Secret Service detail.

Crim Predicting Financial Woes For School Districts

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The governor's proposed budget could force school districts to raise property taxes by an average of three mills, says House Speaker Bobby Crim.

The Davison Democrat said Friday that Gov. William Milliken's proposed overall 3.7 per cent increase in funding for kindergarten through 12th grade will not help districts overcome a 8 per cent cost increases caused by inflation.

He said the loss of about $108 million in personal property inventory taxes, due to a new single business tax, also would cause problems.

Dr. John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, also has expressed concern that local taxes will have to go up to fund schools.

Milliken, however, has insisted local school districts can provide adequate teaching without increasing taxes. "With austerity, we can avoid the overall need to increase local taxes," Milliken said.

"If school districts on the average want to maintain their current level of programs they will have to raise millage," Crim said.

The governor has recommended replacing $110 million of the personal property inventory tax loss. His general fund grant to the school aid fund would be cut by $15.8 million, but total funds would go up $93.3 million via a series of innovations in funding.

Crim said Milliken's plan to put adult education in a separate category will reduce official enrollment counts used to determine state funding and jack up per-pupil costs school districts will have to pay.

Crim also said that any school districts which levy 28 mills or more will not be reimbursed for loss of personal property inventory tax revenues and will be in an extra bind.

"This is going to be one of the worst budgets I've ever seen for K-12," he said.

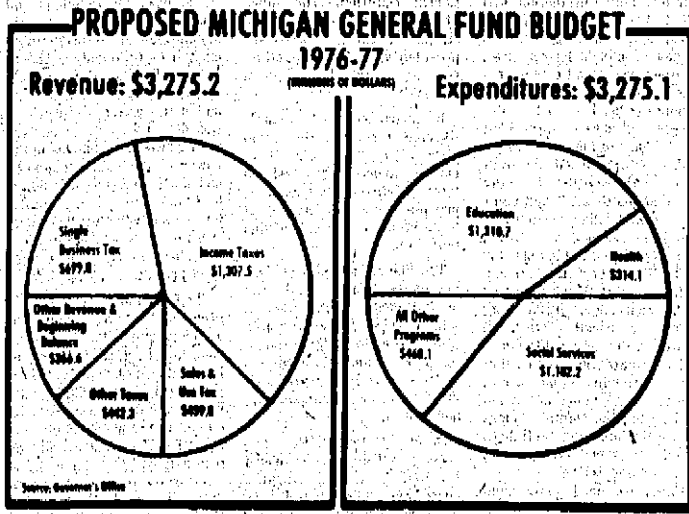

He also predicted a stormy road for Milliken's proposal to save money by cutting $39.8 million from the state's contribution to teachers' retirement systems.

"There's going to be a terrible fight. A lot of people have something at stake here. They're not going to give up that money without a fight. I don't have a position until we find out what is adequate to make these funds solvent," he said.

Crim said Milliken's proposed $3.2 billion budget — which contains the lowest increase in 10 years — is based on revenue projections that "are always on the high side ... I'm just a little bit concerned ... we could get in trouble by a few million dollars."

Crim said he has met with the House and Senate leadership and with the chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees.

"We're going to set deadlines. (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The farm compromise that built California's farm labor elections law, Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s most celebrated achievement, has collapsed.

The Agricultural Labor Relations Board ran out of money Friday, and closed its four regional offices after presiding over five months of relative peace in the state's fields.

More than 400 secret-ballot elections, the first for California's farm workers, have been held under the law. Disputes, though sometimes heated, have not been violent as the previous decade of union-grower conflict often was.

But growers who were part of the agreement Brown engineered last summer now say they were taken in by the governor and betrayed by a board they call partial to Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers.

The growers' legislative allies, demanding changes in the law, have blocked a $3.8 million appropriation the ALRB needs to keep operating through June.

Chavez called Friday "a day of infamy" and said his union, which has won a majority of the elections, has no choice but "to return to strikes and boycotts."

Brown met with numerous groups of growers over the last three days and has been telephoning market owners, food distributors and legislators, seeking support for the appropriation.

But after meeting with major growers and farm-area legislators late Friday, Brown said no solution had been reached. He accused the growers of trying to exert "minority rule" and said he didn't think they were speaking for all of the farming community.

Growers' spokesman Harry Kubo, president of the Nisad Farmers' League, said growers are trying to make the law "more equitable," not destroy it. He said the appropriation bill is "the only leverage we have."

Millburg Woman $10,000 Winner

Bonnie Warren, 25, of Millburg, has become the area's latest $10,000 winner in the state's instant lottery game — all because of a phone call. Miss Warren said she bought the ticket after a man had turned it down to go and make a phone call last Friday.

When the man came back, she said he told her she owed him a steak dinner and that he was going home to "cry." She said she did not know the man's name.

According to Miss Warren, she made the purchase in the Joe Sax tavern in Millburg.

Miss Warren said the person tending bar was trying to convince the man he should buy two tickets when he said he was going to outside to make a phone call.

Miss Warren said she bought both tickets and the first turned out to be the winner.

Miss Warren, who is employed at Whirlpool Corp. plant 4, St. Joseph, said "I'm going to buy a brand new 900 BMW motorcycle" with her winnings. "It's the best."

Miss Warren said she had stopped at the tavern after work to have a hamburger with a friend.

Hail Maryland Jury And Michigan Court!

The Michigan Court of Appeals and a Maryland jury this week handed out singularly just and appropriate decisions in favor of two innocent victims of crime.

In fact, they did more than that. Their decisions point to a method of curbing crime that could be at least as effective as jail cells, quite possibly more so.

In essence, both the appeals court and the jury said "make the criminal pay—in cash—for his crime."

The Maryland jury awarded $365,000 to Mary Knight from two men who were convicted of raping her: $40,000 in compensatory damages and $325,000 in punitive claims.

The Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that a judge can require defendants to pay insurance companies for damage done during commission of a crime.

Miss Knight, the rape victim, is going after the wages of one of her rapists. He's working after serving one year in prison. The other rapist is still in prison, but Miss Knight will seek to collect from whatever he earns there anywhere else.

"I didn't want the money," says Miss Knight. "That's not the point." The point is she thinks the court judgment will encourage other women to report rape. And, most of all, she thinks that paying off $365,000 for the rest of their natural lives will go a long way toward keeping her assailants, and some other men as well, from committing any more rapes.

You better believe it! Especially if the statutes and the courts make the garnishments to satisfy judgment large—and bankruptcy-proof.

The same applies in the car theft case that came before the Michigan Court of Appeals. In its ruling, the appeals court reviewed Michigan's law allowing judges to require "meet and proper" restitution as a condition of probation. It is within a judge's discretion to require payment either to an individual or an insurance company, the court said.

The court upheld probation imposed by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Susan Borman on Anthony Nickson for taking a car without the owner's permission. The judge put Nickson on three years' probation, on the condition he pay for damage to the car.

An insurance company initially picked up the damage costs but Judge Borman ordered Nickson to reimburse the firm. Nickson appealed that order but was turned down by the appeals court.

Three cheers for a remarkably common sense Appeals Court judgment!

In the long run, it costs the general public just as much whether a criminal rips off an individual or an insurance company. If the insurance companies don't get reimbursed for their losses to criminals, honest motorists' auto insurance rates go up.

Moreover, why let a criminal escape the logical consequences of his act? He'll learn more paying off year after year by the sweat of his brow than he will by sitting in prison.

Historically, jail time inculcates most prisoners with resentment and even worse habits, not remorse.

Paying off makes the criminal learn through privation at least the assessable damage he has caused society.

Moreover, to the extent that reparation for a crime is possible, paying off reimburses the criminal's victim.

What's more just than that?

Bugs Getting Stronger Each Succeeding Spring

With each gasp of winter comes the promise that spring is nigh. Soon the misery of cold and enforced hibernation will be over, giving way to the tonics of warmth, sunshine, greenery—and bugs.

The weatherman has not made any predictions that this spring will be better or worse than usual, and the grass will most likely grow as fast as it always has.

But, entomologists warn that the bugs aren't the same. Ever since man began tinkering with nature, he has had to answer for the consequences. And his attempted annihilation of pests has brought him more grief than most of his other anti-nature forays. Bugs will not die. They simply fade away, regroup and come back in ever-stronger forces. But this is not news to the housewife who finds herself battling insects each year in spite of the toll she manages to extract from their numbers in each skirmish.

What is new is the increased vitality of the breeds of pests which invade the house, the garden and the fields with the first smell of spring. Almost without exception, the multitude of pests for which science has been providing extermination sprays, powders and potions of all descriptions since the discovery of DDT have now graduated beyond susceptibility to the weapons which proved lethal to them in other years.

Entomologists, professional pest controllers and others with an interest in bugs are worried. Not that pests are about to swat the spray gun from the housewife's hand and chase her from her abode, but they will become more troublesome before science unravels the mystery of resistance.

Resistance is the weapon man has not succeeded in overcoming in the bug arsenal. Not enough is known about the manner in which any being is able to immunize itself from an enemy by exposure. Resistance has been described by one wit as the force which produced the fly swatter as a weapon common to all civilizations.

Shallow Probing, Deep Problems

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A wide ranging series of studies by Congressional committees, and the General Accounting Office are learning why the average citizen puts little trust in the bureaucracy.

Though it has been estimated that fraud and bumbling in Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, Supplementary Security Income and other health Education and Welfare programs run into the multi-billions, one report concludes that HEW taken as long as five years to take corrective action against discovery of the deficiencies.

The organizational structure of HEW's fraud and abuse units was described as "fragmented and confused." Numbers of investigators are said to have little training or experience.

A look into the operation of the Guaranteed Student Loan program disclosed that defaults were running at 24 per cent and that accumulated defaults now exceed $400 million. A federal report handed to Congress was so constructed that $300 million in defaults were hidden.

Investigators found that the Interior Department knows so little about the oil leases it offers for sale on the continental shelf that officials have no way of being even reasonably sure they are receiving fair market value for properties worth billions.

Though considerable sums have been spent by the Small Business Administration to help disadvantaged firms become self-sufficient and competitive, the program has been a flop. In six years, the program's success totaled a mere 31 small firms nationwide.

The Energy Research and Development Administration is showing Congress it will need less than $2 billion for a demonstration Clinch River Breeder Reactor, no mean sum. Yet investigators looking into the basis for ERDA's estimates, found them fuzzy. Obvious costs were added over, and almost certain problems ignored.

Though there has been much criticism of irregularities on the commodity futures trading markets, irregularities which eventually result in exorbitant prices for consumers with little benefit to producers and high profits for some speculators, a team of government investigators found there has been little meaningful attempt by the government to study the major factors usually believed to be responsible.

The Federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration has been so rough with private companies it is estimated that industry has been required to put in from $1 billion to $2 billion in equipment of such doubtful value no appreciable reduction in injuries has been achieved thereby. By contrast, an investigating team found severe noncompliance in a sampling of government workplaces where OSHA makes only spotty, ineffective checks.

And as for the federal government's own showplace, the District of Columbia, investigations found, refuse collection employees paid for a 40-hour week, worked an average of 24.5 hours. Labor productivity for processing individual tax returns declined 40 per cent between 1960 and 1972.

Liberalism Has New Goals

Often it is difficult to see a pattern taking shape behind the headlines, but sometimes an obscure news item helps to bring all the disparate stories into focus and crystallize their meaning. In this column, I will set forth the pattern, and then provide the crystallizing — indeed, the delicious — news item.

First, the overall pattern. We have been witnessing for some time an all-out root-and-branch attack upon the Executive branch of the U.S. government, and upon the institution of the presidency in particular. Some conservatives, dreaming by the fire of old fears with FDR, have looked upon this with satisfaction, but they have not bothered to understand the policy implications of this attack.

The new liberalism of the past decade has little in common with the broad-and-better FDR- Truman - Kennedy - Johnson brand. It emphatically does not emanate from the labor groups, farmers, ethnics, and Keynesian economists of yesterday's liberal coalition. The older liberalism, take note, favored a strong and "activist" presidency, an expanding economy, and U.S. global influence.

In sharp contrast, today's liberalism reflects the world view of a "new class" of college-educated professional people, academics, intellectuals, and managers. It is important to grasp the world view of this new class.

The liberals of the new class are opposed to the goals and achievements of liberal capitalism. They despise economic growth as ecologically unsound, but also — and more importantly — as morally reprehensible. They favor central planning and control.

In foreign policy, the new-class liberalism is Third-World oriented; and, with varying degrees of explicitness, desires the withdrawal of U.S. influence from the Third World.

The political instincts of the new-class liberals perceive clearly that weakening the importance of the presidency is an important step toward the neutralization of U.S. power on the world scene.

In line with its ideology, the new class desires to veto U.S. participation in this global contest for power and influence, and — not least — wealth and resources. The ultimate goal of the new class is the radical redistribution of the world's wealth in a way disadvantageous to the U.S.

Congress, in the older theory, is supposed to be the "popular" branch of government, the one most responsive to majority views.

In fact, however, it is the branch most susceptible to new-class leverage. A firm triple alliance exists among congressmen, their staffs and committees, the Federal bureaucracy, and the special interests ministered to by both groupings. These special interests are increasingly new class in character, and they get a powerful helping hand from the media.

And now, my delicious and illuminating news item. On January 25, in — predictably enough — Cambridge, Mass., a number of the nation's foremost legal and academic authorities issued a report that was described as a consensus urging sweeping changes in the power of the U.S. presidency and shifting some of that power to Congress. Most notably, Congress must assert its control over foreign policy. Translation: new-class policy preferences must prevail.

Chief spokesman for this group of "foremost legal and academic authorities" was none other than Prof. Ronald Berger of Harvard, who became an anti-presidential guru during the Watergate furore. Berger was quoted in the press as observing: "The President is only our man Friday."

Naturally, the new-class candidate for post of Our Man Friday is a congressman from a small state, Morris Udall, endorsed last week in full-page ads by, naturally enough, Archibald Cox.

Hail Maryland Jury And Michigan Court!

The Michigan Court of Appeals and a Maryland jury this week handed out singularly just and appropriate decisions in favor of two innocent victims of crime.

In fact, they did more than that. Their decisions point to a method of curbing crime that could be at least as effective as jail cells, quite possibly more so.

In essence, both the appeals court and the jury said "make the criminal pay—in cash—for his crime."

The Maryland jury awarded $365,000 to Mary Knight from two men who were convicted of raping her: $40,000 in compensatory damages and $325,000 in punitive claims.

The Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that a judge can require defendants to pay insurance companies for damage done during commission of a crime.

Miss Knight, the rape victim, is going after the wages of one of her rapists. He's working after serving one year in prison. The other rapist is still in prison, but Miss Knight will seek to collect from whatever he earns there or anywhere else.

"I didn't want the money," says Miss Knight. "That's not the point." The point is she thinks the court judgment will encourage other women to report rape. And, most of all, she thinks that paying off $365,000 for the rest of their natural lives will go a long way toward keeping her assailants, and some other men as well, from committing any more rapes.

You better believe it! Especially if the statutes and the courts make the garnishments to satisfy judgment large—and bankruptcy-proof.

The same applies in the car theft case that came before the Michigan Court of Appeals. In its ruling, the appeals court reviewed Michigan's law allowing judges to require "meet and proper" restitution as a condition of probation. It is within a judge's discretion to require payment either to an individual or an insurance company, the court said.

The court upheld probation imposed by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Susan Borman on Anthony Nickson for taking a car without the owner's permission. The judge put Nickson on three years' probation, on the condition he pay for damage to the car.

An insurance company initially picked up the damage costs but Judge Borman ordered Nickson to reimburse the firm. Nickson appealed that order but was turned down by the appeals court.

Three cheers for a remarkably common sense Appeals Court judgment!

In the long run, it costs the general public just as much whether a criminal rips off an individual or an insurance company. If the insurance companies don't get reimbursed for their losses to criminals, honest motorists' auto insurance rates go up.

Moreover, why let a criminal escape the logical consequences of his act? He'll learn more paying off year after year by the sweat of his brow than he will by sitting in prison.

Historically, jail time inculcates most prisoners with resentment and ever worse habits, not remorse.

Paying off makes the criminal learn through privation at least the assessable damage he has caused society.

Moreover, to the extent that reparation for a crime is possible, paying off reimburses the criminal's victim.

What's more just than that?

Senseless Killings

Examples of deterioration of the human mind are on the increase. In previous generations a single murder case was sufficient to excite the nation. Now murders of the most senseless and cruel type are routine in the daily news.

Society is helpless against such twists of human character. Many brilliant minds have been devoted to studies of disordered mentalities, with little apparent success.

Effective punishment may be impossible under a system of jurisprudence which makes punishment, when it comes, seem lenient alongside the crime.

Bugs Getting Stronger Each Succeeding Spring

With each gasp of winter comes the promise that spring is nigh. Soon the misery of cold and enforced hibernation will be over, giving way to the tonics of warmth, sunshine, greenery — and bugs.

The weatherman has not made any predictions that this spring will be better or worse than usual, and the grass will most likely grow as fast as it always has.

But entomologists warn that the bugs aren't the same. Ever since man began tinkering with nature, he has had to answer for the consequences. And his attempted annihilation of pests has brought him more grief than most of his other anti-nature forays. Bugs will not die. They simply fade away, regroup and come back in ever-stronger forces. But this is not news to the housewife who finds herself battling insects each year in spite of the toll she manages to extract from their numbers in each skirmish.

What is new is the increased vitality of the breeds of pests which invade the house, the garden and the fields with the first smell of spring. Almost without exception, the multitude of pests for which science has been providing extermination sprays, powders and potions of all descriptions since the discovery of DDT have now graduated beyond susceptibility to the weapons which proved lethal to them in other years.

Entomologists, professional pest controllers and others with an interest in bugs are worried. Not that pests are about to swat the spray gun from the housewife's hand and chase her from her abode, but they will become more troublesome before science unravels the mystery of resistance.

Resistance is the weapon man has not succeeded in overcoming in the bug arsenal. Not enough is known about the manner in which any being is able to immunize itself from an enemy by exposure. Resistance has been described by one wit as the force which produced the fly swatter as a weapon common to all civilizations.

This Ford Not Pushing For Office

By Associated Press

William Clay Ford's career as vice presidential candidate could be short-lived. That's the way the auto executive and Detroit Lions owner seems to want it.

Ford, chosen Thursday by independent presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy as a running mate, showed little enthusiasm for a long, hard campaign.

"It could be temporary," McCarthy said Friday of his choice of Ford. "After all, he's taking chances and there are practical reasons why he may not want to go through it all the way to November. I'd be glad to have him going all the way, but he has some reservations."

Ford said he had no political ambitions and was sure McCarthy would eventually find someone more qualified politically to fill the spot.

Aside from Thursday's statement, Ford has refused to talk to reporters.

I really believe that the people in Allegan county should take a long, hard and very serious look at their board of commissioners. He has, and more credit to him, the other commissioners ready to give away their districts to Holland city's likes or dislikes, at their expense by failure to represent their own districts.

Holland city south of 32nd street is protected by the Holland city police, a very good department, so they therefore don't require the services of the Allegan county sheriff's department very often and could feasibly do without them as they have their own courts and so therefore don't need ours.

So doesn't it make good sense that Vogelzang, by going to his voters and telling them "We're going to save $$$ by reducing the sheriff's department staff (and services) because we up here don't need them, we have our own police protection. We don't need another district court, as we have our own." In so doing I think he feels assured of many votes and certain reelection.

Some of us have polled the Maplewood area south of 32nd street. Most of the people we've talked with are good Christian people with the belief "Love thy neighbor as thyself" and don't believe that either department should be reduced for political reasons if a need exists for them. They all concur there is a definite need! Which indicates to me that Vogelzang is using poor political strategy. However, I'm not a politician.

The crux of the story is, that other townships, villages, etc. are crying for police protection and letting the commissioners they voted into office "sell them down the river" because one man dictates. WHY?

I feel we need some good candidates for the Allegan county board of commissioners.

Shallow Probing, Deep Problems

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A wide ranging series of studies by Congressional committees and the General Accounting Office are learning why the average citizen puts little trust in the bureaucracy.

Though it has been estimated that fraud and bumbling in Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, Supplementary Security Income and other health Education and Welfare programs run into the multi-billions, one report concludes that HEW takes as long as five years to take corrective action against discovery of the deficiencies.

The organizational structure of HEW's fraud and abuse units was described as "fragmented and confused." Numbers of investigators are said to have little training or experience.

A look into the operation of the Guaranteed Student Loan program disclosed that defaults were running at 24 per cent and that accumulated defaults now exceed $400 million. A federal report handed to Congress was so constructed that $500 million in deficits were hidden.

Investigators found that the Interior Department knows so little about the oil leases it offers for sale on the continental shelf that officials have no way of being even reasonably sure they are receiving fair market value for properties worth billions.

Though considerable sums have been spent by the Small Business Administration to help disadvantaged firms become self-sufficient and competitive, the program has been a flop. In six years, the program's success totaled a mere 31 small firms nationwide.

The Energy Research and Development Administration is assuring Congress it will need less than $2 billion for a demonstration Clinch River Breeder Reactor, no mean sum. Yet investigators looking into the basis for ERDA's estimates, found them fuzzy. Obvious costs were slid over, and almost certain problems ignored.

Though there has been much criticism of irregularities on the commodity futures trading markets, irregularities which eventually result in exorbitant prices for consumers with little benefit to producers and high profits for some speculators, a team of government investigators found there has been little meaningful attempt by the government to study the major factors usually believed to be responsible.

Lincoln, St. Joe Townships End Water Feud

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A three-year legal hassle between St. Joseph and Lincoln townships was settled yesterday in Berrien Circuit court when both townships agreed to the terms of a consent judgment.

The judgment entered by Judge William S. White ends a controversy centering on a water distribution system for the two townships which has been going on since 1973.

The judgment essentially says each township will keep its own water revenues and Lincoln township will assume $150,000 more of the obligation for the portion of the water system in Lincoln township.

The lawyers and township officials are to be commended for resolving such a major piece of litigation outside of court, White said afterwards. "It would have been extensive and expensive," he added, noting the trial to settle the controversy would have lasted about four to six weeks.

St. Joseph township filed suit against Lincoln township in 1973, asking the court to determine an equitable distribution of revenue generated from the water system and also claiming Lincoln township should pay more of the cost of the system since Lincoln's original share was based on estimates rather than actual construction costs.

St. Joseph township claimed it was entitled to half of the revenues collected in Lincoln township since St. Joseph township had paid one-half of the cost of the water facilities in Lincoln township.

The two townships, when they contracted with the county board of public works to build the water system in 1970, formed the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment

Authority. While the case was pending, the Authority held the revenues accrued by both townships, and the judgment signed yesterday orders that the roughly $180,000 in revenues be divided equally.

The agreement reached by the townships also orders that Lincoln township will assume $150,000 of the bond obligation of St. Joseph township. According to the adjusted bond debt, St. Joseph township now owes $3,935,800 and Lincoln owes $1,390,000.

Another portion of the judgment dealt with the sale of bonds and excess money, since the BPW sold $5.325 million in bonds but the project did not end up costing that much. The judgment orders that of the $1.2 million left over from the bond sale, Lincoln township is to receive $73,900 and St. Joseph township $1,165,365.

The final portion of the stipulation orders Lincoln township to give St. Joseph township a half-interest in a piece of land in Lincoln township for a pumping station site.

White noted the agreement was "a give-and-take" settlement, with each township gaining some things and losing others.

The judgment only releases Lincoln township as a defendant in St. Joseph's township's original suit, but does not prohibit St. Joseph township from pursuing its suit against an engineering firm for the water system. That part of the suit charges misrepresentation against the engineering firm, claiming the firm recommended a pumping station be built which is not needed and had specified equipment for the water system which is inadequate.

Atty. John Crow represented St. Joseph township in the litigation and Lincoln township was represented by Attys. John Spelman and Paul Taglia.

Watervliet Getting Low-Rent Apartments

WATERVLLET — A spokesman for Downey Real Estate of Benton Harbor announced yesterday the firm will begin construction in March of a $800,000, low-rent apartment development in Watervliet.

Nathan Downey, a partner in Downey Real Estate, said the three buildings of 14 apartments each will be built on 12 city-owned lots on which the firm has an option to buy.

Rentals for the one and two-bedroom apartments will be banded at the elderly and young married couples, and will vary from $110 to $130 monthly, Downey said.

A long-term amortization of a Federal Farmer Home administration loan will make the low rents possible, Downey said.

Downey said "We think there is a need for low-rent housing in the Watervliet area, by the elderly and the young, both with financial problems."

The area on which the apartments are to be built is part of a city-owned, 127-lot, undeveloped subdivision just within the western city limits.

In February, 1975, the city completed purchase of the subdivision from the Gordon Lewis estate, paying $54,000 for the property. Other expenses boosted the city investment to $80,000.

The Downey firm has agreed to buy the 12 lots on which it has the option for $1,000 each if it proceeds with development, according to Donald Muth, Watervliet city administrator.

Downey said the firm is presently taking applications from people who might be interested in renting apartments when construction is completed.

Court Hands Police Critic Two Setbacks

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Lawrence C. Sherman, who as a member of the Benton Harbor "community coalition" complained of police harassment, was found guilty of two traffic violations yesterday in non-jury trials in Berrien Fifth District court. Sherman, 24, of Townline road, Benton Harbor, was found guilty of reckless driving Sept. 18 in Benton Harbor and failure to yield right-of-way Nov. 21 in Benton Harbor.

Sherman's arrest on Nov. 21 for failure to yield right-of-way and fleeing police sparked a controversy. It came on the heels of his return, along with some 35 other Benton Harbor people, from Washington, D.C. The delegation met with federal officials and aired complaints including charges of police harassment.

Mayor Charles F. Joseph called for an investigation into the incident after Sherman charged in a written statement published in this newspaper that Joseph failed to respond to his request for assistance following the arrest.

Police Chief Andrew Rodez reported to the city commission that no police harassment was indicated in the arrest.

The traffic cases were tried separately from the fleeing charge because the tickets are city ordinance cases and the fleeing charge a state violation, said District Judge Leo Cook. Sherman will be tried Feb. 17 on the fleeing police charge.

According to Cook, Sherman testified yesterday that he broke no traffic laws Sept. 18 when ticketed for reckless driving. Police testified that he was speeding in Benton Harbor and that he ran three red traffic lights, the judge said.

And Sherman, in the other trial, denied that he failed to yield right-of-way at a stop sign at the corner of Secley and Highland. The Feb. 17 trial will decide whether Sherman attempted to leave the intersection while a policeman was writing a ticket.

Following the trials Sherman was released on personal recognizance bond. He was placed on presentence investigation by Cook.

The victim was identified as Joseph Muthiah, 32, a resident of the Garland apartments on the Andrews campus, according to Berrien Springs village-Ontonagon township police.

Muthiah was listed in stable condition this morning in the intensive care unit at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center.

Officers said Muthiah was walking across Grove street when he was struck by a car driven by Max H. Church, 19, 478 South Mechanic street, Berrien Springs, also a student at Andrews. Church was not arrested, officers said.

Church and a passenger, his brother, Rene, 17, were not injured, officers said.

Police said the Church car swerved and brushed on the ice-covered street moments before it struck Muthiah with the right front fender.

Mrs. Arlice Jewell said this morning that her husband "definitely did not" suffer a heart attack. She said he complained of chest and stomach pains Friday morning, about 4 and was admitted to the hospital about 6 a.m.

She said he will probably be released early next week from the hospital and will undergo a number of tests over the weekend. Jewell was admitted in the intensive care unit at the hospital, but said it is "normal" hospital procedure to place people who complain of chest pains in the intensive care unit for 48 hours for observation. Jewell has been with the

John D. Tulley, a Grand Rapids attorney for the Coloma bank, said he foresees no further legal attempts to block the continued operations of the Watervliet branch bank which began operations in temporary facilities Dec. 4. Tulley made his comments after confirming the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio, had dismissed a Coloma State bank appeal of a lower court ruling allowing First National to operate its Coloma township branch.

Tulley said the appeal was dismissed Jan. 29 at the Coloma State bank's request.

The Watervliet bank in June had received permission from federal banking authorities to open the Coloma township branch.

Coloma State bank went to court and in July obtained a temporary restraining order in U.S. District court blocking the branch opening.

U.S. District Court Judge Wendell Miles of Grand Rapids subsequently dismissed the Coloma bank's request for a permanent injunction and the Coloma bank then appealed to the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeals court in December denied the Coloma bank's request for a temporary injunction and ordered a hearing for Feb. 19.

Plans 98th Annual Meet

Reservations are due Monday for the 98th annual meeting of Berrien County Council of Churches that will be held Thursday at Wesley United Methodist church, Niles, according to Rev. Arnold Bolin, executive director of the council. Speaker will be Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns. The event will start with a punch bowl at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 in the church at 29 North Third street. Reservations may be made by calling the council office in St. Joseph.

Red Cross Exceeds Goal
For Blood During January

The Berrien county Red Cross chapter reported it collected 286 pints of blood in January, 41 more than its goal for the month. Miss Barbara Jo Price, coordinator for the program said the blood was collected in Berrien Springs, St. Joseph and Coloma.

The successful January drive brings the total collected since July, 1973, when the chapter's year began, to 3,637. An additional 2,963 pints are to be collected by June 30, to reach the chapter's goal for the year.

The goal for February is 300 pints, and blood draws have been scheduled at the Gast Manufacturing company, M-130, Benton Harbor from noon to 8 p.m. Feb. 10 and at St. Mark's Catholic church, Three North 19th street, Niles on Feb. 17.

Lincoln, St. Joe Townships End Water Feud

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A three-year legal hassle between St. Joseph and Lincoln townships was settled yesterday in Berrien Circuit court when both townships agreed to the terms of a consent judgment.

The judgment entered by Judge William S. White ends a controversy centering on a water distribution system for the two townships which has been going on since 1973.

The judgment essentially says each township will keep its own water revenues and Lincoln township will assume $150,000 more of the obligation for the portion of the water system in Lincoln township.

"The lawyers and township officials are to be commended for resolving such a major piece of litigation outside of court," White said afterwards. "It would have been extensive and expensive," he added, noting the trial to settle the controversy would have lasted about four to six weeks.

St. Joseph township filed suit against Lincoln township in 1973, asking the court to determine an equitable distribution of revenue generated from the water system and also claiming Lincoln township should pay more of the cost of the system since Lincoln's original share was based on estimates rather than actual construction costs.

St. Joseph township claimed it was entitled to half of the revenues collected in Lincoln township since St. Joseph township had paid one-half of the cost of the water facilities in Lincoln township.

The two townships, when they contracted with the county board of public works to build the water system in 1970, formed the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment

Authority. While the case was pending, the Authority held the revenues accrued by both townships, and the judgment signed yesterday orders that the roughly $180,000 in revenues be divided equally.

The agreement reached by the townships also orders that Lincoln township will assume $150,000 of the bond obligation of St. Joseph township. According to the adjusted bond debt, St. Joseph township now owes $3,935,000 and Lincoln owes $1,390,000.

Another portion of the judgment dealt with the sale of bonds and excess money, since the BPW sold $5.325 million in bonds but the project did not end up costing that much. The judgment orders that of the $1.2 million left over from the bond sale, Lincoln township is to receive $73,908 and St. Joseph township $1,165,365.

The final portion of the stipulation orders Lincoln township to give St. Joseph township a half-interest in a piece of land in Lincoln township for a pumping station site.

White noted the agreement was "a give-and-take" settlement, with each township gaining some things and losing others.

The judgment only releases Lincoln township as a defendant in St. Joseph's township's original suit, but does not prohibit St. Joseph township from pursuing its suit against an engineering firm for the water system. That part of the suit charges misrepresentation against the engineering firm, claiming the firm recommended a pumping station be built which is not needed and had specified equipment for the water system which is inadequate.

Watervliet Getting Low-Rent Apartments

WATERVLIET — A spokesman for Downey Real Estate of Benton Harbor announced yesterday the firm will begin construction in March of a $600,000, low-rent apartment development in Watervliet.

Nathan Downey, a partner in Downey Real Estate, said the three buildings of 16 apartments each will be built on 12 city-owned lots on which the firm has an option to buy.

Rentals for the one and two-bedroom apartments will be beamed at the elderly and young married couples, and will vary from $110 to $130 monthly, Downey said.

A long-term amortization of a federal Farmer's Home administration loan will make the low rents possible, Downey said.

Downey said "We think there is a need for low rent housing in the Watervliet area, by the elderly and the young, both with financial problems."

The area on which the apartments are to be built is part of a city-owned, 127-lot, undeveloped subdivision just within the western city limits.

In February, 1975, the city completed purchase of the subdivision from the Gordon Lewis estate, paying $54,000 for the property. Other expenses boosted the city investment to $60,000.

The Downey firm has agreed to buy the 12 lots on which it has the option for $1,000 each if it proceeds with development, according to Donald Muth, Watervliet city administrator.

Downey said the firm is presently taking applications from people who might be interested in renting apartments when construction is completed.

Court Hands Police Critic Two Setbacks

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Lawrence C. Sherman, who as a member of the Benton Harbor "community coalition" complained of police harassment, was found guilty of two traffic violations yesterday in non-jury trials in Berrien Fifth District court. Sherman, 24, of Townline road, Benton Harbor, was found guilty of reckless driving Sept. 18 in Benton Harbor and failure to yield right-of-way Nov. 21 in Benton Harbor.

Sherman's arrest on Nov. 21 for failure to yield right-of-way and fleeing police sparked a controversy. It came on the heels of his return, along with some 55 other Benton Harbor people, from Washington, D.C. The delegation met with federal officials and aired complaints including charges of police harassment.

Mayor Charles F. Joseph called for an investigation into the incident after Sherman charged in a written statement published in this newspaper that Joseph failed to respond to his request for assistance following the arrest.

Police Chief Andrew Rodez reported to the city commission that no police harassment was indicated in the arrest.

The traffic cases were tried separately from the fleeing charge because the tickets are city ordinance cases and the fleeing charge a state violation, said District Judge Leo Cook. Sherman will be tried Feb. 17 on the fleeing police charge.

According to Cook, Sherman testified yesterday that he broke no traffic laws Sept. 18 when ticketed for reckless driving. Police testified that he was speeding in Benton Harbor and that he ran three red traffic lights, the judge said.

And Sherman, in the other trial, denied that he failed to yield right-of-way at a stop sign at the corner of Seeley and Highland. The Feb. 17 trial will decide whether Sherman attempted to leave the intersection while a policeman was writing a ticket.

Following the trials Sherman was released on personal recognizance bond. He was placed on presentence investigation by Cook.

Andrews U. Student Hit By Auto

BERRIEN SPRINGS — An Andrews university theology student from India was hospitalized yesterday after he was struck by a car about 7:30 a.m. while he was walking to class.

The victim was identified as Joseph Muthiah, 32, a resident of the Garland apartments on the Andrews campus, according to Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police.

Muthiah was listed in stable condition this morning in the intensive care unit at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center.

Officers said Muthiah was walking across Grove street when he was struck by a car driven by Max H. Church, 19, 409 South Mechanic street, Berrien Springs, also a student at Andrews. Church was not arrested, officers said.

Church and a passenger, his brother, Rene, 17, were not injured, officers said.

Police said the Church car swerved and braked on the ice-covered street moments before it struck Muthiah with the right front fender.

BHHS Letting Out At 10 A.M. Monday

Benton Harbor high school students will be dismissed from classes at 10 A.M. Monday, so teachers and administrators may participate in the second part of a self-evaluation for the North Central Association, Principal Wallace Dunn announced.

North Central Association is the accrediting organization which specified that individual schools meet minimum standards to assure quality education for students who attend. Benton Harbor high school will be visited in April by a North Central team.

Monday's self-evaluation gives the high school staff an opportunity to examine the secondary program and suggest areas of strength and weakness before the 25-member North Central team arrives.

Ex-BH Man Now Executive Veep Of Illinois Bank

Bryce C. Boothby, a native of Benton Harbor, has been promoted to executive vice president of Matteson-Richton bank, Matteson, Ill., according to James B. Lund, bank president.

Boothby, who maintains a weekend home on North Shore drive, also is vice president, secretary and a director of Palladium Publishing company, Benton Harbor.

Boothby lives at Flossmoor, Ill., a Chicago suburb like Matteson. He has been an officer of the bank since 1970 and also is on the board of directors.

Two Hagar Dog Clinics

Two dog clinics are scheduled to be held in Hagar township this month, according to Mrs. Winifred Anderson, township treasurer. The first clinic will be held Feb. 12 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the fire station in Lake Michigan Beach. The second will be held Feb. 19, also from 7 to 9 p.m., at the township hall, Riverside.

Coloma Bank Ends Legal Fight

COLOMA — Coloma State bank here has apparently brought to an end its legal efforts to prevent First National Bank of Watervliet from operating a branch in Coloma township.

John D. Tulley, a Grand Rapids attorney for the Coloma bank, said he forsores no further legal attempts to block the continued operations of the Watervliet branch bank which began operations in temporary facilities Dec. 4.

Tulley made his comments after confirming the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio, had dismissed a Coloma State bank appeal of a lower court ruling allowing First National to operate its Coloma township branch.

Tulley said the appeal was dismissed Jan. 29 at the Coloma State bank's request.

The Watervliet bank in June had received permission from federal banking authorities to open the Coloma township branch.

Coloma State bank went to court and in July obtained a temporary restraining order in U.S. District court blocking the branch opening.

U.S. District Court Judge Wendell Miles of Grand Rapids subsequently dismissed the Coloma bank's request for a permanent injunction and the Coloma bank then appealed to the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeals court in December denied the Coloma bank's request for a temporary injunction and ordered a hearing for Feb. 19.

The dismissal cancels the hearing.

Red Cross Exceeds Goal For Blood During January

The Berrien county Red Cross chapter reported it collected 266 pints of blood in January, 41 more than its goal for the month. Miss Barbara Jo Price, coordinator for the program said the blood was collected in Berrien Springs, St. Joseph and Coloma.

The successful January drive brings the total collected since July, 1975, when the chapter's year began, to 3,037. An additional 2,963 pints are to be collected by June 30, to reach the chapter's goal for the year.

The goal for February is 300 pints, and blood draws have been scheduled at the Gast Manufacturing company, M-139, Benton Harbor from noon to 6 p.m. Feb. 16 and at St. Mark's Catholic church, Three North 19th street, Niles on Feb. 17.

To Perform In Elkhart Concert

ENSEMBLE MEMBERS: Dorothy Datema, left, and Charlotte Wuepper, both of St. Joseph, are members of the Mark Thomas Flute Ensemble which will perform in Elkhart, Ind., Sunday, Feb. 15. ## Feature Flutists

Charlotte Wuepper and Dorothy Datema, both of St. Joseph, will perform with internationally acclaimed flutist Mark Thomas Sunday, Feb. 15, in Elkhart, Ind.

Mrs. Wuepper and Mrs. Datema are members of the Thomas Flute Ensemble which with Thomas will present a chamber program, "Festival of Flutes," at 4 p.m. at the Concord Performing Arts Center under the sponsorship of the Elkhart Symphony Society.

A limited number of tickets will be available at the door for the concert which will be the Elkhart Symphony Society's first presentation at the Concord Performing Arts Center, located at Concord high school, 2331 East Mishawaka road. Tickets are $2 with a special rate of $1 for students and senior citizens.

Others in the ensemble will be Thomas' wife, Judith, and Jeanne Gnecco of Michigan City, flutists, and Dorothy Spano of Elkhart, pianist.

The varied program will include works by composers ranging from Joseph Bodin de Boismortier (17th century) and Johann Christian Schuette (18th century) to Debussy, to contemporary composers, Russell Woolen, Roger Reynolds, Max Dubois and Paul Bonneau. A variety of flutes will be used in the program, from piccolo to bass flute.

Mark Thomas, who appears with the cooperation of W.T. Armstrong Co., Inc. (of which he is vice president), is recognized as one of the world's premier flutists. He has been principal flutist and soloist with many of America's leading musical organizations, including the National Symphony, Washington, D.C., and has made both orchestral and solo and ensemble recordings.

He is widely known as a teacher of flute and has been on the faculties of George Washington University, American University and the University of Notre Dame. He has also published many educational materials and is the founder of the National Flute Association.

This spring, he will go to Europe for concerts and lectures, and also will perform and give clinics in the northwest United States, Virginia, Minnesota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Wuepper is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has performed in several symphonies. She is currently principal flutist with the Twin Cities Symphony and has played first chair, flute, with the Midland Symphony and the Haddonfield Symphony, Haddonfield, N.J. She also teaches flute privately.

Mrs. Datema received a bachelor of music education degree from Central Michigan University and has taught music in the Battle Creek elementary schools. She now teaches at Lake Michigan College, Berrien Springs, middle school and privately. She is a member of the Twin Cities Symphony and St. Joseph Municipal band and has been principal flutist with the Battle Creek Symphony.

YMCA Events Begin Monday

Additional programs for girls, women and the entire family will begin the week of Monday, Feb. 9, at the North-East Community branch of the YMCA, 1897 Britain, Benton Harbor, and continue for six weeks.

A Peppermint Patty club for girls ages 8-11 will meet Mondays from 4 to 5:15 p.m. Activities will include games, crafts, cooking, sewing and rap sessions.

Also on Mondays from 7 to 8 p.m. will be family night with activities for the entire family.

On Wednesday and Fridays from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. women's fitness classes will be held. Exercises will include warm up locomotor activities, with muscular strength and flexibility exercises, and exercises for heart and lungs.

An arts and crafts session for youngsters 8-12 will meet on Saturdays from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the YMCA, Michigan street, or Ronald Janan at the YMCA, Britain avenue.

Church Council Debates Use Of Plutonium

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A fateful choice, seen variously as offering either "untold good" or "incalculable evil" for humanity, currently is being argued among American religious and scientific thinkers.

Instead of dividing the two camps, however, it has drawn members of each into joint alliances, but on both sides of the issue, with philosophical jabs from scientists and theologians alike.

At stake is whether an energy-short world should turn to an immense, reproducible source of nuclear power, the byproduct plutonium that can be multiplied even as it is used, to boost continuing economic growth and a richer society.

But dangers also reside in the process, their magnitude in dispute.

It could mean a "Faustian bargain," says bioethics professor Margaret Maxey of the University of Detroit, referring to the storied Faust who made a deal with the devil for temporary delights eventuating in doom.

But, on the other hand, she adds, it could provide an unprecedented spur to a "new level of cultural evolution," bringing acceptance of "the transposition of a global commitment to a permanent, stable, more just social order."

The question was debated last week at a hearing by the National Council of Churches on a proposed statement by a panel of scientists, urging a U.S. moratorium — to allow more study — on programs to expand plutonium use in industry.

It would require a "technological paradise" of tirelessly arranged and universally bodied controls to prevent such expansion from poisoning the earth, said Nobel prize-winning physicist Hans A. Bethe of the University of California.

Observed biochemist John T. Edsall of Harvard University: "I'm unable to see such a degree of stability now or likely in the near future. It would demand a stability that has never existed."

But if humanity became sensitized to the alternatives and was aware that maintaining the quality of their lives depended on it, "perhaps such a stable order would eventuate," Prof. Maxey said. "It's worth considering."

Nuclear engineer David J. Rose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said that "certainty is impossible in the real world," but the potential benefits justify the risks, which are part of any major advance. Like several scientists, he occasionally cited Bible quotations to back his points. He noted that in Genesis 4:8, "Cain slew Abel, legend has it with the jawbone of an ass. God did not abolish jawbones, but still works to improve the descendants of Cain."

Christian ethicist Preston Williams of Harvard University Divinity School said contentions opposing expanded plutonium use "seem to rest in fears of people — fears of big government, big military probing, the big bomb."

The proposed statement by 66 scientists and scholars, still to be acted on by the interchurch body, sees dangers that wide-scale use of plutonium would make it readily accessible for groups to make atomic bombs, would require massive government surveillance, threatening civil liberties and would involve disposing of growing amounts of radioactive waste that risked poisoning the biosphere.

"These are passed off as facts, but they're fears," said Williams.

Social ethics theologian Roger Shinn, of New York's Union Theological Seminary said that without "plutonium" or some similar vast new energy source to uphold economic growth, society faces "radical restructuring" that would force reduction in consumption, employment and quality of life.

Challenging arguments that conservation of energy could fill the gap, Rose said, "Conservation is a rich man's hobby. The poor of the world need more energy, not less."

Appoint Director

DECATUR — The Rev. Walter L. Spillane, pastor of Holy Family parish, Decatur, has been appointed Diocesan Director for the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., for the Kalamazoo Diocese.

The appointment was made by the Most Rev. Paul V. Donovan, Bishop of the Kalamazoo Diocese.

The Rev. Fr. Spillane's role in working for the Shrine in the Diocese is to coordinate, on the diocesan level, pilgrimages to the National Shrine and to bring people to worship there and to express devotion to Mary, the Immaculate Conception, who is Patroness of the Church in the United States.

The National Shrine is the largest Catholic church in America. It is the sixth largest church in the world. About three quarters of a million people travel to the Shrine on pilgrimage or to visit during the Holy Year, 1975. Twenty-six of the nation's dioceses organized special Holy Year pilgrimages to the Shrine last year.

Fr. Spillane took part in the recent seminar for National Shrine Diocesan Directors in Washington, which was held during the time when the United States Bishops were holding their annual meeting in Washington.

Fr. Spillane studied at the Catholic university in Washington from 1960 to 1966.

Persons interested in making a pilgrimage to the National Shrine may contact Fr. Spillane at 300 West St. Mary, Decatur.

Pennsylvania City Most Compassionate

LANCASTER, Pa., has won top honors in an annual Ten Most Compassionate Cities in America competition by the nation's largest non-sectarian international voluntary agency.

Christian Children's Fund, Inc., of Richmond, Va., announced the distinction for the 1978 Pennsylvania Dutch community of 100,000 population located midway between Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

CCF presented a plaque in recognition of Lancaster's achievement to Mayor Richard Scott, with copies to the "Intelligencer" Journal, "New Era" and "Sunday News" as well as to WGAL-TV and radio stations WDAC, WOAL, WHYY and WLAN which have broadcast CCF's public service announcements.

In 1978, according to the child service agency, 181 Lancaster families contributed $24,000 in sponsorship payments to help feed, clothe, house, educate and provide medical care for 302 needy children elsewhere in the United States and abroad.

"This is an average annual contribution of $128 per family," said Dr. Verent Mills, CCF executive director, "and, pro-rated through the entire community, is an equivalent of more than 42 cents per inhabitant."

Nationwide, 171,364 contributing sponsors gave $23,229,690 to assist nearly 200,000 needy children for a national average of 11 cents per United States citizen. In achieving its first place rank, Lancaster barely topped Alexandria, Va., which posted a 41-cent average. Third place city was Boulder, Colo., at 37 cents.

CCF Sponsor Services Director J. Harlan McMurray was able to develop what is believed to be the first accurate profile of American urban poverty by programming ZIP codes for more than 900 cities against 1975 population estimates, charitable contributions, numbers of sponsors and children adopted.

"Our base of support is so large — with every major community and county in the 48 states, having substantial numbers of CCF sponsor contributors — that we were able to produce a dependable picture," McMurray said. He is currently working on programs to identify America's most compassionate states, rural areas and Congressional districts.

Christian Children's Fund, Inc., is a nonprofit child care organization chartered and founded in 1939 in Virginia, with field offices in the American southwest and 12 foreign countries. Relying on "grass-roots" support for its programs to assist needy children, rehabilitate their families and develop their communities, it receives very little foundation support and no direct government subsidies.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — An ancient religious center that once had a larger population than Imperial Rome, is now a fascinating site trip for visitors to Mexico City. It's about 35 miles northwest of the city.

The excavated site of Teotihuacan reveals pyramids, temples and courts.

Historians say some 250,000 people lived here more than 2,000 years ago.

To Help State Schools

By WILLIAM WEDDON
Special Correspondent
LANSING — Jo Jacobs has been employed by the State Board of Education as their Title IX liaison person and program specialist for the elimination of sex discrimination in Michigan's educational system.

"I'm going to give technical assistance and help to school districts so they can comply with Title IX," she described her newly created post in Michigan's Department of Education.

Energetic and enthusiastic, her conversation is sprinkled with such contemporary terms as "Neat, neat." When an instance of sex discrimination is brought to her attention, however, there is a visible stiffening in her attitude.

"She has been actively concerned with sex role stereotyping in education for several years and chaired the committee to study sex discrimination tion's resources will be used to help educational agencies comply with the guidelines," she said, "but the department is not an enforcement agency."

Title IX, on the other hand, prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in all educational programs receiving or benefiting from federal financial assistance. It is administered through the Office of Civil Rights, (OCR), in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), Washington, D.C.

"If the schools are found not to be in compliance by the OCR, they risk losing their federal moneys," she noted. "There is a period of compliance, however."

"There probably isn't a public school in the country that doesn't receive some federal assistance in some way," she acknowledged. And she has prepared a summary of the Title IX provisions for use by school administrators.

A request will be made from all the educational agencies in Michigan for the name of their Title IX coordinator and their statement of compliance, she said.

Jacobs also anticipates arranging meetings to disseminate information to schools throughout the state, as recommended by the state board.

Title IX is unique in that anybody can file a complaint, either through a local grievance procedure (which must be established in each educational agency) or directly with the civil rights office at HEW, she explained.

Every application for federal financial assistance by any educational agency, under the law as it went into effect in July, 1978, must include assurance that it is operating in compliance with Title IX, or is rapidly taking any necessary remedial action.

A mother of three school-age children, Jacobs plans to commute until next summer to her office in the Tower building, Lansing from Kalamazoo where her husband teaches psychology at Kalamazoo college.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, where she also did graduate work, her past activities have filled her well for the $17,000 a year position. She's served as executive director of the Planned Parenthood Association of Kalamazoo county.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Career Program Feb. 12

EAST LANSING — Dr. Barbara E. Bryant, vice president of Market Opinion Research (MOR), and Patricia Silea, executive director of the Michigan Women's Commission, will be featured speakers at Breakthrough '78, a Michigan State University women's career program and job fair Thursday, Feb. 12.

Workshops will be held from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in McDonel Hall conference rooms. Topics will include women and management, interviewing skills, working women and the law and business and the liberal arts. Workshops will be held for employers on how to recruit, hire and retain high potential females.

Silea will discuss the status of women in Michigan at 4:30 p.m. in McDonel Hall. Dr. Bryant will follow.

From 7:30 to 10 p.m., the job fair will be held in McDonel Cafeteria. Some of the firms to be represented include several General Motors Corp. divisions; IBM, First National Financial Corp., Illinois Bell Telephone Company, Lever Brothers, 3M Company, Mobil Oil, Pillsbury, Scott Paper Company, Xerox Corp., Rockwell International, several Michigan and United States government agencies and Harvard University.

Breakthrough '78, an annual job program for women, is probably the largest of its kind, according to coordinator Gail Braverman, assistant director, MSU placement services.

"We're expecting 73 organizations to be represented at the job fair."

To Perform In Elkhart Concert

Feature Flutists

ENSEMBLE MEMBERS: Dorothy Datema, left, and Charlotte Wuepper, both of St. Joseph, are members of the Mark Thomas Flute Ensemble which will perform in Elkhart, Ind., Sunday, Feb. 15. Internationally acclaimed flutist Mark Thomas with the other ensemble members will present a "Festival of Flutes," at 4 p.m. at the Concord Performing Arts Center under the sponsorship of the Elkhart Symphony Society. (Staff photo)

Charlotte Wuepper and Dorothy Datema, both of St. Joseph, will perform with internationally acclaimed flutist Mark Thomas Sunday, Feb. 15, in Elkhart, Ind.

Mrs. Wuepper and Mrs. Datema are members of the Thomas Flute Ensemble which with Thomas will present a chamber program, "Festival of Flutes," at 4 p.m. at the Concord Performing Arts Center under the sponsorship of the Elkhart Symphony Society.

A limited number of tickets will be available at the door for the concert which will be the Elkhart Symphony Society's first presentation at the Concord Performing Arts Center, located at Concord high school, 2331 East Mishawka road. Tickets are $2 with a special rate of $1 for students and senior citizens.

Others in the ensemble will be Thomas' wife, Judith, and Jeanne Gnecco of Michigan City, flutists, and Dorothy Spano of Elkhart, pianist.

The varied program will include works by composers ranging from Joseph Bodin de Boismortier (17th century) and Johann Christian Schultze (18th century) to Debussy, to contemporary composers Russell Woolen, Roger Reynolds, Max Dubois and Paul Boneau. A variety of flutes will be used in the program, from piccolo to bass flute.

Mark Thomas, who appears with the cooperation of W.T. Armstrong Co., Inc. (of which he is vice president), is recognized as one of the world's premier flutists. He has been principal flutist and soloist with many of America's leading musical organizations, including the National Symphony, Washington, D.C., and has made both orchestral and solo and ensemble recordings.

He is widely known as a teacher of flute and has been on the faculties of George Washington University, American university and the University of Notre Dame. He has also published many educational materials and is the founder of the National Flute association.

This spring he will go to Europe for concerts and lectures, and also will perform and give clinics in the northwest United States, Virginia, Minnesota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Wuepper is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has performed in several symphonies. She is currently principal flutist with the Twin Cities Symphony and has played first chair flute with the Midland Symphony and the Haddonfield Symphony, Haddonfield, N.J. She also teaches flute privately.

Mrs. Datema received a bachelor of music education degree from Central Michigan university and has taught music in the Battle Creek elementary schools. She now teaches at Lake Michigan college, Berrien Springs middle school and privately. She is a member of the Twin Cities Symphony and St. Joseph Municipal band and has been principal flutist with the Battle Creek Symphony.

YMCA Events Begin Monday

Additional programs for girls, women and the entire family will begin the week of Monday, Feb. 9, at the North-East Community branch of the YMCA, 1697 Britain, Benton Harbor, and continue for six weeks.

A Peppermint Patty club for girls ages 8-11 will meet Mondays from 4 to 5:15 p.m. Activities will include games, crafts, cooking, sewing and rap sessions.

Also on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. will be family night with activities for the entire family.

On Wednesday and Fridays from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. women's fitness classes will be held. Exercises will include warm up locomotor activities, with muscular strength and flexibility exercise, and exercises for heart and lungs.

An arts and crafts session for youngsters 8-12 will meet on Saturdays from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the YMCA, Michigan street, or Ronald Inman at the YMCA, Britain avenue.

Church Council Debates Use Of Plutonium

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A fateful choice, seen variously as offering either "untold good" or "incalculable evil" for humanity, currently is being argued among American religious and scientific thinkers.

Instead of dividing the two camps, however, it has drawn members of each into joint alliances, but on both sides of the issue, with philosophical jabs from scientists and theologians alike.

At stake is whether an energy-short world should turn to an immense, reproducible source of nuclear power, the byproduct plutonium that can be multiplied even as it is used, to boost continuing economic growth and a richer society.

But dangers also reside in the process, their magnitude in dispute.

It could mean a "Faustian bargain," says bioethics professor Margaret Maxey of the University of Detroit, referring to the storied Faust who made a deal with the devil for temporary delights eventuating in doom.

But on the other hand, she adds, it could provide an unprecedented spur to a "new level of cultural evolution," bringing acceptance of "the imposition of a global commitment to a permanent, stable, more just social order."

The question was debated last week at a hearing by the National Council of Churches on a proposed statement by a panel of scientists, urging a U.S. moratorium — to allow more study — on programs to expand plutonium use in industry.

It would require a "technological paradise" of flawlessly arranged and universally heeded controls to prevent such expansion from poisoning the earth, said Nobel prize-winning physicist Hannes Alfvén of the University of California.

Observed biochemist John T. Edsall of Harvard University: "I'm unable to see such a degree of stability now or likely in the near future. It would demand a stability that has never existed."

But if humanity became sensitized to the alternatives and was aware that maintaining the quality of their lives depended on it, "perhaps such a stable order would eventuate," Prof. Maxey said. "It's worth considering."

Nuclear engineer David J. Rose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said that "certainty is impossible in the real world," but the potential benefits justify the risks, which are part of any major advance.

Like several scientists, he occasionally cited Bible quotations to back his points. He noted that in Genesis 4:8, "Cain slew Abel, legend has it with the jawbone of an ass. God did not abolish jawbones, but still works to improve the descendants of Cain."

Christian ethicist Preston Williams of Harvard University Divinity School said contentions opposing expanded plutonium use "seem to rest on fears of people — fears of big government, big military policing, the big bomb."

The proposed statement by 66 scientists and scholars, still to be acted on by the interchurch body, sees dangers that wide-scale use of plutonium would make it readily accessible for groups to make atomic bombs, would require massive government surveillance threatening civil liberties and would involve disposing of growing amounts of radioactive wastes that risked poisoning the biosphere.

"These are passed off as facts, but they're fears," said Williams.

Social ethics theologian Roger Shinn of New York's Union Theological Seminary said that without plutonium or some similar vast new energy source to uphold economic growth, society faces "radical restructuring" that would force reductions in consumption, employment and quality of life.

Challenging arguments that conservation of energy could fill the gap, Rose said, "Conservation is a rich man's hobby. The poor of the world need more energy, not less."

Appoint Director

DECATUR — The Rev. Walter L. Spillane, pastor of Holy Family parish, Decatur, has been appointed Diocesan Director for the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., for the Kalamazoo Diocese.

The appointment was made by the Most Rev. Paul V. Donovan, Bishop of the Kalamazoo Diocese.

The Rev. Fr. Spillane's role in working for the Shrine in the Diocese is to coordinate, on the diocesan level, pilgrimages to the National Shrine and to bring people to worship there and to express devotion to Mary, the Immaculate Conception, who is Patroness of the Church in the United States.

The National Shrine is the largest Catholic church in America. It is the sixth largest church in the world. About three quarters of a million people travelled to the Shrine on pilgrimage or to visit during the Holy Year, 1975. Twenty-six of the nation's dioceses organized special Holy Year pilgrimages to the Shrine last year.

Fr. Spillane took part in the recent seminar for National Shrine Diocesan Directors in Washington, which was held during the time when the United States Bishops were holding their annual meeting in Washington.

Fr. Spillane studied at the Catholic university in Washington from 1956 to 1960.

Pennsylvania City Most Compassionate

Lancaster, Pa., has won top honors in an unusual Ten Most Compassionate Cities in America competition by the nation's largest non-sectarian international voluntary agency.

Christian Children's Fund, Inc., of Richmond, Va., announced the distinction for the noted Pennsylvania Dutch community of 58,000 population, located midway between Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

CCF will present a plaque in recognition of Lancaster's achievement to Mayor Richard Scott, with copies to the "Intelligencer Journal," "New Era" and "Sunday News" as well as to WGAL-TV and radio stations WDAC, WGAL, WHEX and WLAN which have broadcast CCF's public service announcements.

In 1975, according to the child service agency, 191 Lancaster families contributed $24,685 in sponsorship payments to help feed, clothe, house, educate and provide medical care for 202 needy children elsewhere in the United States and abroad.

"This is an average annual contribution of $129 per family," said Dr. Verent Mills, CCF executive director, "and, pro-rated through the entire community, is an equivalent of more than 42 cents per inhabitant."

Nationwide, 171,264 contributing sponsors gave $23,229,690 to assist nearly 200,000 needy children for a national average of 11 cents per United States citizen. In achieving its first place rank, Lancaster barely topped Alexandria, Va., which posted a 41-cent average. Third-place city was Boulder, Colo., at 37 cents.

CCF Sponsor Services Director J. Harlan McMurray was able to develop what is believed to be the first accurate profile of American urban giving by programming ZIP codes for more than 500 cities against 1975 population estimates, charitable contributions, numbers of sponsors and children assisted.

"Our base of support is so large — with every major community and county in the 50 states, having substantial numbers of CCF sponsor contributors — that we were able to produce a dependable picture," McMurray said. He is currently working on programs to identify America's most compassionate states, rural areas and Congressional districts.

Christian Children's Fund, Inc., is a nonprofit child care organization chartered and founded in 1938 in Virginia, with field offices in the American southwest and 12 foreign countries. Relying on grass-roots support for its programs to assist needy children, rehabilitate their families and develop their communities, it receives very little foundation support and no direct government subsidies.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — An ancient religious center that once had a larger population than Imperial Rome, is now a fascinating side trip for visitors to Mexico City. It's about 35 miles northeast of the city.

The excavated site of Teotihuacan reveals pyramids, temples and courts.

Historians say some 250,000 people lived here more than 2,000 years ago.

To Help State Schools

By WILLIAM WEDDON
Special Correspondent

LANSING — Jo Jacobs has been employed by the State Board of Education as their Title IX liaison person and program specialist for the elimination of sex discrimination in Michigan's educational system.

"I'm going to give technical assistance and help to school districts so they can comply with Title IX," she described her newly created post in Michigan's Department of Education.

Energetic and enthusiastic, her conversation is sprinkled with such contemporary terms as "Neat, neat." When an instance of sex discrimination is brought to her attention, however, there is a visible stiffening in her attitude.

She has been actively concerned with sex role stereotyping in education for several years and chaired the committee to study sex discrimination in Kalamazoo Public schools, which gained national recognition in the area of elementary school findings.

"The Department of Education's resources will be used to help educational agencies comply with the guidelines," she said, "but the department is not an enforcement agency."

Title IX, on the other hand, prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in all educational programs receiving or benefiting from federal financial assistance. It is administered through the Office of Civil Rights, (OCR), in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), Washington, D.C.

"If the schools are found not to be in compliance by the OCR, they risk losing their federal monies," she noted. "There is a period of compliance, however."

"There probably isn't a public school in the country that doesn't receive some federal assistance in some way," she acknowledged. And she has prepared a summary of the Title IX provisions for use by school administrators.

A request will be made from all the educational agencies in Michigan for the name of their Title IX coordinator and their statement of compliance, she said.

Jacobs also anticipates arranging meetings to disseminate information to schools throughout the state, as recommended by the state board.

Title IX is unique in that anybody can file a complaint, either through a local grievance procedure (which must be established in each educational agency) or directly with the civil rights office at HEW, she explained.

Every application for federal financial assistance by any educational agency, under the law as it went into effect in July, 1975, must include assurance that it is operating in compliance with Title IX, or is rapidly taking any necessary remedial action.

A mother of three school age children, Jacobs plans to commute until next summer, to her office in the Tower building, Lansing from Kalamazoo where her husband teaches psychology at Kalamazoo college.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, where she also did graduate work, her past activities have fitted her well for the $17,000 a year position. She's served as executive director of the Planned Parenthood Association of Kalamazoo county.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Career Program Feb. 12

EAST LANSING — Dr. Barbara E. Bryant, vice president of Market Opinion Research (MOR), and Patricia Silea, executive director of the Michigan Women's Commission, will be featured speakers at Breakthru '76, a Michigan State university women's career program and job fair Thursday, Feb. 12.

Workshops will be held from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in McDonel Hall conference rooms. Topics will include women and management, interviewing skills, working women and the law and business and the liberal arts. Workshops will be held for employers on how to recruit, hire and retain high potential females.

Silea will discuss the status of women in Michigan at 4:30 p.m. in McDonel Kiva. Dr. Bryant will follow.

From 7:30 to 10 p.m., the job fair will be held in McDonel Cafeteria. Some of the firms to be represented include several General Motors Corp. divisions, IBM, First National Financial Corp., Illinois Bell Telephone Company, Lever Brothers, 3M Company, Mobil Oil, Pillsbury, Scott Paper Company, Xerox Corp., Rockwell International, several Michigan and United States government agencies and Harvard university.

Breakthru '76, an annual job program for women, is probably the largest of its kind, according to coordinator Gail Braverman, assistant director, MSU placement services.

"We're expecting 73 organizations to be represented at the job fair."

Five Area Churches To Show Film Sunday

The film, "Time To Run," will be shown at five area churches Sunday, Feb. 8.

The "World Wide Pictures" color film is a film made for families.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, the film stars Ed Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Stogel, Joan Winmill and Gordon Rigby.

Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of over-involvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife, or their son.

The story includes the son's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived; designed and managed by his father, the drama of the conflicts between the family members, how the son takes to the road to discover the meaning in his life, and the friction between the son and his girlfriend.

Among churches where the film will be shown Sunday, Feb. 8, are:

First Baptist church, Berrien Springs, 8:30 p.m.

Napier Parkview Baptist church, Benton Harbor, 6 p.m.

Lake Michigan Assembly of God, St. Joseph, 7 p.m.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

No. 225, The Book of Proverbs: Wisdom

The Book of Proverbs is one of the most popular and most characteristic collections of what scholars refer to as Wisdom Literature. It is composed of collections of wise sayings as well as moral and religious precepts. The subject matter of this enduring and fascinating collection is adequately summarized in Proverbs 1:1-6 as instruction in wise dealing, righteousness, justice, and equity.

Chapters one through nine comprise a prologue, primarily stressing the importance and value of wisdom. Unlike the following chapters, each idea presented is discussed rather carefully in a brief, poetic essay. We are warned specifically against crimes of violence (1:10-19); rashly plugging oneself to another (6:1-5); sloth (6:6-11); duplicity (6:12-15); and, above all, licentiousness (2:16-19; 5:3-20; 6:23-35; 7:4-27; and 9:13-18).

But to those who resist these temptations, wisdom promises a life of happiness, wealth, and honor. "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour. . . . She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is everyone that retaineth her." (Proverbs 3:13-18)

Guests will be the Gospel chorus of New Bethel Baptist church, Mrs. Lorene Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lanier, Mr. Geneva Dudley and the St. Mark Gospel chorus.

Mrs. Willie Mae Hines is program chairman.

COLOMA — The "Redeemed" will present the message in word and song at COLOMA BIBLE CHURCH Sunday, Feb. 8, at the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services.

GANGES — Youth Fellowships of the GANGES UNITED METHODIST CHURCH and SAUGATUCK UNITED METHODIST CHURCH will hold joint meetings each Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. during the month of February at the Ganges church.

Black History Observance

Two special programs are planned Sunday, Feb. 8, at Second Baptist church, Benton Harbor, as the congregation's observance of Black History Week.

Guest speaker for the 10:45 a.m. worship service will be Dr. Benjamin Reaves of Andrews university.

Dr. Reaves is assistant professor at the seminary at AU. He holds a doctorate degree from Chicago Theological seminary.

David Brock, 15, a member of the church, will be honored during the 4 p.m. program which will be sponsored by the Missionary Society.

Brock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brock and has been playing the piano for 10 years. He accompanies several choirs of the church and the Sounds Unlimited Gospel Ensemble. He has also accompanied many other persons in the community. He is a piano student of Mrs. Elijah Osby.

Brock will perform several piano selections during the program. Also participating will be the Sounds Unlimited and L.J. Joseph.

The program has been planned around the Bicentennial theme of the church, "Not by Might or Power But By My Spirit Saith the Lord," according to Mrs. William Nance, program chairman.

Bangor Church

BANGOR — The new Rogers Jamestown organ has been dedicated at Simpson United Methodist church, Bangor.

The organ was dedicated to the memory of Jack and Madge Smith with Mrs. Frank Stickle Jr., acting on behalf of the trustees of the congregation presented the organ to be dedicated.

A special organ concert was presented by Jack Franklin and Daniel Haire.

Franklin is the owner of Franklin Studios, Organ Studios, Muskegon. He is an instructor at Muskegon Community college and is organist for the Muskegon Hockey Team.

Haire has presented concerts throughout the Midwest and has studied with Dr. C. Warren Becker of Andrews university.

The new $10,000 organ was custom installed for the specific acoustical environment of the church.

Final voicing, or level adjustment of each stop, was completed by Daniel Haire, institutional consultant, and Jerry Houseman, service technician, for the Franklin Studios.

The speaking cabinets were designed and built especially for this organ.

The dedication program was arranged by Mrs. Charles Royal, member of the organ committee and chairman of the worship committee of the church.

SAYS MSU PROFESSOR

Biblical Family Is Vital

EAST LANSING — Maintaining the "Biblical" family in an age when such a unit is becoming a "defunct institution" in America can be one way of preventing further erosion of American society, says a Michigan State university professor.

"We're at a crossroads in America," curriculum research specialist Ted Ward feels. "United States political events have demonstrated our potential for becoming a nation of slippery values, and we can keep slipping or recognize the alternatives of Biblical values."

The professor of education explained that a Biblical family, valued by Christians, consists of parents who regard marriage as a lifelong bond and who regard children as a responsibility not a nuisance.

"Research has suggested that this kind of unit plays a vital part in teaching moral values," he noted. "The family is the building block of society, and even one family can make a difference. I see no effective substitute for the family as the center of moral development for the child."

Dr. Ward observed that American secular society is moving more toward "fluid marriages" not expected to last a lifetime with less parental responsibility for childrearing.

"Our society is providing more and more elaborate ways to make the schools responsible for providing for children's health and nutrition, determining what kind of learning is vital and defining their goals and values," he said.

"When the schools take over responsibilities that were formerly family responsibilities, it's unlikely the family will resume them again," he added.

The professor said that American society tended to destroy traditions without first asking if there were something of value to replace them — but that certain American phenomena such as habits created in the "westward movement" had unwittingly contributed to family instability.

"With our tendency for married couples to move out on their own, we've lost the benefits of an extended family where children had the enrichment of daily contact not just with parents but with grandparents, aunts and uncles," he explained.

Pointing out that in times past the family was able to meet all of a child's physical and emotional needs, Dr. Ward said that complex society has undermined this ability, leading to families whose members have such different interests that they can live under the same roof but literally not know one another.

"Americans are too individualistic to benefit from a simulated extended family situation such as exists on the Israeli kibbutz or in Russia where the state takes most of the responsibility for children's socialization," he said.

Dr. Ward added that the problem with such artificial extended families is that they are actually too big — with too many people for a child to grasp emotionally and with a tendency to encourage conformity to the average instead of fostering a society-enriching uniqueness.

He feels, however, that today's nuclear families can enrich themselves by deliberately cultivating common interests in such activities as sports and hobbies and by focusing attention on moral and ethical issues that relate to them and society.

"An example of one way to do this is for parents to do something as simple as discussing with a child the moral and ethical issues that crop up on his history studies at school or in the daily life of a neighborhood," the professor said.

"Americans look for educational gimmicks, but no gimmicks are needed — just common sense."

Dr. Ward said it was "inescapable" for Christians to push for the strengthening of the family, and that he believed most Christians would balk at the establishment of state-run nursery schools, toward which he sees a growing trend.

"In 10 years we can expect the stance of the Christian community to run strongly counter to the general will of the people not only on the family but on such right-to-life issues as abortion, eugenics and genetic control, euthanasia and political assassination," he added.

"This will put 'Biblical' Christians, those who believe Jesus Christ was a savior and take his teachings literally, in a distinctive minority in American society," the professor pointed out.

"This situation can cause tension, but might lead to a new respect for Christianity if Christians are able to disentangle themselves from the individualism and greed in the American way of life."

CHURCH NEWS OF RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

Catholic Schools Week

SOUTH HAVEN — Catholic Schools Week will be observed in South Haven Feb. 8-14.

Various activities are planned for the week which will be proclaimed by Mayor

Richard Lewis during the 10 and 11:30 a.m. Masses Feb. 8 at St. Basil Catholic church, South Haven.

Theme of the week is "Count God In," with a related Bicentennial theme of "Declaration of Interdependence."

A special school-wide Mass will be held at 9:10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 13, after which the Glee club will present a program of patriotic songs.

The week will close with an appreciation dinner for St. Basil staff members at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13, at the rectory.

During the last two weeks of February, various recognition days for staff members will be held for the Diocese Community Faith program.

A book fair will be held during the week at the school.

Also planned is an open house at the school for community members Thursday, Feb. 12, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

A special school-wide Mass will be held at 9:10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 13, after which the Glee club will present a program of patriotic songs.

The week will close with an appreciation dinner for St. Basil staff members at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13, at the rectory.

During the last two weeks of February, various recognition days for staff members will be held for the Diocese Community Faith program.

Schedule Lecture Wednesday

The Rev. Fr. John Young, former assistant pastor of St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph, will speak on "The Broken Marriage," at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 11, at St. Bernard Catholic church, Benton Harbor.

The lecture was originally scheduled for Jan. 21.

The lecture is free and open to all interested persons.

According to Sister Anne Maloney, coordinator of Adult Religious Education for the three local Catholic parishes, Fr. Young's lecture is sponsored by the Catholic Tri-Parish Adult Enrichment program.

Church Official To Speak

Barbara Whitehead of Highland Park, International President of Purity Class, Church of God in Christ, will be guest speaker Sunday, Feb. 8, at 2:30 p.m. at Betha Temple Church of God in Christ, 139 Pipestone, Benton Harbor.

The public is invited, according to Elder Ellis Bethea, pastor.

In addition to serving as International President, the guest speaker is also in charge of Michigan.

Linda Irvine Is President

THREE OAKS — Linda Irvine has been elected president of the Youth Fellowship of Three Oaks United Methodist church.

Other officers are Brenda Wilkinson, vice president; Tim Brycta, secretary, and Gary Duncan, treasurer.

Five Area Churches To Show Film Sunday

The film, "Time To Run," will be shown at five area churches Sunday, Feb. 8.

The World Wide Pictures color film is a film made for families.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, the film stars Ed Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Siegel, Joan Winnill and Gordon Rigby.

Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of over-involvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife, or their son.

The story includes the son's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father, the drama of the conflicts between the family members, how the son takes to the road to discover the meaning in his life, and the friction between the son and his girlfriend.

Among churches where the film will be shown Sunday, Feb. 8, are:

First Baptist church, Berrien Springs, 6:30 p.m.

Napier Parkview Baptist church, Benton Harbor, 6 p.m.

Lake Michigan Assembly of God, St. Joseph, 7 p.m.

Lakeshore Baptist church, Stevensville, 6 p.m.

Church of God of Prophecy, Sodus, 10 a.m.

Elect Church Officers

WATERVLIET — The congregation of Plymouth Congregational church, Watervliet, has elected new officers.

They include Harold Snyder and Henry Tatter, trustees; John Woodruff and Floyd Crocker, deacons; Mrs. Earl (Ruth) Shimer, clerk; Mrs. H.C. (Anna) Baiers, and Mrs. William (Shirley) Cheney, deaconesses; Mrs. Paul (Jane) Bates, treasurer; Lawrence Strouse, auditor.

Also, Mrs. George (Jane) Krieger, financial secretary; George Shane, Scoutmaster; Paul Emerson, Scout Institutional representative; Mrs. George (Constance) Shane, church school superintendent; Mrs. Duane (Gloria) Bodfish, cradle roll secretary; Miss Karen Krieger, music committee chairman; Mrs. Jerry (Sandra) Pritchett, librarian; Mrs. Allen (Genevieve) Woodruff, historian.

Others are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sprague and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Emerson, delegates; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Tatter, alternates; Mrs. Wilson (Beverly) Frazier and Mrs. Arnold (Esther) Mortenson, Christian education committee; Mrs. Tom (Ellen) Pigott and Mrs. Lester (Erma) White, memorials committee; John Brule, Leonard Cassidy, Paul Emerson, Wayne Larsen and Earl Sprague, church council; John Woodruff, Frank Brule, Robert Nielsen, Harold Jackson and John Brule, ushers, and Randy Dillenbeck and Keith Krieger, junior ushers.

The POWER of FAITH

No. 225. The Book of Proverbs: Wisdom

The Book of Proverbs is one of the most popular and most characteristic collections of what scholars refer to as Wisdom Literature. It is composed of collections of wise sayings as well as moral and religious precepts. The subject matter of this enduring and fascinating collection is adequately summarized in Proverbs 1:1-6 as instruction in wise dealing, righteousness, justice, and equity.

Chapters one through nine comprise a prologue, primarily stressing the importance and value of wisdom. Unlike the following chapters, each idea presented is discussed rather carefully in a brief, poetic essay. We are warned specifically against crimes of violence (1:10-19); rashly pledging oneself to another (6:1-5); sloth (6:6-11); duplicity (6:12-15); and, above all, licentiousness (2:16-19; 5:3-20; 6:23-35; 7:4-27; and 9:13-18).

But to those who resist these temptations, wisdom promises a life of happiness, wealth, and honor. "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding.... Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour.... She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is everyone that retaineth her."

(Proverbs 3:13-18)

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Jesus Furnished Her Help

Dear Ann Landers: I really identified with that girl who voice terrified her. You suggested that she read aloud to herself in front of a mirror every evening for two weeks and then force herself to speak out in the classroom.

I am not knocking your advice, Ann, because you are supposed to be an authority (or you check with someone who is); but I had the same problem—and solved it a different way.

I decided to speak to Jesus—out loud—and ask for his help. He answered me and gave me the strength I needed to overcome my problem.

My mother says you will never print my letter because you are a non-believer and any talk of Jesus would offend you. I hope she is mistaken. We shall see. — Rose Petal

Dear Rose: Your mother is wrong on all counts. I am a "believer" even though you and I do not share the same beliefs. Talk of Jesus does not offend me or any other enlightened person of the Jewish faith. We believe Jesus was a great teacher, that he was a kind and gentle man, but we do not accept him as our Saviour. If Jesus helped you, I think it is wonderful. Go to Him whenever you feel the need. Help is where you find it.

No Visitors

Dear Ann Landers: I want to congratulate you for your strong stand on not visiting sick people in the hospital. A few readers got mad but more of us are with you than against you.

I gave birth to four babies within six years. (One set of twins.) My relatives were very considerate, but my husband's family drove me crazy. I was a nervous wreck from all the company. My milk dried up and I couldn't nurse my babies. Finally my doctor put a big sign on the door: NO VISITORS. Do you think that stopped them? It didn't. My mother-in-law and her sisters came anyway. Finally I arranged with the floor nurse to come in when she saw my light on and ask everyone to leave except my husband.

Please keep on saying what you believe, Ann. Bless you. — First Hand Knowledge

Dear F.H.K.: Most hospitals these days sharply limit the number of visitors on the maternity floor, which is a splendid idea.

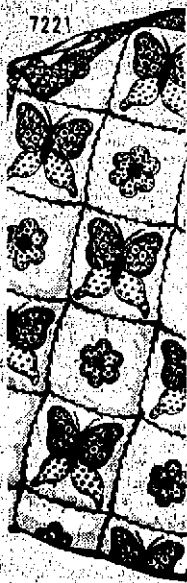

Any patient who does not want company should ask that a No Visitors sign be posted and the door kept closed. If visitors come in anyway, the patient should say, "Sorry, I'm not allowed to have company. Please come see me when I'm home."

Free History Film

BERRIEN SPRINGS — "Making a Revolution," the third film in the Alastair Cooke series on a personal history of the United States, will be shown Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 9 and 10.

The film, free to the public, will be shown at 7:45 p.m. Monday and 5:30 and 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in Meier Hall, Gold room on the Andrews university campus.

"Making a Revolution" shows blunders in London, inept colonial governors and costly British frontier wars that drained the colonists and pushed them to fight. From Concord Bridge and antique gun rifles, to the modern National Rifle Association, Cooke traces our tradition of turning to arms in the face of trouble.

Schedule Three Oaks Meetings

THREE OAKS — Past President's club of the American Legion auxiliary will meet at 1 p.m. Monday, Feb. 9, at the home of Mrs. Fred Hoadley.

Mrs. Robert Blecher will be hostess.

THREE OAKS — A program on "President's Homes" will be presented at a meeting of the Three Oaks Women's club Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Eugene Wells.

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Lolita Rubin.

THREE OAKS — Women's Guild of the First Reformed church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the church social room.

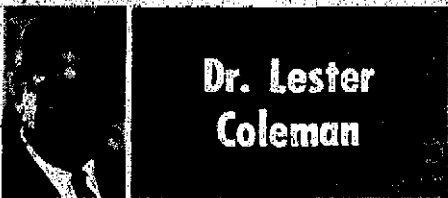

Mrs. Fred DeBoer and Mrs. Henry DeBoer will be program leaders and Mrs. Ed Rozendal and Mrs. William B. Schiek will serve as hostesses.

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks Rebekah Lodge will hold installation of officers at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 11, in Rebekah Hall.

WASH HANDS

Be sure to wash hands before applying cosmetics. Harmful bacteria from the hands can cause problems for extra sensitive skin areas. Also, cosmetics may become contaminated.

Dr. Lester Coleman

The gains in successful results following removal of the breast for cancer are most encouraging.

Undoubtedly, early detection and early surgery make these gains increase.

Mammography is a special X-ray technique used for the early detection of breast cancer. Now, an additional value to mammography seems to be on the horizon.

Dr. John N. Wolfe, of the Hurley Hospital in Detroit, believes that mammography can also be used to predict "which women are likely to develop the disease."

Dr. Wolfe has established four categories of mammographies and believes that, by this method, the very earliest changes can be evaluated. Thus, even before any clinical evidence of trouble is apparent in the breast, some form of diagnosis and treatment can be established.

Undoubtedly, this will add further to the statistical success of recovery.

The National Eye Institute, a part of the enormous complex of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is embarking on a vast project of research. Helped by grants from the Federal government, many visual disturbances whose mysteries have yet to be uncovered will be attacked.

Prevention of diseases of the retina, too, will be one of the targets. Diseases of the cornea, glaucoma, and cataract still present challenges, even though a great deal is known.

Dr. Carl Kupfer, director of the National Eye Institute, feels that this expanded program will offer "new methods of early detection and improved therapeutic techniques."

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

teacher. His pupils play a lot of duplicate bridge, and Max tries to show the difference between the play of the cards at rubber bridge and match-point duplicate.

He uses today's hand as a classic example. Whether South opens one club, one heart or the me notrump that Max teaches the final contract should be three notrump.

South wins the spade lead and looks at that nice six-card diamond suit in dummy. If he is a careless rubber bridge player, he starts to run high diamonds. East shows out on the second diamond lead. The careless player spends the next 10 minutes trying to salvage his contract and the next five complaining about bad luck.

The careful player ducks the first diamond. This would cost him a trick if the suit broke 3-2 but it would be the sort of trick rubber bridge players can afford to lose.

As for the match point players, Three notrump is such a normal contract that they should forget about the safety play. They should try to run the diamonds and wind up one down, but with an average score.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have asked us if we recommend ever opening one notrump when holding a worthless doubleton. Our answer is that we like to have at least the jack and one, but have opened hands such as today's South with one notrump when the spirit moved us.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

South American Salad

Arrange sliced oranges, avocado, and onions over shredded lettuce on a plate lined with lettuce leaves.

Garnish with sautéed whole blanched almonds and champagne shavings.

Drizzle a thin, hot-and-sour dressing, shake together equal amounts of oil and vinegar, some minced garlic, grated orange rind and tabasco.

LULLABY

If you have trouble falling asleep at night, try working in a warm bath and then drink a glass of warm milk. The milk contains tryptophan, an amino acid, which has a calming effect.

Books, Records, Movies Listed

Twenty-five Weston Woods picture books and records, for the four to six-year-old age group, have been added to the collection at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial Library, St. Joseph.

Each record and accompanying book are packaged in a plastic carrier. Among those added: "The Collection and Peter's Chair," "Stone Soup," "Make Way for Ducklings," "The Camel Who Took a Walk," "Crow Boy," "Johnny Crow's Garden," and "Madelaine's Rescue."

New records added to the general children's collection include songs by the Jackson Five and the Brady Bunch, Tom Glazer's "Space Song" and "Weather Songs," the opera "Babes in Toyland," and the musical biography "Tall Tom Jefferson," which is narrated by Richard Kiley.

New books added to the adult library collection include "The Brightwood Expedition" by Kay L. McDonald; "The New Assertive Woman" by Lynn Z. Brown; Karen Cohen and Joan Pearlman; and "The Spotted Child of the Western World" by Henry Fairlie.

Two movies will be shown for Family Film Night at the library on Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

"Paddle to the Sea" is the story of an Indian boy who whittles a toy canoe and dreams of the voyage the toy will make. "Treasure Hunting: A Family Affair" takes the viewer on a trip through Michigan and using a metal detector, shows how small objects and coins are found.

A story hour for preschool through second grade children will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 14. Rachety Racoon will be featured during the hour, and preparations for Valentine's day will be made.

A collection of Civil War memorabilia, furnished by area residents, will be in the library display case during February.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Jesus Furnished Her Help

Dear Ann Landers: I really identified with that girl who wrote to say she was afraid to open her mouth in school, even when she was sure of the answer.

She said the sound of her own voice terrified her. You suggested that she read aloud to herself in front of a mirror every evening for two weeks and then force herself to speak out in the classroom.

I am not knocking your advice, Ann, because you are supposed to be an authority (or you check with someone who is), but I had the same problem and solved it a different way.

I decided to speak to Jesus — out loud — and ask for his help. He answered me and gave me the strength I needed to overcome my problem.

My mother says you will never print my letter because you are a non-believer and any talk of Jesus would offend you. I hope she is mistaken. We shall see. — Rose Petal

Dear Rose: Your mother is wrong on all counts. I am a "believer" even though you and I do not share the same beliefs. Talk of Jesus does not offend me or any other enlightened person of the Jewish faith. We believe Jesus was a great teacher, that he was a kind and gentle man, but we do not accept him as our Saviour. If Jesus helped you, I think it is wonderful. Go to Him whenever you feel the need. Help is where you find it.

No Visitors

Dear Ann Landers: I want to congratulate you for your strong stand on not visiting sick people in the hospital. A few readers got mad but more of us are with you than against you.

I gave birth to four babies within six years. (One set of twins.) My relatives were very considerate, but my husband's family drove me crazy. I was a nervous wreck from all the company. My milk dried up and I couldn't nurse my babies. Finally my doctor put a big sign on the door: NO VISITORS. Do you think that stopped them? It didn't. My mother-in-law and her sisters came anyway. Finally I arranged with the floor nurse to come in when she saw my light on and ask everyone to leave except my husband.

Please keep on saying what you believe, Ann. Bless you. — First Hand Knowledge

Dear F.H.K.: Most hospitals these days sharply limit the number of visitors on the maternity floor, which is a splendid idea.

Any patient who does not want company should ask that a No Visitors sign be posted and the door kept closed. If visitors come in anyway, the patient should say, "Sorry, I'm not allowed to have company. Please come see me when I'm home."

Dr. Lester Coleman

The gains in successful results following removal of the breast for cancer are most encouraging.

Undoubtedly, early detection and early surgery make these dividends increase.

Mammography is a special X-ray technique used for the early detection of breast cancer. Now, an additional value to mammography seems to be on the horizon.

Dr. John N. Wolfe, of the Hutzel Hospital in Detroit, believes that mammography can also be used to predict "which women are likely to develop the disease."

Dr. Wolfe has established four categories of mammographies and believes that, by this method, the very earliest changes can be evaluated. Thus, even before any clinical evidence of trouble is apparent in the breast, some form of diagnosis and treatment can be established.

Undoubtedly, this will add further to the statistical success of recovery.

The National Eye Institute, a part of the enormous complex of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is embarking on a vast project of research. Helped by grants from the Federal government, many visual disturbances whose mysteries have yet to be uncovered will be attacked.

Prevention of diseases of the retina, too, will be one of the targets. Diseases of the cornea, glaucoma and cataract still present challenges, even though a great deal's known.

Dr. Carl Kupfer, director of the National Eye Institute, feels that this expanded program will offer "new methods of early detection and improved therapeutic techniques."

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Report Asks Aid For Malnourished

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About 600,000 Michigan residents are malnourished but are not getting help, a legislative committee said Friday.

The figure, three times the population of Grand Rapids, came out of a year-long study by the House Committee on Public Health.

Committee chairman Rep. Raymond Hood of Detroit called

Friday for "concrete action." He said Gov. William Milliken's recommendation that a panel be named to probe the problem should not be a substitute.

"I appreciate the need for more information, but we already know enough to move toward solutions to some of the more obvious problems," Hood said.

"Because people who are malnourished do not scream and shout about their plight, government has been too lax in addressing the problem," he said.

"We cannot afford to continue wasting human lives as if they were not a proper concern of government."

The 144-page report, entitled "A Matter of Justice," says less than 10 per cent of the Michigan senior citizens who need food assistance are getting it.

It says in Detroit alone there are 100,000 women and children who need nutritional help.

The report also calls for a ban on "junk food" vending machines at Michigan schools and more aggressive programs about nutrition.

Other nutrition could counter mental retardation and a death rate for Indian Indians which is three times that in the general population, the report said.

It included 96 recommendations for action.

Hood said although the programs will cost taxpayers money, they will save money in the long run.

"A healthier public means less lost work days, fewer cases of mental retardation and a decrease in institutionalizations resulting from premature senility," he said.

He said a bipartisan attack on problems of hunger and malnutrition is necessary.

"The problems of hunger and malnutrition have no political boundaries," he said.

'Heavyweights' War In Wayne

DETROIT (AP) — A battle of the bulges is shaping up in Wayne County Circuit Court and there's a fat chance a reducing firm is going to get trimmed.

The fat fight became legal when Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan, Inc., filed suit against East Right And Slim Easly, Inc., (ERASE) claiming the upstart group is stealing members with unfair business tactics.

ERASE is a Detroit-based company formed last month by former employees of Weight Watchers. In the past few weeks, ERASE President Bernadette Story says she has been able to skim 1,000 members and 30 instructors from Weight Watchers' ranks.

Weight Watchers is an international group that sells local franchises.

Chubby members of both groups pay an initial membership fee and are assessed for weekly meetings where they receive instruction and pay to help make them shed unwanted pounds.

The lawsuit charges the splinter group:

—Divulged Weight Watchers' pound-reduction, "trade secrets" that the employees promised to keep secret when they were originally trained by the company.

—Halted Weight Watchers' meetings and used its membership lists to steal members.

—Plagiarized Weight Watchers' business and control forms.

The suit asks for an injunction against alleged ERASE tactics and payment of damages.

"We've done everything legally," Mrs. Story said. "We felt the (Weight Watchers') program was too confining to certain foods, so we decided to break away."

Apartment Blaze Is Doused

Benton Harbor firemen at 9:10 p.m. Friday, extinguished a blaze in an apartment house at 438 Broadway. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said the blaze began in an upstairs living unit, rented by a woman identified as Clorinda Randolph. She was not home at the time. The cause was listed by firemen as possible careless smoking. The entire house received smoke and water damage. The owner was identified as John Blackmore, 519 Payne street, Benton Harbor.

Asks Permit To Build Three Piers

DETROIT — Timothy E. Horan III of South Haven has applied for a federal permit to build three piers in the Black river offshore of his property 700 feet from the Dyckman avenue bridge in South Haven.

The piers would extend 28 feet riverward from the existing shoreline and would be used to provide six mooring slips for private pleasure craft, according to the Detroit district office of the U.S. Army's corps of engineers to which Horan submitted his construction application.

People objecting to, or desiring to comment on the proposed construction, have 30 days from Jan. 28 to file written comments with the Detroit office, a corps spokesman said.

To Have Surgery

BOSTON (AP) — Nancy Klesinger, wife of the secretary of state, was scheduled to undergo surgery here today for a stomach ulcer.

The doctors said the operative plan will depend on the findings at the time of surgery but will almost certainly consist of removing the distal portion of the stomach — that which empties into the small intestine.

Niles Man Sentenced To 6 Months

A Niles man who allegedly threatened to "smoke the courthouse" unless two probation officers were dismissed was sentenced to six months in jail on a reduced charge yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Ramon Davis, 34, of 2352 White street, Niles, pleaded guilty to a charge of making a threatening phone call that was received by the Berrien county sheriff's department Dec. 31. A charge of extortion — a felony — was dismissed.

Davis had been accused of threatening to damage the Berrien courthouse unless his parole officer, David Dreese, and another parole/probation officer, Robert Love, were dismissed. There was no indication why Davis, on parole from Southern Michigan prison, wanted the men dismissed.

Report Asks Aid For Malnourished

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About 650,000 Michigan residents are malnourished but are not getting help, a legislative committee said Friday.

The figure, three times the population of Grand Rapids, came out of a year-long study by the House Committee on Public Health.

Committee chairman Rep. Raymond Hood of Detroit called

Friday for "concrete action." He said Gov. William Milliken's recommendation that a panel be named to probe the problem should not be a substitute.

"I appreciate the need for more information, but we already know enough to move toward solutions to some of the more obvious problems," Hood said.

"Because people who are malnourished do not scream and shout about their plight, government has been too lax in addressing the problem," he said.

"We cannot afford to continue wasting human lives as if they were not a proper concern of government."

The 140-page report, entitled "A Matter of Justice," says less than 10 per cent of the Michigan senior citizens who need food assistance are getting it.

It says in Detroit alone there are 105,000 women and children who need nutritional support.

The report also calls for a ban on "junk food" vending machines in Michigan schools and more aggressive programs about nutrition.

Better nutrition could counter mental retardation and a death rate for Indian infants which is three times that in the general population, the report said.

It included 95 recommendations for action.

Hood said although the programs will cost taxpayers money, they will save money in the long run.

"A healthier public means less lost work days, fewer cases of mental retardation and a decrease in institutionalizations resulting from premature senility," he said.

He said a bipartisan attack on problems of hunger and malnutrition is necessary.

"The problems of hunger and malnutrition have no political boundaries," he said.

'Heavyweights' War In Wayne

DETROIT (AP) — A battle of the bulges is shaping up in Wayne County Circuit Court and there's a fat chance a reducing firm is going to get trimmed.

The fat fight became legal diet when Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan, Inc., filed suit against Eat Right And Slim Easily, Inc. (ERASE) claiming the splinter group is stealing members with unfair business tactics.

ERASE is a Detroit-based company formed last month by former employees of Weight Watchers. In the past few weeks, ERASE President Bernadette Story says she has been able to skim 1,000 members and 35 instructors from Weight Watchers' ranks.

Weight Watchers is an international group that sells local franchises.

Chubby members of both groups pay an initial membership fee and are assessed for weekly meetings where they receive instruction and pep talks to help make them shed unwanted pounds.

The lawsuit charges the splinter group:

—Divulged Weight Watchers' pound-reduction "trade secrets" that the employees promised to keep secret when they were originally trained by the company.

—Raided Weight Watchers' meetings and used its membership lists to steal members.

—Plagiarized Weight Watchers' business and control forms.

The suit asks for an injunction against alleged ERASE tactics and payment of damages.

"We've done everything legally," Mrs. Story said. "We feel the (Weight Watchers') program was too confining to certain foods, so we decided to break away."

Apartment Blaze Is Doused

Benton Harbor firemen at 9:10 p.m. Friday, extinguished a blaze in an apartment house at 436 Broadway. No injuries were reported.

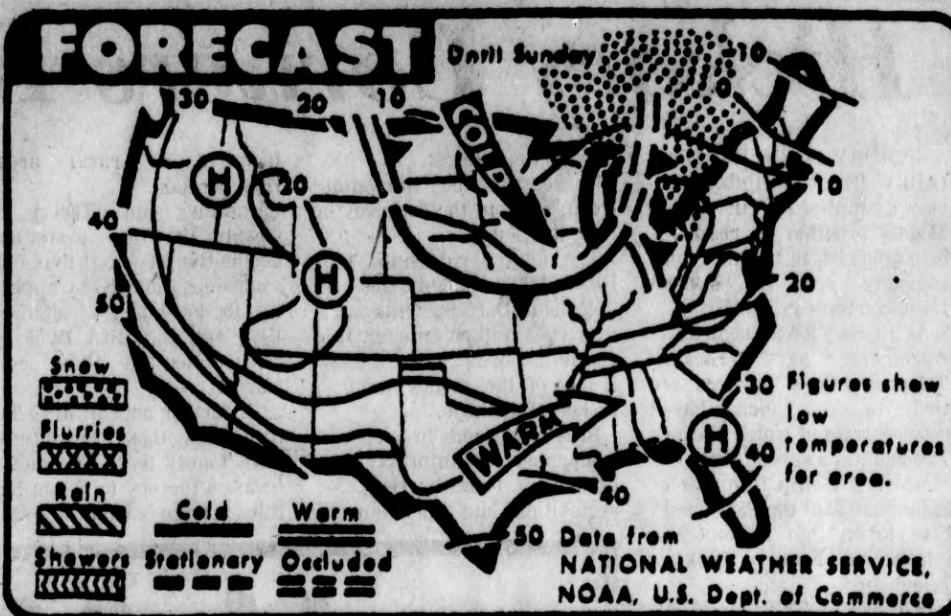

Firemen said the blaze began in an upstairs living unit, rented by a woman identified as Clinteria Randolph. She was not home at the time. The cause was listed by firemen as possible careless smoking. The entire house received smoke and water damage. The owner was identified as John Blackmore, 510 Pavone street, Benton Harbor.

Payoff Disclosure Sparks Call For Code Of Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disclosure of payoffs to foreign officials by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is bringing demands in Congress for an international code of business ethics that would outlaw the practice.

Published reports based on Lockheed records said one payment was a $1.1 million gift to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands to stimulate sales of Lockheed products to the Dutch.

"It's not just an American problem," said Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., at the conclusion Friday of Lockheed hearings by the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations.

"I hope now there will be movement in Congress, in private business, and in the OECD community (Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development) for an effective multilateral code of conduct for corporations."

Sirica Is Off Critical List

WASHINGTON (AP) — If U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica continues his steady recovery from a heart attack, he could be home from the hospital in a month and back on the bench in eight to 10 weeks.

Sirica, 71, was taken off the critical list Friday at George Washington University Hospital. The hospital said the Washington judge was "much improved," and changed his condition to serious.

Hickory Corners Renews Phone Scrap

HICKORY CORNERS, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission will decide Monday whether to reopen a case which has left a small rural company with the highest telephone rates in Michigan.

An attorney for the company's customers says "Hickory Telephone Co.'s finances are tied to a Chicago-based conglomerate of which Hickory Telephone is a subsidiary."

Attorney Philip Hummer of Kalamazoo said the PSC should have taken into account the relationship between Hickory Telephone and the conglomerate, Telephone Data Systems (TDS) when the commission granted Hickory Corners a 54 per cent rate increase recently.

In documents asking the PSC to reopen the case, Hummer questioned business practices of TDS. Hummer said the president of TDS, LeRoy T. Carlson, also was a director in 1974 of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) Bank and was chairman of its finance committee for one year.

The REA and the bank make loans to rural telephone companies and other companies. Hummer suggests this could be a conflict of interest.

There was no immediate comment from the company or federal officials.

The lawyer contended that REA lent subsidiaries of Telephone Data Systems more than $25.3 million between 1966 and 1972. But he does not know if any of the money went to Hickory Telephone.

REA loans funds to telephone companies for improvement, expansion, construction, or acquisition and operation of facilities in rural areas. Hummer said "TDS is engaged in the systematic acquisition of small telephone companies followed by application for low-interest loans from REA and the REA Bank for construction at those companies."

"It further appears that TDS then uses those low-interest loans and the construction financed thereby to obtain high rates from various state regulatory commissions. Hummer said talking in state records indicates the PSC knows that background."

Residents of Hickory Corners protested in November when the state regulatory agency approved a rate increase raising rates for the firm's 900-plus customers from $10.00 to $10.35 per month.

To show their anger with the utility, Hickory Telephone customers Friday staged a protest where they burned copies of a company survey which gave the subscribers a choice between accepting the higher rates or giving up existing toll-free calling privileges.

The protest group filed with the PSC a copy of an REA staff memo dealing with Hickory Telephone Co.

The memo is headed: "TDS does it again. Why must they get the last drop of blood?" Hummer reported. He said more documents will be filed but did not indicate their contents.

He said the REA staff memo was filed "because it is the federal government commenting on what the Michigan Public Service Commission did to you people." Hummer's comments all came during a strategy session of the protest group Thursday night.

The group's attorney called for "real hard examination" of TDS activities nationwide.

Payoff Disclosure Sparks Call For Code Of Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disclosure of payoffs to foreign officials by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is bringing demands in Congress for an international code of business ethics that would outlaw the practice.

Published reports based on Lockheed records said one payment was a $1.1 million gift to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands to stimulate sales of Lockheed products to the Dutch.

"It's not just an American problem," said Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., at the conclusion Friday of Lockheed hearings by the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations.

"I hope now there will be movement in Congress, in private business, and in the OECD community (Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development) for an effective multilateral code of conduct for corporations."

The Senate made a start this week in adopting an amendment to a pending foreign military aid bill requiring contractors to report gifts, fees and commissions paid or offered in connection with U.S. weapons sales abroad.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, multinational subcommittee chairman, said in sponsoring the amendment that a law requiring disclosure would go a long way toward ending the practice, and maybe, he said, other governments will follow suit.

Lockheed, in Los Angeles, said a panel of directors had been formed to investigate all charges. The payoffs are not illegal under U.S. laws.

Hearst Robbery Tape Ruling Due Monday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With a film of an armed Patricia Hearst having been shown to the jury, the judge in her trial will decide whether to admit as evidence a tape recording in which Miss Hearst said she willingly robbed a bank with a loaded gun.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter said at the end of Friday's court session that he will hear testimony about the tape from the prosecution and the defense on Monday.

Defense attorney Al Johnson said "there is a good chance" Miss Hearst will testify in her own behalf that her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers forced her to make the tape from a prepared script. The jury will not be present during the hearing.

A slow-motion film of Miss Hearst armed with a sawed-off carbine inside the bank was shown during Friday's court session.

The tape surfaced April 24, 1974. On it, the newspaper heiress' soft voice says that "my comrades and I expropriated $10,660.02 from the Sunset branch of the Hibernia Bank" nine days earlier.

"My gun was loaded, and at no time did any of my comrades intentionally point their guns at me," Miss Hearst said in the tape.

The defense says her carbine was empty and that SLA leader Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze trained his weapon on her during the robbery.

Hickory Corners Renews Phone Scrap

HICKORY CORNERS, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission will decide Monday whether to reopen a case which has left a small rural company with the highest telephone rates in Michigan.

An attorney for the company's customers says Hickory Telephone Co.'s finances are tied to a Chicago-based conglomerate of which Hickory Telephone is a subsidiary.

Attorney Philip Hummer of Kalamazoo said the PSC should have taken into account the relationship between Hickory Telephone and the conglomerate, Telephone Data Systems (TDS) when the commission granted Hickory Corners a 54 per cent rate increase recently.

In documents asking the PSC to reopen the case, Hummer questioned business practices of TDS. Hummer said the president of TDS, LeRoy T. Carlson, also was a director in 1974 of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) Bank and was chairman of its finance committee for one year.

The REA and the bank make loans to rural telephone companies and other companies. Hummer suggests this could be a conflict of interest.

There was no immediate comment from the company or federal officials.

The lawyer contended that REA lent subsidiaries of Telephone Data Systems more than $26.3 million between 1956 and 1972. But he does not know if any of the money went to Hickory Telephone.

REA loans funds to telephone companies for improvement, expansion, construction, or acquisition and operation of facilities in rural areas, Hummer said.

Hummer said "TDS is engaged in the systematic acquisition of small telephone companies followed by application for low-interest loans from REA and the REA Bank for construction at those companies."

"It further appears that TDS then uses those low-interest loans and the construction financed thereby to obtain high rates from various state regulatory commissions."

Hummer said nothing in state records indicates the PSC knows that background.

Residents of Hickory Corners protested in November when the state regulatory agency approved a rate increase raising rates for the firm's 900-plus customers from $10.60 to $16.35 per month.

To show their anger with the utility, Hickory Telephone customers Friday staged a protest where they burned copies of a company survey which gave the subscribers a choice between accepting the higher rates or giving up existing toll-free calling privileges.

The protest group filed with the PSC a copy of an REA staff memo dealing with Hickory Telephone Co.

The memo is headed, "TDS does it again. Why must they get the last drop of blood?" Hummer reported. He said more documents will be filed but did not indicate their contents.

He said the REA staff memo was filed "because it is the federal government commenting on what the Michigan Public Service Commission did to you people." Hummer's comments all came during a strategy session of the protest group Thursday night.

The group's attorney called for "real hard examination" of TDS activities nationwide.

Take Advantage Of Your Income 'Adjustments'

By SAMUEL E. VITALE

One way to hold down income taxes is to claim all the "adjustments to income" to which you are entitled. What is the difference between an adjustment and a deduction? Very little, except that adjustments are applied to gross income rather than to adjusted gross, and thus are taken even if you use the standard deduction.

The principal adjustments to income are:

- Sick pay.
  - Moving expenses.
  - Certain employee business expenses.
  - Job-related education expenses.
  - Depreciation of property used in business.
  - Contributions to tax deferred retirement plans.
- Whether, and to what extent, the pay you received while out sick or injured can be excluded from income, depends on a number of factors, including the existence of an established employer-financed sick-pay plan, the length of time you were absent, and whether you were hospitalized for part of the absence. In any case, the most that is tax exempt is $100 a week.

The rules covering sick pay are too extensive for full old home or setting the lease, buying a new home, or acquiring a new lease.

In claiming the moving expense adjustment, you must supply a statement from your employer of any reimbursement he may have made in connection with the move. Ask him to fill out IRS form 782.

The job-related expenses that should be listed as adjustments rather than miscellaneous deductions have to do chiefly with travel and entertainment expenses, specifically: travel out of town on overnight trips; transportation for business not involving overnight stays; and the expenses of "outside salesmen" who work out of quarters other than those of their employer.

These employee travel, gift and entertainment expenses, when adjusted as adjustments to income if the study was paid for by the employer and included in gross income. To be deductible the educational course must be undertaken in order to meet the requirements of the job — to maintain or improve skills used now. If the study prepares you for a promotion — or a job in another line — no deduction.

An employee's educational expenses are deductible as adjustments to income if the study was paid for by the employer and included in gross income. To be deductible the educational course must be undertaken in order to meet the requirements of the job — to maintain or improve skills used now. If the study prepares you for a promotion — or a job in another line — no deduction.

The cost of replacing worn out or obsolete equipment used in business is a deductible expense, which is taken in the form of depreciation, pro-rated over the life of the asset. If an automobile used solely for business can be expected to last only five years, one fifth of its purchase price can be claimed each year as an adjustment to income. If the car is used only half the time for business, cut the depreciation in half; take ten percent a year for five years.

The same rules apply to other property, including your home, if part of it is used for business purposes only, although it is treated as an adjustment only if you are self-employed; employees list it as an itemized expense. The definition of a deductible office-in-the-home has been narrowed sharply and is expected to become even more stringent in 1976.

explanation here, if you are affected you may want to research the subject further or consult your professional tax advisor. Use IRS form 2440.

Any workers' compensation you may have received is fully exempt from tax, as are damages for injuries or illness, insurance benefits for health insurance on which you paid the premiums, or disability benefits for loss of income under a non-qualified insurance policy.

If you have moved to a new home in order to work for a new employer or because you were transferred, your moving expenses may be deductible as "adjustments." You qualify only if staying in your old home would have meant traveling at least an additional 50 miles to get to work. Also, you must work full-time at the new location for at least 30 weeks during the first year after the move. Use IRS form 3903.

Assuming you meet all the requirements, what moving expenses are deductible?

- Travel expenses, for you and your family.
- Moving of household goods.
- Househunting trips prior to the move.
- Meals and lodging for up to 30 days while in temporary quarters at the new location.

Today is Saturday, Feb. 7, the 38th day of 1975. There are 328 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the postwar future was being shaped by President Franklin Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin at the Yalta Conference on the Black Sea.

On this date: In 1778, Daniel Boone and 27 others were captured by Indians in Blue Lick, Ky.

In 1812, the English writer, Charles Dickens, was born in Portsmouth, England.

In 1904, a fire virtually wiped out downtown Baltimore.

In 1941, in World War II, British forces captured the port of Benghazi in Libya.

In 1948, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower resigned as Army chief of staff. He was succeeded by Gen. Omar Bradley.

In 1962, 296 miners were killed in a coal mine explosion at Saarbrücken, Germany.

Ten years ago: President

Lyndon Johnson and South Vietnamese government chiefs were conferring in Hawaii on the war in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: The U.S. Apollo 14 astronauts were speeding toward a splashdown in the Pacific after a successful moon landing.

One year ago: Two Soviet cosmonauts returned safely to earth after 30 days in orbit around the earth.

Today's birthdays: Writer Gay Talese is 64. Former Puerto Rican Governor Luis Ferré is 72.

Thought for today: We are under a Constitution, but the Constitution is what the judges say it is. — Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, 1962-1968.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, word-mouth news spread, fast, at George Washington's military camp at Cambridge, Mass. Several diaries record that two soldiers tried to see who could drink the most, and one of them died.

Penalty Would Stay Same

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Persons who file incorrect state income tax returns but have no intention of defrauding the state or evading tax payment would still have to pay $1,000 fines under a bill introduced this week by Sen. John Bowman. Sen. Bowman, of Battle Creek, also proposes that those who do intend to defraud the state be guilty of a felony, fined $5,000 or imprisoned for five years. Current tax law does not distinguish between those who intend to defraud the state by filing false returns and those who simply make mathematical mistakes. Bowman's bill would also apply identical fines against persons who help others make false statements or evade tax payments.

Any workers' compensation you may have received is fully exempt from tax, as are damages for injuries or illness, insurance benefits for health insurance on which you paid the premiums, or disability benefits for loss of income under a no-fault auto insurance policy.

If you have moved to a new home in order to work for a new employer or because you were transferred, your moving expenses may be deductible as "adjustments". You qualify only if staying in your old home would have meant traveling at least an additional 50 miles to get to work. Also, you must work full-time at the new location for at least 39 weeks during the first year after the move. Use IRS form 3903.

Assuming you meet all the requirements, what moving expenses are deductible?

These employee travel, gift and entertainment expenses taken as adjustments should be itemized on IRS form 2106. Internal Revenue is getting tougher in its requirements for documentation of travel and entertainment costs, so dig out any records you can find to support your claims. A diary is helpful, but only if the entries were made at or near the time of the expenditure. Receipts and canceled checks are better. Not only must you be able to show that an expenditure was made, but also that it was for a deductible business purpose.

An employee's educational expenses are deductible as adjustments to income if the study was paid for by the employer and included in gross income. To be deductible the educational course must be undertaken in order to meet the requirements of the job — to maintain or improve skills used now. # Furniture Seen Better Days? Use Camouflage

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The top of a wooden table, especially one that falls into the dining or coffee category, is probably the most vulnerable portion of any piece of furniture in the house.

It has many enemies, including water, alcohol, gravy, hot dishes, too much or too little humidity, constant sunshine, hot ashes, neglect and children.

The result of an indignity by one of these foes is some kind of blemish.

In most cases, the damaged area can be disguised well enough so that it won't be noticed.

Curiously, some of the products that can be used to make the repairs were never intended for that purpose, among them iodine, shoe polish, cigar ash, nut meat or even coloring crayons.

Minor scratches are the easiest to hide. One way to tell which of the above household items will provide the best "match" is to test in some inconspicuous spot, preferably the underside of the table.

There are regular wax coloring sticks available in a number of tones, but you can also use children's crayons.

Wine Rack Can Go In Kitchen

Kitchen remodeling offers a chance for more than just updating the cabinets and adding new appliances.

A relaxed, livable look can be added by installing a wine rack next to a stack of drawers at the end of a counter. Western wood boards set in at diagonals will form handsome bins for bottle display.

A similar treatment could be used as part of a room divider between kitchen and family room or as part of cabinets above the working counters.

The sketch here shows one treatment.

Five Jobs In Benton

Building permits totaling $4,600 were issued this week in Benton township by Chester Shuck, chief of buildings and inspection.

Crest Construction Co., Lakeside, was issued a $1,750 permit to construct a new garage for George Tanke at 1011 Emerson.

A permit for $500 was issued to Guy Kiser, 446 Mayfield, to remodel a dwelling he owns at 1825 Reeder for commercial use.

John S. Williams, 1970 East Main street, was issued a $500 permit to make general repairs to a dwelling he owns at that address.

Two permits totaling $1,000 were issued to Thomas Duffose, of St. Joseph, to make general repairs to two township fire stations at 450 Madeline and 1405 Napier avenue.

The Hammer--How To Use It

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

One of the most basic of all hand tools is the hammer -- so apparently simple to use that few persons ever feel the need to learn how to do it properly.

"The thousands of injuries that occur to handymen using the hammer each year are nearly always caused by misuse. Entirely aside from that, countless projects are delayed or spoiled by the improper use of hammers."

Many cases of arm fatigue can be traced to the use of hammers that don't "fit" the persons or the jobs, as well as to the simple failure to wield the tool in the right manner.

The following tips apply to the types of hammers used around the house:

1 -- Be sure the handle is neither loose nor damaged.

2 -- Use safety glasses when practical, but especially when driving hardened masonry nails in concrete. In the latter case, use a heavy ball peen hammer with a large striking force or a hand drilling hammer rather than the ordinary claw or nail hammer.

3 -- The hammer blow should always be struck with the hammer face parallel with the surface being struck.

4 -- Hold the hammer handle at the end without any of your hand overhanging.

5 -- Rest the face of the hammer on the nail, draw the hammer back and give a light tap as you hold the nail in place with the thumb and first two fingers of one hand.

6 -- The wrist, the elbow and the shoulder, handle hammer blows. For a light tap, use only the wrist. For a moderate blow, use the wrist and the elbow. For heavy whacks, use the wrist, elbow and shoulder.

7 -- When a nail bends, it's generally better to remove it and start a new one than attempt to straighten it out with compensating blows. The exception is in very rough work, where striking the nail at a slant to straighten it out is occasionally all right.

8 -- Whether you hit a nail straight or on a slant, always strike it with the center of the hammer face.

9 -- Keep a few nailsets of different sizes in your workshop. Use one when a nail is to be driven below the surface. Drive the nail the ordinary way, then use the nailset for the last two or three blows.

Watervliet-Area Ice Cream Shop Gets Green Light

WATERVLLET -- A permit for the construction of a Dairy-Snak building off Red Arrow highway, topped the list of permits issued during January by William Gaines, Watervliet township building inspector.

The business will offer ice cream and sandwiches and will consist of a 32 by 37-foot brick and block building.

The permit was issued to Peggy Welch, owner, estimated cost $17,000.

Other permits went to Roman Trutwin, Huntoon avenue, lower ceiling in dining and living room, $320.

Robert Curtis, route 3, Paw Paw avenue, frame barn-garage combination, $1,500.

Charles Moser, Hagar Shure road, erect greenhouse, heavy timber construction, $861.

Lyle Woodworth, route 2, Ryno road, corner of Hennessey, finish basement, $1,500.

Fred Jonas, Red Arrow highway, partition office space in Haviland Agricultural Chemical company building, $1,225.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q -- How deep should drain tiles be placed in the ground? They will run from the downspouts on the house to a dry well.

A -- At least 1 foot in depth. Be sure the tiles are slanted slightly in the direction of the dry well.

Q -- An old house we moved into has a small marble floor just inside the entranceway. The former owner told us that he cleaned it with nothing else but a detergent. I recently did that and it seemed fine at first, but soon developed some white streaks. What should I do now?

A -- The chances are you used too much detergent or that you failed to rinse the floor sufficiently. Use a wet mop and work carefully so that no metal parts of the mop scrapes the marble. After you have done a small area, rinse out the mop thoroughly, wet it with clean water and rub the floor again. Rinse the mop, repeat and keep doing this until, when you squeeze the mop, nothing comes out of it except clean water. Detergent is all right for cleaning this type of floor, periodically provided that you use the detergent very, very sparingly and that you do a thorough job of rinsing.

Q -- I have tried various liquids and washing fluids to get some old decals off wooden kitchen cabinets, but without success. What can you suggest?

A -- Try covering the decal with a clean, wet cloth, then pressing a hot steam iron over the cloth, being certain the iron doesn't touch the wood. Now try removing the decal by rubbing with the wet cloth. You may have to repeat the operation several times.

Furniture Seen Better Days? Use Camouflage

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The top of a wooden table, especially one that falls into the dining or coffee category, is probably the most vulnerable portion of any piece of furniture in the house.

It has many enemies, including water, alcohol, gravy, hot dishes, too much or too little humidity, constant sunshine, hot ashes, neglect and children.

The result of an indignity by one of these foes is some kind of blemish. In most cases, the damaged area can be disguised well enough so that it won't be noticed.

Curiously, some of the products that can be used to make the repairs were never intended for that purpose, among them iodine, shoe polish, cigar ash, nut meat or even coloring crayons.

They're Still Shaking

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Despite an apology from Guatemala's President, Larry and Norma Landstra still were shaking Friday from their close call in a Central American earthquake.

"Now that we're back home, I think that we're in more shock than we were minutes and hours after the earthquake hit," Landstra said.

He and his wife returned home within hours after the tremors shook their Guatemala City hotel before dawn Wednesday.

"Everything in our hotel room bounced around. I was thrown from the bed and the only reason that my wife was not injured was that she reached for me. The ceiling and lamp came down on the bed where she was."

"We thought the whole building was going down but it held up," Landstra reported.

But the hotel was damaged severely enough to force evacuation of guests into a courtyard and then the street. Before the Landstras could flee, the door to their room had to be forced open to free them.

PRESIDENT FORD Flying to Manchester

Outside, Landstra said Guatemalan President Kjell Eugenio Laugerud approached the partially clad guests to tell them of the situation and apologize for what had happened.

"I was amazed he would take the time during such a terrible time to check our welfare," Landstra said about the brief presidential apology.

Landstra, a consultant for Michigan State University's teacher intern program, was in Guatemala to check upon the program. All 14 of the program participants were reported safe after Wednesday's quake, he said.

Ford Looking For 'Major Lift' In N.H.

By WALTER E. MEARS AP Special Correspondent MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — President Ford began taking it personally today.

After a campaign by proxy and organization, Ford was to seek New Hampshire presidential primary votes for himself on a two-day mission to the state where he faces his first challenge from Ronald Reagan. With it, Ford's Republican allies hope to give a major lift to what has been a troubled campaign effort.

The President, his wife and daughter Susan were flying into Manchester for the weekend of campaigning. The emphasis clearly was on an effort to present Ford the President, not the campaigning politician.

The American people in 1976 are not concerned with the polished image of candidates but rather with the hard issues facing the country, Ford said Friday. "They are concerned about jobs... about the cost of health care... about housing, education, crime... the cost of groceries," the President told some 500 Republicans from the northeastern states at a conference in Arlington, Va.

That seemed aimed at the campaigning Reagan, who has made four trips to New Hampshire so far, and is due to return Monday. Ford's schedule had only one totally political event on it: a Sunday appearance before his campaign workers and supporters in Concord. Some 2,000 to 2,500 people were invited.

The rest of the route was tailored to the presidential image. There was a meeting today with New Hampshire state and local officials for a discussion of the new federal budget. Ford showed Friday how that kind of meeting meshes with his campaign. He told the Republican conference that New Hampshire would get $120 million in revenue sharing funds under his budget proposal to extend the program for more than five years.

"I don't want to cut it out. I want to make sure it goes to New Hampshire," Ford said, in an obvious reference to Reagan's $80 billion budget cutting plan, which envisioned an end to revenue sharing.

Reagan has since dropped the figure, saying it was only an example, but not the concept, which he said is to return government powers and programs to state and local levels.

Ford addresses the Nashua Chamber of Commerce tonight. His visit ends Sunday with a news conference and a speech to students at the University of New Hampshire in Durham. In pace and content, the visit contrasts sharply with Ford's campaign stint on Sept. 11 in behalf of Republican Louis Wyman, the ultimate loser in a special Senate election.

30 CHOICES Short Courses To Begin At LMC

Thirty Lake Michigan college short courses — ranging from international cooking to Tibetan dancing — will begin next week.

Enrollment for the short courses will take place during the first session of each class. All newcomers will be permitted to enroll at class meetings during the week of Monday, Feb. 16, according to LMC officials.

The short courses scheduled and their days and times include: Monday, Feb. 9 — Belly Dance I, 7-8:30 p.m.; Belly Dance III, 8:30-10 p.m.; Assessment Administration II, 7-10 p.m.; Folk Guitar, 7-9 p.m.; International Cooking, 8:30-10 p.m.; Parapsychology, 7-9 p.m.; and Conversational German, 8:30-9 p.m.

Tuesday, Feb. 10 — Beginning Yoga, 8-10 p.m.; Belly Dance I, 8:30-11 a.m.; Belly Dance II, 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m.; Beginning Conversational Spanish, 8:30-9 p.m.; Needlepoint, 7-9 p.m.; Belly Building (men), 8:30-9:30 p.m.; Karate, 7-8 p.m.; Microane, 7-9 p.m.; and Metaphysical Prosperity, 9-10 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 11 — Real Estate Fundamentals, 7-9 p.m.; Belly Dance I, 7-8:30 p.m.; Hair Styling, 7-8 p.m.; Belly Dance II, 8:30-10 p.m.; Beginning Photography, 7-9 p.m.; Medical Terminology, 7-9 p.m.; Street Law, 7-9 p.m.; Astrology, 7-9 p.m.; and Jazz History, 7-9 p.m.

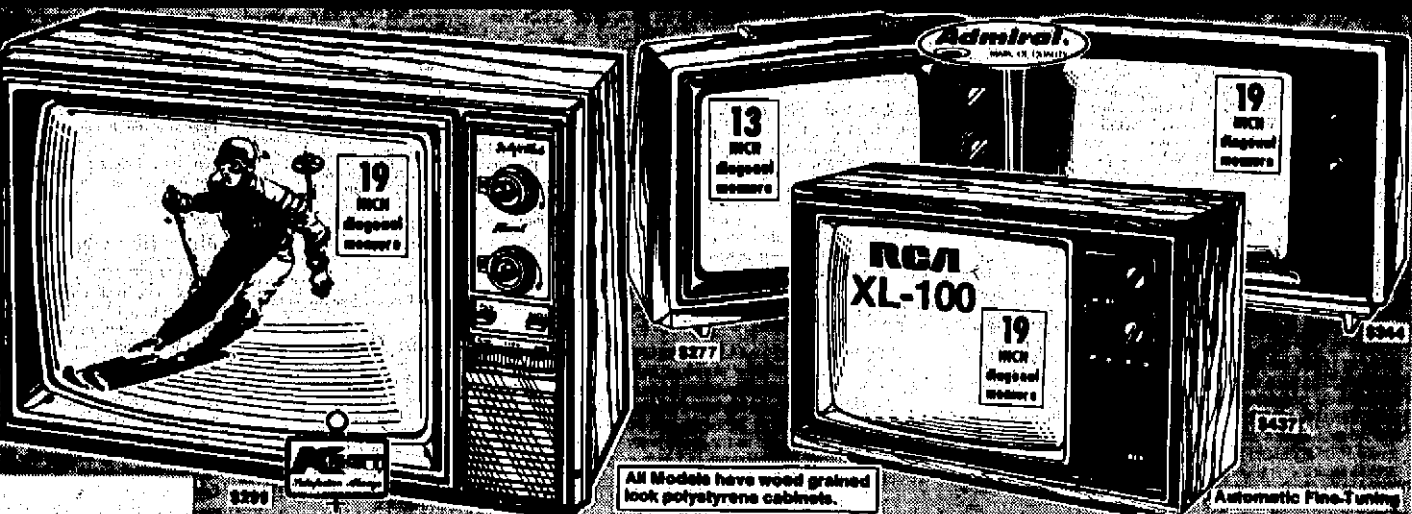

Thursday, Feb. 12 — Advanced Photography, 7-9 p.m.; Conversational Spanish, 8:30-9 p.m.; Polynesian Dance, 7-9 p.m.; Instrument Ground School, 8-10 p.m.; and First Aid, 7-9 p.m.

"The array of short courses being offered this spring semester is more extensive and offers a greater variety than ever before. We are trying to provide every adult in the area with an opportunity to continue his education, upgrade his job, sharpen his skills, improve himself culturally, meet new people, or enjoy his leisure time more fully and completely," said Jim Fent, LMC director of continuing education and extension centers.

All short courses are open to people of all ages and no previous educational requirements are necessary. Instruction is offered in a quiet, friendly manner on a non-competitive level, Fent indicated.

Because several of the courses have a limited enrollment, participants are encouraged to reserve a spot by telephoning the LMC continuing education office at 927-5871, Ext. 406.

They're Still Shaking

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Despite an apology from Guatemala's President, Larry and Norma Landstra still were shaking Friday from their close call in a Central American earthquake.

"Now that we're back home, I think that we're in more shock than we were minutes and hours after the earthquake hit," Landstra said.

He and his wife returned home within hours after the tremors shook their Guatemala City hotel before dawn Wednesday.

"Everything in our hotel room bounced around. I was thrown from the bed and the only reason that my wife was not injured was that she reached for me. The ceiling and lamp came down on the bed where she was."

"We thought the whole building was going down but it held up," Landstra reported.

But the hotel was damaged severely enough to force evacuation of guests into a courtyard and then the street. Before the Landstras could flee, the door to their room had to be forced open to free them.

PRESIDENT FORD Flying to Manchester

Outside, Landstra said Guatemalan President Kjell Eugenio Laugerud approached the partially clad guests to tell them of the situation and apologize for what had happened.

"I was amazed he would take the time during such a terrible time to check our welfare," Landstra said about the brief presidential apology.

Landstra, a consultant for Michigan State University's teacher intern program, was in Guatemala to check upon the program. All 14 of the program participants were reported safe after Wednesday's quake, he said.

Ford Looking For 'Major Lift' In N.H.

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — President Ford began taking it personally today.

After a campaign by proxy and organization, Ford was to seek New Hampshire presidential primary votes for himself on a two-day mission to the state where he faces his first challenge from Ronald Reagan. With it, Ford's Republican allies hope to give a major lift to what has been a troubled campaign effort.

The President, his wife and daughter Susan were flying into Manchester for the weekend of campaigning. The emphasis clearly was on an effort to present Ford the President, not the campaigning politician.

"The American people in 1976 are not concerned with the polished image of candidates but rather with the hard issues facing the country," Ford said Friday. "They are concerned about jobs ... about the cost of health care ... about housing, education, crime ... the cost of housing and the price of groceries," the President told some 500 Republicans from the northeastern states at a conference in Arlington, Va.

That seemed aimed at the campaigning Reagan, who has made four trips to New Hampshire so far, and is due to return Monday. Ford's schedule had only one totally political event on it: a Sunday appearance before his campaign workers and supporters in Concord. Some 2,000 to 2,500 people were invited.

The rest of the route was tailored to the presidential image. There was a meeting today with New Hampshire state and local officials for a discussion of the new federal budget. Ford showed Friday how that kind of meeting meshes with his campaign. He told the Republican conference that New Hampshire would get $125 million in revenue sharing funds under his budget proposal to extend the program for more than five years.

"I don't want to cut it out. I want to make sure it goes to New Hampshire," Ford said, in an obvious reference to Reagan's $90 billion budget cutting plan, which envisioned an end to revenue sharing.

Reagan has since dropped the figure, saying it was only an example, but not the concept, which he said is to return government powers and programs to state and local levels.

Speaker Crim Says Outlook Bad

on budget bills by resolution and attempt to get the budget passed by June 18," he said.

"It's going to be very difficult to get votes," he added. "Anybody can stand up and say 'I don't like it because it doesn't take care in a responsible manner' of whatever happens to be at the top of their priority agenda. It's going to be very popular to vote against this budget."

Milliken has ruled out any tax increases, although some Democratic legislators say he is only postponing the inevitable. Crim said he has not ruled a tax increase in or out, but said the only way the legislature would pass a tax increase would be if the governor changed his position.

Crim predicted a tough fight for the governor's proposal extending the current fiscal year by 90 days from June 30 to Oct. 1 to help balance this year's budget.

He said he has heard predictions that what he called the auto "sales flash" is tapering off and that there will be cutbacks. He also noted that Milliken's proposed budget contains no provisions for a possible auto strike and said, "It is something we should be concerned with."

Gov. Brown's Peace Not That Any More

year's budget of $1.3 billion in less than five months, in large part investigating disputed elections and numerous complaints of unfair labor practices.

His major decision, and one of the growers' chief complaints, was to allow union organizers to enter fields at specified times and talk to workers.

The growers claim the access rule sanctions trespassing. They filed a suit which is now before the state Supreme Court. Modification of the rule is also one of their eight conditions for approving the appropriation.

Other demands include allowing growers to call an election, increasing the time between calling and holding an election, and eliminating the ALRB's power to impose a contract on growers who refuse to negotiate.

Supporters of the law claim the growers' real complaint is that the UFW has won nearly 80 per cent of the elections in its battle with the Teamsters. Union representation has been rejected altogether in only 7 per cent of the elections.

Many of the same points were argued before the legislature, said Brown, who has been adamant against changing the law.

Bishop Roger Mahony, chairman of the ALRB, said Friday one reason the agreement fell apart was that "the parties had different kinds of expectations that weren't satisfied."

"For example, I've had growers tell me it never dawned on them that farm workers would vote to join a union. They expected half the votes for no union."

"It will take some time for this industry to get used to (collective bargaining)," Mahony said. "It was exempt for 40 years."

Brown continues to profess confidence that the board will set its money "after a period of discussion and anxious waiting."

If no agreement is reached by June, the same battle will probably occur over proposed funding for the ALRB in Brown's 1970-71 state budget. The budget, like the appropriation bill, needs a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

"There is a two-thirds vote for nothing. There's a two-thirds vote for paralysis," Brown said Friday.

But Brown may have an ace up his sleeve. The resignation of ALRB member Joe Ortega, who was arrested last week on child molesting charges, leaves a vacancy on the five-man board.

Though both the governor and growers hotly deny any deal is in the works, Brown's appointment to fill the vacancy later this month could be part of a settlement to revive the ALRB.

It's NEWS TODAY In MICHIGAN

Wanted: Expert Testimony

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Senate Conservation Committee says it wants to hear from experts before it sends a bill to the full Senate on strict regulation of a toxic industrial chemical. It also refused this week to amend the bill to let Consumers Power Co. and other utilities phase out electrical equipment containing polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB). A Consumers spokesman said the amendment would save the company up to $10 million. Already approved by the House, the bill would drastically cut the manufacture, sale and use of PCB, which officials say has polluted milk and several species of Great Lakes fish. Department of Natural Resources fish biologist John Hesse told the committee that transformers and capacitors contain large amounts of PCB which may, at times, contaminate the atmosphere, but committee chairman Sen. Joe Mack, D-Ironwood, said he wants electrical "experts" to tell the committee how dangerous the chemical's presence in electrical equipment is before the amendment is completely ruled out. Other committee members went along with him, especially Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids.

Signature Clears The Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — President's Ford's signature on a railroad reorganization act "helps assure that Michigan will continue to have the freight service upon which our economy depends," Gov. William Milliken said Friday. The bill was signed by Ford on Thursday. It clears the way for the start of ConRail, a federally organized revision of bankrupt Northeast and Midwest railroads. The plan also begins federal assistance to maintain operation on remaining bankrupt rail segments that otherwise would have been eliminated. Milliken said the bill preserves the Ann Arbor Railroad from Ann Arbor to Frankfort and its ferry across Lake Michigan to Kenosha; Wis. Meanwhile, state efforts to secure operators for all 1,100 miles of bankrupt line, not included in ConRail, which will become a state responsibility March 31 are proceeding on schedule, the governor said. Milliken said he will work with officials from other states to secure enough federal funding to take over the lines.

State Board Picks Woman

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Kalamazoo woman has been named to help school districts and others implement federal anti-sex discrimination rules. Jo Jacobs was named Friday by the state Board of Education to help Michigan institutions cope with the provisions of Title IX of the federal Educational Amendments of 1972. Title IX prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs and activities, and in employment policies and practices. It applies to any programs which receive federal funds.

Pinned By Tractor

AYONDALE, Mich. (AP) — An Oscoda County woman was killed Thursday when she was pinned between her tractor and a tree in a farm field. State Police identified the victim as Florence Crawford, 44, of Ayondale.

Southwest Michigan TIDBITS

Seabees On The Way Back

Twenty-four Sea Bees from southwestern Michigan are scheduled to break camp today at Gulfport, Miss., and head back into the northern winter. They are members of Detachment 1226 of the Naval Reserve's 28th Construction Battalion which has been training two weeks at Gulfport. The 28th Battalion is composed of men from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Members of the Detachment 1226 normally spend one weekend a month training at the Naval Reserve center, Cass street, Benton Harbor.

Coloma Tax Day Feb. 14

COLOMA — Mrs. Gladys Vanderveer, Coloma treasurer, said she would be at the Coloma city hall Saturday, Feb. 14, to accept tax payments from city property owners. She said she would be at the hall from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

Third Meeting At Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — The third in a series of meetings aimed at reactivating the Cass county chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Wednesday, Feb. 11, at Southwestern Michigan college here. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and be held in the administration building. A spokesman for the meeting said the functions, goals and policies of the Red Cross would be reviewed at the meeting.

Bainbridge Tax Payments

Bainbridge Township Treasurer James Lull said he will be at the bank in Millburg to receive tax payments from township residents on Friday, Feb. 13. Lull said he would be at the bank from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Bloom'dale Survey On Way

BLOOMINGDALE — Bloomington school district residents will be surveyed on possible methods the school can use to create more classroom space, according to Mrs. Mark Buell, chairman of the Bloomington Citizens Advisory committee. She said the survey questionnaire will be sent out the middle of this month. She added that the advisory committee is also scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 9, in the Bloomington elementary gym.

Tip For Defaulters: Notify Banks First

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If you're going to default on a loan — tell the bank first. At least that's the advice from state officials.

According to the Michigan Financial Institutions Bureau, most banks deal more favorably with persons who contact them before the default than with those who fail to communicate.

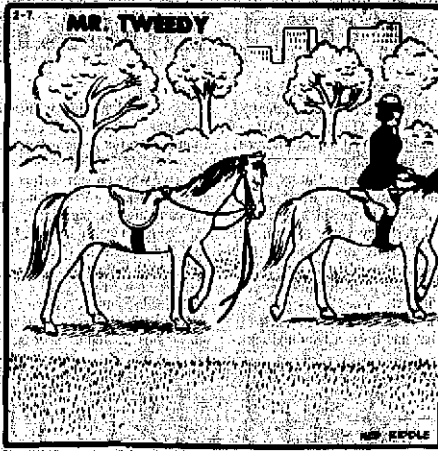

A survey of 1,000 banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions and finance companies showed that more than 80 per cent of them treat those who default more favorably if they contact the bank first, the bureau said.

Those who keep the institution informed about their financial problems, job prospects, current address and other information are likely to be offered flexible payment plans, reduced payments, interest-only plans, credit counseling and other alternatives to default.

The institution's assessment of the borrower's honesty, sincerity and attitude also influences its response to the problem, the bureau said.

If the borrower fails to communicate, however, the institution is more likely to proceed with vigorous collection efforts or to affect the borrower's credit rating.

LEONARD, I STILL SAY YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE ASKED FOR A RIDING CROP TO USE ON ONE OF THESE RENT HORSES.

OBITUARIES

Palmer Beebe Dies In Florida

DOWAGIAC — Palmer Beebe, Dewey Lake street, route 2, Dowagiac, son of a prominent Berrien county couple, the late Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beebe, died Friday evening shortly after being admitted to Venice hospital, Venice, Fla.

He was in his late 60's.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later today by Grover funeral home, Dowagiac. Mr. Beebe was formerly an operator of a 678-acre grain and hog farm north of Dowagiac and in June of 1961 was named by President John F. Kennedy to serve on the National Agricultural Advisory commission.

The late Clyde A. Beebe had been widely known throughout the U.S. in the first one-third of this century as the "mint king" and later the "superstraw king" and at one time operated the largest dairy farm in Berrien county.

Mrs. Louise Beebe was a prominent women's club leader in Benton Harbor. In October of last year a house located at 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, was dedicated in her name as a center for a family planning program.

The Louise Beebe Memorial center was formerly part of the Beebe estate and was donated to Friendship Baptist church by Mrs. Joseph Slaughter, daughter of late Clyde and Louise Beebe.

Mrs. Beebe died in 1968. Her husband died in 1947.

Mrs. Augusta Flynn

Mrs. Augusta Ellen Flynn, 66, of 1202 Linden drive, St. Joseph, died Friday evening at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, Mich.

Her husband, Peter, preceded her in death in 1972. Survivors include a son, Harold Petty, St. Joseph, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Malcolm Morris, Sodus; a brother, E. Louis Fortney, Calif.; and a sister, Mrs. Evalene Curtin, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 2 p.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Friends may call after Noon Sunday.

Chandler Rites Set

Funeral services for Theodore F. Chandler, 82, formerly of Stevensville, who died Wednesday, will be held Monday, at 7 p.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Concordia cemetery, Forest Park, Ill.

Friends may call after 4 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Glenn DeLong

Glenn (Willis) DeLong, 39, of route 3, Box 2794, Maple Lane Park, Benton Harbor, died Friday evening at his residence. He was born Aug. 25, 1916. He was a tool and die maker and was employed at Whirlpool Corporation.

Survivors include his wife, the former Helen Henke; two sons, James DeLong, Benton Harbor, Robert DeLong, Kalamazoo; two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Donna) Kelly, Benton Harbor, Mrs. Gary (Joan) Lull, Benton Harbor; and three sisters, Mrs. Nevel (Eula) Dalton, Victorville, Calif.; Mrs. Samuel (Sally) Speltman, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Ivan (Evelyn) Hite, Huntington, Ind.

Private funeral services will be held Monday, at 10 a.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Crystal Springs cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. this evening at the funeral home. Memorials may be made to Berrien County Child Development Fellowship.

George Labadie

DECATUR — George Labadie, route 3, Decatur, died at his home late Friday afternoon, the victim of a self-inflicted gun wound, according to Cass county Sheriff James Northrop.

Mr. Labadie's death has been ruled a suicide by Dr. Charles Koudette of Dowagiac, deputy Cass county medical examiner, according to Sheriff Northrop.

Mr. Labadie, a retired farmer, was found in his home around 5 p.m., Northrop said. Northrop said he believed Mr. Labadie was in his 70's.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning at Newell funeral home, Decatur.

Fred Ott

BRIDGMAN — Fred R. Ott, 66, of 9021 North Church street, Bridgman, died Friday morning at his home.

He was born Sept. 17, 1910, in Bridgman. He was retired from Anstey Foundry, Stevensville.

Survivors include his wife, the former Edna Nitz; four brothers, Paul, Richard, Lawrence, Andrew, all of Bridgman; and four sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Alma) Swendsen, Mrs. Marvin (Mildred) Bartlett, Mrs. Lucille Ott, all of Bridgman; Mrs. Raymond (Ann) Swendsen, Berrien Springs.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 2 p.m., at Immanuel Lutheran church, of which he was a member. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. this evening at Boyd funeral home. Memorials may be made to the church building fund.

Herman Henning

FENNIVILLE — Herman William Henning, 77, of Douglas Mobile Estates, died Friday morning at Community hospital, Douglas, following a three month illness.

Born Sept. 1, 1890, in Chicago, he had resided in Fenniville for the past two years. He had been employed as a Pullman car upholsterer with Pennsylvania Railroad.

His wife, the former Beba Varnell, survives. Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ray (Betty Jane) Schmitt, Downers Grove, Ill.; and a sister, Mrs. Lillian Redelick, South Haven.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 1 p.m., at Chappell funeral home, Fenniville. Burial will be in Grand Junction cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. this evening.

Mrs. Alba Chval

NEW BUFFALO — Mrs. Alba Marie Chval, believed to be 80 years old, of 7 West Mechanic street, New Buffalo, was found dead at her home yesterday. Dr. John Valantiejus, Medical Examiner, said that death was due to a heart condition and that she had been dead since Feb. 5.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at Smith funeral home, New Buffalo.

Five Sundays Comprise Part Of 28-Year Cycle

By MIKE WYNGARDEN

Staff Writer

There are five Sundays in February this year — it will not occur again for another 28 years.

Normally, the month of February has only 28 days so that each day falls exactly four times in the month. During a leap year like 1976, however, there are 29 days in February and one day will fall five times during the month.

A different day of the week falls five times every leap year so that in seven leap years, or 28 years, the cycle repeats itself. Thus, there were five Sundays in February in 1928, 1948, it will occur this year, and not again until the year 2004.

Nate R. Richardson of 632 Spring lane, Benton township, discovered the phenomenon occurring again this year. He had cut out a newspaper clipping proclaiming the event in 1948 and recalled that the 28-year anniversary of five February Sundays occurred again in 1976.

Richardson, 62, said keeping track of "unusual occurrences" has been his hobby since he retired in 1973. He was a linotype operator for The Coloma Courier, The Watervliet Record and The Fennville Herald-Free.

Days fall five times in other months, with 30 and 31 days, routinely. It occurs 28 times in any given year and 30 times in a leap year.

How does Richardson plan to observe the 28th anniversary of the fifth Sunday in February? "I'll probably take my wife, Gertrude, to church," he said. "It's something I don't do on a regular basis."

February also has something else going for it — next Friday is the 13th.

Wayne State Alumni Plan Winter Meeting

Wayne State university alumni and friends of southwestern Michigan will meet for their annual winter reunion Wednesday, March 3, at the Ramada Inn, south of Benton Harbor. A country-western theme will be followed with Penny Jones, a Lake Michigan college music student, entertaining on the guitar, according to Jerry Foss of the Wayne Information Service. People attending are encouraged as an optional highlight to dress "country style" in blue jeans, gingham gowns and sunbonnets. Dr. Paul Andrews, Wayne State's director of alumni relations, will present a color slide presentation on recent developments. The reunion will begin with a social hour at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 and the program at 8. Dinner reservations at $5.50 each can be made by writing to Mrs. Helen Tucker, 222 South Lake Shore D-2, St. Joseph 49781.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Extradition Avoided Because Of Distance

By RALPH LUTZ

Staff Writer

A Los Angeles, Calif., man apparently put enough miles between him and his home police department to avoid extradition proceedings on a narcotics charge, according to state police at the Benton Harbor post.

Trooper Charles Coleman about 1 p.m. Friday, stopped an auto for speeding on I-94 in Lincoln township. The driver was arrested when a computer check showed he was sought on a fugitive warrant charging sale of heroin. The post said the warrant was held by the Los Angeles police department and the alleged fugitive was free on $5,000 bond.

The post said the driver was released from the Berrien county jail when the Los Angeles police department reported it did not want to begin extradition proceedings. Distance was the apparent main reason, the post said.

The material was identified as Arby, III, 22, Los Angeles.

The post said in certain types of offenses, such as narcotics, Michigan will enter extradition only as far as neighboring states. There is no geographical limits for capital crimes, such as homicide, the post said.

St. Joseph police Friday investigated vandalism at Lakeside Estates apartments, 2704 Lakeshore drive, and reported that someone smashed a 5 by 8-foot entrance door window, valued at about $400.

Kermit Smith told Benton township police Friday that a combination tape player-radio valued at $100 was stolen from his home, 177 South Crystal avenue.

Speaker Crim Says Outlook Bad

on budget bills by resolution and attempt to get the budget passed by June 18," he said.

"It's going to be very difficult to get votes," he added. "Anybody can stand up and say 'I don't like it, it doesn't take care in a responsible manner' of whatever happens to be at the top of their priority agenda. It's going to be very popular to vote against this budget."

Milliken has ruled out any tax increases although some Democratic legislators say he is only postponing the inevitable. Crim said he has not ruled a tax increase in or out, but said the only way the legislature would pass a tax increase would be if the governor changed his position.

Crim predicted a tough fight for the governor's proposal extending the current fiscal year by 90 days from June 30 to Oct. 1 to help balance this year's budget.

He said he has heard predictions that what he called the auto "sales flash" is tapering off and that there will be cutbacks. He also noted that Milliken's proposed budget contains no provisions for a possible auto strike and said, "It is something we should be concerned with."

Gov. Brown's Peace Not That Any More

year's budget of $1.3 million in less than five months, in large part investigating disputed elections and numerous complaints of unfair labor practices.

Its major decision, and one of the growers' chief complaints, was to allow union organizers to enter fields at specified times and talk to workers.

The growers claim the access rule sanctions trespassing. They filed a suit which is now before the state Supreme Court. Modification of the rule is also one of their eight conditions for approving the appropriation.

Other demands include allowing growers to call an election, increasing the time between calling and holding an election, and eliminating the ALRB's power to impose a contract on growers who refuse to negotiate.

Supporters of the law claim the growers' real complaint is that the UFW has won nearly 60 per cent of the elections in its battle with the Teamsters. Union representation has been rejected altogether in only 7 per cent of the elections.

"Many of the same points were argued before the legislature," said Brown, who has been adamant against changing

the law.

Bishop Roger Mahony, chairman of the ALRB, said Friday one reason the agreement fell apart was that "the parties had different kinds of expectations that weren't satisfied."

"For example, I've had growers tell me it never dawned on them that farm workers would vote to join a union. They expected half the votes for no union."

"It will take some time for this industry to get used to (collective bargaining)," Mahony said. "It was exempt for 40 years."

Brown continues to profess confidence that the board will get its money "after a period of discussion and anxious waiting."

If no agreement is reached by June, the same battle will probably occur over proposed funding for the ALRB in Brown's 1976-77 state budget. The budget, like the appropriation bill, needs a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

"There is a two-thirds vote for nothing. There's a two-thirds vote for paralysis," Brown said Friday.

But Brown may have an ace up his sleeve. The resignation of ALRB member Joe Ortega, who was arrested last week on child molesting charges, leaves a vacancy on the five-man board.

Though both the governor and growers hold any deal in the works, Brown's appointment to fill the vacancy later this month could be part of a settlement to revive the ALRB.

Southwest Michigan TIDBITS

Seabees On The Way Back

Twenty-four Sea Bees from southwestern Michigan are slated to break camp today at Gulfport, Miss., and head back into the northern winter. They are members of Detachment 1226 of the Naval Reserve's 26th Construction Battalion which has been training two weeks at Gulfport. The 26th Battalion is composed of men from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Members of the Detachment 1226 normally spend one weekend a month training at the Naval Reserve center, Cass street, Benton Harbor.

Coloma Tax Day Feb. 14

COLOMA — Mrs. Gladys VanDerveer, Coloma treasurer, said she would be at the Coloma city hall Saturday, Feb. 14, to accept tax payments from city property owners. She said she would be at the hall from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

Third Meeting At Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — The third in a series of meetings aimed at reactivating the Cass county chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Wednesday, Feb. 11, at Southwestern Michigan college here. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and be held in the administration building. A spokesman for the meeting said the functions, goals and policies of the Red Cross would be reviewed at the meeting.

Bainbridge Tax Payments

Bainbridge Township Treasurer James Lull said he will be at the bank in Millburg to receive tax payments from township residents on Friday, Feb. 13. Lull said he would be at the bank from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Bloom'dale Survey On Way

BLOOMINGDALE — Bloomingdale school district residents will be surveyed on possible methods the school can use to create more classroom space, according to Mrs. Mark Buell, chairman of the Bloomingdale Citizens Advisory committee. She said the survey questionnaire will be sent out the middle of this month. She added that the advisory committee is also scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 9, in the Bloomingdale elementary gym.

Tip For Defaulters: Notify Banks First

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If you're going to default on a loan — tell the bank first. At least that's the advice from state officials.

According to the Michigan Financial Institutions Bureau, most banks deal more favorably with persons who contact them before the default than with those who fail to communicate.

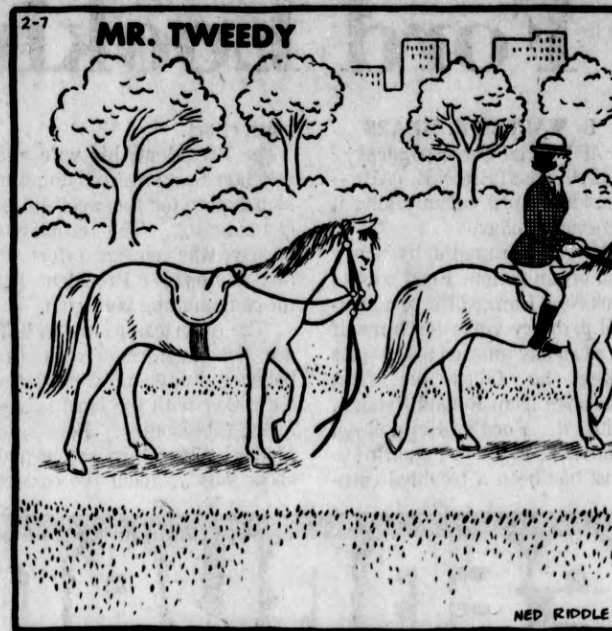

A survey of 1,560 banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions and finance companies showed that more than 90 per cent of them treat those who default more favorably if they contact the bank first, the bureau said.

Those who keep the institution informed about their financial problems, job prospects, current address and other information are likely to be offered flexible payment plans, reduced payments, interest-only plans, credit counseling and other alternatives to default.

The institution's assessment of the borrower's honesty, sincerity and attitude also influences its response to the problem, the bureau said.

If the borrower fails to communicate, however, the institution is more likely to proceed with vigorous collection efforts or to affect the borrower's credit rating.

OBITUARIES

Palmer Beebe Dies In Florida

DOWAGIAC — Palmer Beebe, Dewey Lake street, route 2, Dowagiac, son of a prominent Berrien county couple, the late Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beebe, died Friday evening shortly after being admitted to Venice hospital, Venice, Fla.

He was in his late 60's.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later today by Groner funeral home, Dowagiac. Mr. Beebe was formerly an operator of a 670-acre grain and hog farm north of Dowagiac and in June of 1961 was named by President John F. Kennedy to serve on the National Agricultural Advisory commission.

The late Clyde A. Beebe had been widely known throughout the U.S. in the first one-third of this century as the "mint king" and later, the "sauerkraut king" and at one time operated the largest dairy farm in Berrien county.

Mrs. Louise Beebe was a prominent women's club leader in Benton Harbor. In October of last year a house located at 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, was dedicated in her name as a center for a family planning program.

The Louise Beebe Memorial center was formerly part of the Beebe estate and was donated to Friendship Baptist church by Mrs. Joseph Slaughter, daughter of late Clyde and Louise Beebe.

Mrs. Beebe died in 1968. Her husband died in 1947.

Mrs. Augusta Flynn

Mrs. Augusta Ellen Flynn, 85, of 1202 Linden drive, St. Joseph, died Friday evening at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, Mich.

Her husband, Peter, preceded her in death in 1972. Survivors include a son, Harold Felty, St. Joseph; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Malcolm Morris, Sodus; a brother, E. Louis Fortney, Calif.; and a sister, Mrs. Evalena Curtin, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 2 p.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Friends may call after Noon Sunday.

Chandler Rites Set

Funeral services for Theodore F. Chandler, 92, formerly of Stevensville, who died Wednesday, will be held Monday, at 7 p.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Concordia cemetery, Forest Park, Ill.

Friends may call after 4 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Glenn DeLong

Glenn (Willis) DeLong, 59, of route 3, Box 2794, Maple Lane Park, Benton Harbor, died Friday evening at his residence.

He was born Aug. 25, 1916. He was a tool and die maker and was employed at Whirlpool Corporation.

Survivors include his wife, the former Helen Henke; two sons, James DeLong, Benton Harbor, Robert DeLong, Kalamazoo; two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Donna) Kelly, Benton Harbor, Mrs. Gary (Joan) Lull, Benton Harbor; and three sisters, Mrs. Nevel (Eula) Dalton, Victorville, Calif., Mrs. Samuel (Sally) Spellman, Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Ivan (Evelyn) Hite, Huntington, Ind.

Private funeral services will be held Monday, at 10 a.m., at Kerley and Starks funeral home. Burial will be in Crystal Springs cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. this evening at the funeral home. Memorials may be made to Berrien County Child Evangelism Fellowship.

George Labadie

DECATUR — George Labadie, route 3, Decatur, died at his home late Friday afternoon, the victim of a self-inflicted gun wound, according to Cass county Sheriff James Northrop.

Mr. Labadie's death has been ruled a suicide by Dr. Charles Koudele of Dowagiac, deputy Cass county medical examiner, according to Sheriff Northrop.

Mr. Labadie, a retired farmer, was found in his home around 5 p.m., Northrop said. Northrop said he believed Mr. Labadie was in his 70's.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning at Newell funeral home, Decatur.

Fred Ott

BRIDGMAN — Fred R. Ott, 65, of 9621 North Church street, Bridgman, died Friday morning at his home.

He was born Sept. 17, 1910, in Bridgman. He was retired from Anstey Foundry, Stevensville.

Survivors include his wife, the former Edna Nitz; four brothers, Paul, Richard, Lawrence, Andrew, all of Bridgman; and four sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Alma) Swenberg, Mrs. Marvin (Mildred) Barfelz, Miss Lucille Ott, all of Bridgman, Mrs. Raymond (Ann) Swenberg, Berrien Springs.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 2 p.m., at Immanuel Lutheran church, of which he was a member. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. this evening at Boyd funeral home. Memorials may be made to the church building fund.

Herman Henning

FENNIVILLE — Herman William Henning, 77, of Douglas Mobile Estates, died Friday morning at Community hospital, Douglas, following a three month illness.

Born Sept. 1, 1898, in Chicago, he had resided in Fennville for the past two years. He had been employed as a Pullman car upholsterer with Pennsylvania Railroad.

His wife, the former Reba Yarnell, survives. Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ray (Betty Jane) Schmitt, Downers Grove, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Lillian Redelick, South Haven.

Funeral services will be held Monday, at 1 p.m., at Chappell funeral home, Fennville. Burial will be in Grand Junction cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. this evening.

Mrs. Alba Chval

NEW BUFFALO — Mrs. Alba Marie Chval, believed to be 80 years old, of 7 West Mechanic street, New Buffalo, was found dead at her home yesterday. Dr. John Valantiejus, Medical Examiner, said that death was due to a heart condition and that she had been dead since Feb. 5. Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at Smith funeral home, New Buffalo.

Five Sundays Comprise Part Of 28-Year Cycle

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

There are five Sundays in February this year — it will not occur again for another 28 years.

Normally, the month of February has only 28 days so that each day falls exactly four times in the month. During a leap year like 1976, however, there are 29 days in February and one day will fall five times during the month.

A different day of the week falls five times every leap year so that in seven leap years, or 28 years, the cycle repeats itself. Thus, there were five Sundays in February in 1920, 1948, it will occur this year, and not again until the year 2004.

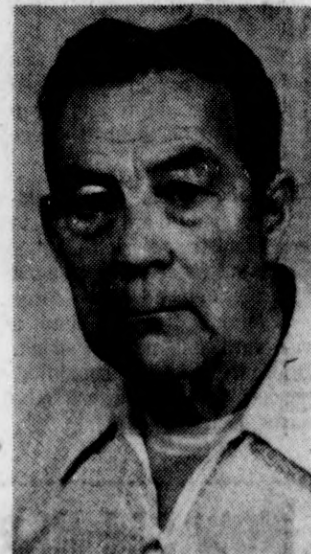

Nate R. Richardson of 632 Spring lane, Benton township, discovered the phenomena occurring again this year. He had cut out a newspaper clipping proclaiming the event in 1948 and recalled that the 28-year anniversary of five February Sundays occurred again in 1976.

Wanted: Expert Testimony

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Senate Conservation Committee says it wants to hear from experts before it sends a bill to the full Senate on strict regulation of a toxic industrial chemical. It also refused this week to amend the bill to let Consumers Power Co. and other utilities phase out electrical equipment containing polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB). A Consumers spokesman said the amendment would save the company up to $10 million. Already approved by the House, the bill would drastically cut the manufacture, sale and use of PCB, which officials say has poisoned mink and several species of Great Lakes fish. Department of Natural Resources fish biologist John Hesse told the committee that transformers and capacitors contain large amounts of PCB which may, at times, contaminate the atmosphere. But committee chairman Sen. Joe Mack, D-Ironwood, said he wants electrical "experts" to tell the committee how dangerous the chemical's presence in electrical equipment is before the amendment is completely ruled out. Other committee members went along with him, especially Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids.

Signature Clears The Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — President's Ford's signature on a railroad reorganization act "helps assure that Michigan will continue to have the freight service upon which our economy depends," Gov. William Milliken said Friday. The bill was signed by Ford on Thursday. It clears the way for the start of ConRail, a federally organized revision of bankrupt Northeast and Midwest railroads. The plan also begins federal assistance to maintain operation on remaining bankrupt rail segments that otherwise would have been eliminated. Milliken said the bill preserves the Ann Arbor Railroad from Ann Arbor to Frankfort and its ferry across Lake Michigan to Kenosha, Wis. Meanwhile, state efforts to secure operators for all 1,100 miles of bankrupt line, not included in ConRail, which will become a state responsibility March 31 are proceeding on schedule, the governor said. Milliken said he will work with officials from other states to secure enough federal funding to take over the lines.

State Board Picks Woman

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Kalamazoo woman has been named to help school districts and others implement federal anti-sex discrimination rules. Jo Jacobs was named Friday by the state Board of Education to help Michigan institutions cope with the provisions of Title IX of the federal Educational Amendments of 1972. Title IX prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs and activities, and in employment policies and practices. It applies to any programs which receive federal funds.

Pinned By Tractor

AVONDALE, Mich. (AP) — An Osceola County woman was killed Thursday when she was pinned between her tractor and a tree in a farm field. State Police identified the victim as Florence Crawford, 44, of Avondale.

Cease And Desist Order

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Department of Commerce has issued a cease and desist order against a Seattle, Wash., firm for allegedly offering unregistered securities in the form of vacation time sharing units in a Hawaiian resort. Under the plan, the state said, investors could vacation at a condominium in Hawaii for two weeks each year for 40 years. The Corporation and Securities Bureau said Vacation Internationale failed to disclose relevant financial information, how its sales proceeds were used, and the fact its selling commissions were about 25 per cent of the sales proceeds.

Mandatory Life Sentence

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Sentencing will be Feb. 13 for Ronnie D. McCullough, 28, found guilty Friday of felony murder in the shooting death of a Ypsilanti patrolman during the July 11 robbery of a branch of the National Branch of Ypsilanti. The circuit court jury of six men and six women deliberated four hours Thursday and about four hours Friday before reaching the verdict. The charge carries a mandatory life sentence. McCullough, of Detroit, was accused killing Douglas D. Downing, 37, of Ypsilanti. During the robbery, one man was killed by police outside the bank. Two other suspects still face murder charges in the same case.

Michigan 'Best Site'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Dearborn lawmaker says Michigan would be the best site for a proposed federal institute to study solar energy. Rep. Lucille McCollough has introduced a resolution asking President Ford and Michigan's Congressional delegation to urge the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration to select Michigan as the center's site. The institute would employ more than 1,500 persons and operate on a $50 million annual budget, Mrs. McCollough said.

Film Pulled Off The Screen

TROY, Mich. (AP) — As far as the Village Theater of Troy is concerned, the "O" in the film title "The Story of O" might as well stand for "obscene." A Troy Municipal Court jury this week found the theater, which had been showing the X-rated movie, guilty of violating the city's anti-pornography ordinance. The Village Theater suspended the run of the French film with a sadomasochistic theme and replaced it Thursday night with "Gone With the Wind." Theater Attorney Robert Fineman said the guilty verdict would be appealed.

Funds Can Be Frozen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A newly elected county board of commissioners can freeze construction funds approved by a prior board, according to the state attorney general. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled that a new county board can override a decision of an earlier board to expend funds for capital improvements. The ruling came in response to a query from Rep. Edward Mahalak, D-Romulus. Kelley referred in his decision to a 1937 Supreme Court opinion which upheld a lowering of salaries from the level set by a previous board.

Sheila Captures Third Olympic Medal

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Tatjana Averina of the Soviet Union won the women's 1,000-meter speed skating race today, and Sheila Young of Detroit became the first American ever to win three medals in a single Winter Olympics when she won the bronze.

Miss Averina, who had settled for bronze medals in both the 500 meters and 1,500 meters, took home the gold this time with an Olympic record of 1:19.45, surpassing the mark of 1:31.40 set in 1972 by Monika Holzer of West Germany.

Leah Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., who had been weakened by a pre-Olympic bout with the flu and twice failed to win a medal, clocked 1:25.37 for the silver. Miss Young, the winner of the gold in the 500 meters and the silver in the 1,500, got the bronze this time with a clocking of 1:28.14. Canada's Sylvia Burke was fourth.

Peter Schotting, the U.S.

men's speed-skating coach, said the 25-year-old Miss Young was hampered by her bid for a second gold because of an official's decision to resurface the ice and because of her late start in the 1,000 meters. She was slowed by sun-softened ice.

"You don't just press a computer button and have Sheila win the race, even though you folks might want it to be that way," Schotting told a post-race news conference.

"Sheila raced in the second grouping after the ice had been resurfaced. Because Leah had beaten her twice recently at this distance, I gave her (Leah) the choice of the first grouping."

"This is not an excuse, but the referee decided to resurface the ice after the first grouping. We know Innsbruck is not as experienced at ice making as Duesseldorf or Goteborg, for example."

Schotting explained the aim of the ice maker "is to fill in the ridges created by the first skaters, take off the frost which forms in order to make a perfectly smooth surface.

"They put too much water in the ridges from the first skaters and built it up too much. It definitely was slower for Sheila when she skated."

But he also noted, "We are not disappointed by her finish."

Miss Poulos was not completely satisfied with her performance. "I believe I could have done better in the last turn," she said. "I didn't lean into it enough."

"I was angry at the starter," she added. "He made us stand around for a while and I got cold—but it may have helped me because it psyched me up. I was more relaxed today."

Miss Averina's winning time, although nearly three seconds under the old Olympic record, was well off her world record time of 1:24.44.

Miss Poulos, 24, had been a close fourth Friday in the 500 meters. She skated in the fifth pair today, with Ludmila Titova of the Soviet Union, who was timed well behind at 1:30.06.

The third American starter, Peggy Crowe, 20, of St. Louis, was disqualified in the 15th pair. Racing against Ute Dix of East Germany, she failed to yield a lane in the mandatory lane change. She failed to yield to the German girl in the outside of the crossover, said U.S. team manager Eugene Sandvig.

Miss Crowe was a controversial starter in the race. She had the fastest time in the fastest of two Olympic trials races in West Allis, Wis., in December, but had been beaten regularly before and since by Kim Kostur of St. Paul, Minn.

The U.S. Speed Skating Association at first voted for a skate-off between Miss Crowe and Miss Kostur for the third berth, but then reversed itself.

Dianne Holm, the U.S. women's coach, accused U.S. Olympic Committee President

Phil Krumm of influencing the decision and tampering with the team. Krumm denied it and said, "you can't have trials after the Olympic trials."

Miss Holm was surrounded by photographers and autograph hunters from Germany after the race, in which she did much better than expected. She has only been in full training for a few months following an injury.

"I am very satisfied and a little surprised at finishing fifth," said the 22-year-old bookbinder.

Miss Holm approached an Associated Press reporter during the morning and said: "I don't believe in necessarily going to the press, but things have gone too far. I don't care if I'm kicked off as Olympic coach."

"They told us not to discuss Olympic selection policies but we simply don't have (all) our best skaters entered," she said.

speed skating officials, to reverse themselves on a plan to hold skate-offs to select the third starter for the 1,000 and 3,000-meter women's races and the 1,500-meter men's race.

She said the skating selection committee had voted 6-3 to hold the skate-offs, but reversed itself in a 7-4 vote after Krumm put pressure on four officials who had not voted.

In both cases, skaters who have been consistently better are not on the U.S. team because of a complicated selection process involving the U.S. speed skating committee and, according to Miss Holm — Krumm.

"Krumm should be the first person to want to have our best people skating," said Miss Holm, who won the 1,500-meter gold medal in the 1972 Olympic Games at Sapporo.

Miss Holm said Krumm also accused her of "psyching out."

St. Joe Outlasts Loy Norrix, 77-75

Gaunder's Gang In First Again

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

The St. Joseph Bears are smelling that sweet first-place air again today.

George Gaunder's gang regained the No. 1 spot in the Big Seven standings by outlasting Kalamazoo Loy Norrix 77-75 at the Bear gym Friday night, while Niles got credit for an "assist" with its 65-43 upset of previous leader Holland.

The Bears are now 7-1 with four league games left, while Holland drops to 7-2. St. Joe hosts the Dutch in its regular season finale Feb. 27.

"It's an added boost; now we just have to maintain it (lead)," commented Gaunder when informed of the Niles victory. "We can't become complacent because of it now though. Niles is really hot of late, knocking off Norrix and Holland in one week. And, of course, we play Niles on Tuesday."

The ability of center Henry Follman to play most of the second half although in foul trouble, and the Bears' favorite weapon, foul shooting, proved the keys in see-saw contest, which was tied 10 times.

Follman, who managed to stay in the game until three seconds left, swished 14 of his 18 points in the second half. Bear surge while also adding vital muscle underneath the boards against the brawny Knights, who dominated the offensive boards.

St. Joseph, which bent Norrix earlier, 71-66, thanks to foul shooting, turned the trick again Friday with a 17 for 22 effort (77 per cent) while being outscored in the field by four field goals (34-30). Follman, poked the right-on gunning with an eight-for-eight performance, including five-for-five the last period.

"Follman's staying in the game was definitely crucial," noted Gaunder. "The second and third shots were what kept Norrix going the whole game."

So we really needed Follman in the second half.

"But it was a fine team effort in the second half. Everyone made contributions in their own way."

Cory Benford sparked the Bears in scoring with 19 points while Dale Wright came up with 16. 10 in the third period when St. Joe made up a nine-point deficit. Dave Ziebart and Mike Collier both ended with nine while Mike Tinberg came in for Follman and canned three straight shots for six points, all in the second period.

Norrix, which also lost a 54-53 heartbreaker to Niles last Tuesday, got 23 points from Mike McElrath, 18 from Alan Moorhead and 14 from Berdell Whitfield, who also started frontliners, accounted for 33 points.

Rams Edge Gull Lake In Double Overtime

SOUTH HAVEN — Hobbled and short-handed South Haven, the state's No. 3 Class B squad, slipped past Gull Lake 36-34 in a double overtime Wolverine thriller here Friday night.

Coach M.T. White's unbeaten Rams extended their winning streak to 10 straight while having Mike Grimes hampered with a fractured thumb and William Gamble on the sidelines with the flu.

Grimes still managed to score 12 points for South Haven, which can wrap up the Wolverine championship with a victory at Three Rivers tonight.

The Rams are now 12-4 in the conference, and 15-9 overall, while second-place Three Rivers stands 6-3 in the league. The conference has a 16-game schedule.

Nate Goodwin and Rick Bus added 16 and 13 points, respectively, Friday night as South Haven made 25 of 55 field goals (45 per cent) and six of 10 free throws (60 per cent).

The tightly-played game saw the Rams lead 14-13 after the first quarter and 24-22 at halftime. There were deadlocks of 32-32 after three periods and 30-30 at the end of regulation play.

South Haven was down by four points with 40 seconds left in regulation play, but Grimes and Bus netted buckets to force overtime action.

Both teams had just two points in the first overtime, and a bucket by Goodwin and two free throws by Grimes led the Rams to victory in the second OT.

"Gull Lake was very patient the whole game," declared White. "I have to give them credit for controlling the momentum of the game pretty much. We're just happy we got away with a win."

Gull Lake, which had won six of its previous seven league games, got 13 points from Steve Sprague and 12 points

Buc Free Throws Beat BH Again

Grand Haven Drops Tigers Out Of First Place Tie

By PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

For the second time this season, Grand Haven showed Benton Harbor the importance of free throws.

The Bucs hit 17 of 21 charity tosses, including 14 of 18 in the fourth quarter, as they downed the Tigers 76-70 Friday night in a Lake Michigan Athletic conference battle at Benton Harbor's gym.

The loss drops the Tigers out of a tie for first place in the league. Benton Harbor is now 4-3 in conference action and 8-4 overall. Grand Haven, now 13-2 overall, stays tied with Traverse City for the league lead at 5-2.

In the initial clash between the two clubs, the Bucs hit 30 of 38 free throw attempts on route in a 22-14 victory.

"We've got to be lucky to just get a tie now," said Tiger head coach Earl McKee about his conference title chances.

Benton Harbor's head mentor indicated that one of the keys of the game was his club's inability to defend against Grand Haven's baseline men when the Tigers were in their half-court press. "I thought we were just sluggish covering up," he said.

"I think that if we would have covered up on the baseline people, the game would have speeded up to our tempo."

Most of the time, the Tiger guards would put good pressure on the Bucs' backcourt people. So they started lobbing the ball into 6-7 center, Paul Hospos, who would then feed off to either brother Mark or Dale Kalsbeek for the good percentage shot.

"We weren't cautious against the press," said Grand Haven head coach Al Schaffer. "We attacked it and went to the hoop, and that did it."

The only time the Tigers worked the press effectively was from the middle of the third quarter to the beginning of the fourth quarter, and it helped spark their comeback. Down by a 36-29 count at halftime, Benton Harbor stopped the baseline passes, and with Russell Steele using five for five from the floor, the Tigers cut the margin to 51-48 after three quarters. Steele ended the game as high scorer with 20 points.

After the Bucs made three free throws, Benton Harbor outscored its foe 10-2 to take a 59-56 lead with 5:23 left in the game. But it was the last lead the Tigers were to have, as the Bucs' notched five straight points to take a 61-59 lead with 3:32 remaining.

The Tigers were able to tie it up at 61 and 65 apiece, but Grand Haven kept canning its charity tosses to put the game out of reach.

"We were very poised down to the wire and I was pleased with that," Schaffer said. "We made some mistakes, but I don't know if we could play any better."

"We didn't play a bad game," McKee indicated. "We just needed to be more aggressive on defense."

McKee said that he wanted to use his half-court and his man-to-man defenses to speed up play. "I wanted to get the game moving and almost came close to doing it," he commented.

The Tigers had some trouble with Grand Haven's zone defense in the first half and shot only 37 per cent. But they forced the Bucs to change in the second half when they hit 61 per cent from the floor.

Besides Steele's 20 points, Ronnie Bowers had 14, Lew Lewis notched 12 and Steve McVitt had 10. Steele also led Moeller poured through an area season high 38 points but the Bulldogs pulled out a thrilling 81-79 win to clinch the Allegan-Ontario (A-O) conference league title.

Moeller, the area scoring leader going in at 29.1, was 13 of 28 free throws and 12 of 14 at the foul stripes. The scoring ace hit 17 points the last quarter to finish with his career-high total of 38. He also pulled down 18 rebounds.

James DeBoe swished 18 points for Covert. Rodney Barrior 17, (all in the last half) and Stark 14, Lyle Schut added 16 points for Pennville.

Covert, rated No. 10 (tie) in the latest Class D poll, hit 32 of 74 shots for 43 per cent and 17 of 28 free throws. Pennville, which was only three of 21 at the foul stripes in the opening period, was 28 of 76 for 37 per cent and 21 of 30 in foul shooting.

The Bulldogs, 14-2 overall, are now 5-1 in the league with only Hopkins left on its loop schedule. Pennville falls to 2-4 in the A-O.

Covert won the jayvee game 85-76.

Sheila Captures Third Olympic Medal

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Tatiana Averina of the Soviet Union won the women's 1,000-meter speed skating race today, and Sheila Young of Detroit became the first American ever to win three medals in a single Winter Olympics when she won the bronze.

Miss Averina, who had settled for bronze medals in both the 500 meters and 1,500 meters, took home the gold this time with an Olympic record of 1 minute 28.45 seconds, surpassing the mark of 1:31.40 set in 1972 by Monika Holzner of West Germany.

Leah Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., who had been weakened by a pre-Olympic bout with the flu and twice had failed to win a medal, clocked 1:28.57 for the silver. Miss Young, the winner of the gold in the 500 meters and the silver in the 1,500, got the bronze this time with a clocking of 1:29.14. Canada's Sylvia Burka was fourth.

Peter Schotting, the U.S.

men's speed-skating coach, said the 25-year-old Miss Young was hampered by her bid for a second gold because of an officials' decision to resurface the ice and because of her late start in the 1,000 meters, in the ninth of 14 pairings. She was slowed by sun-softened ice.

"You don't just press a computer button and have Sheila win the race, even though you folks might want it to be that way," Schotting told a post-race news conference.

"Sheila raced in the second grouping after the ice had been resurfaced. Because Leah had beaten her twice recently at this distance, I gave her (Leah) the choice of the first grouping.

"This is not an excuse, but the referee decided to resurface the ice after the first grouping. We know Innsbruck is not as experienced at ice making as Duesseldorf or Goteborg, for example."

Schotting explained the aim of the ice maker "is to fill in the ridges created by the first skaters, take off the frost which forms in order to make a perfectly smooth surface.

"They put too much water in the ridges from the first skaters and built it up too much. It definitely was slower for Sheila when she skated."

But he also noted: "We are not disappointed by her finish."

Miss Poulos was not completely satisfied with her performance. "I believe I could have done better in the last turn," she said. "I didn't lean into it enough."

"I was angry at the starter," she added. "He made us stand around for a while and I got cold—but it may have helped me because it psyched me up. I was more relaxed today."

Miss Averina's winning time, although nearly three seconds under the old Olympic record, was well off her world record time of 1:23.46.

Miss Poulos, 24, had been a close fourth Friday in the 500 meters. She skated in the fifth pair today, with Ludmila Titova of the Soviet Union, who was timed well behind at 1:30.06.

The third American starter, Peggy Crowe, 20, of St. Louis, was disqualified in the 13th pair. Racing against Ute Dix of East Germany, she failed to yield a lane in the mandatory lane change. "She failed to yield to the German girl on the outside of the crossover," said U.S. team manager Eugene Sandvig.

Miss Crowe was a controversial starter in the race. She had the fastest time in the fastest of two Olympic trials races in West Allis, Wis., in December, but had been beaten regularly before and since by Kim Kostun of St. Paul, Minn.

The U.S. Speed Skating Association at first voted for a skate-off between Miss Crowe and Miss Kostun for the third berth, but then reversed itself.

Dianne Holm, the U.S. women's coach, accused U.S. Olympic Committee President

Phil Krumm of influencing the decision and tampering with the team. Krumm denied it and said "you can't have trials after the Olympic trials."

Miss Holzner was surrounded by photographers and autograph hunters from Germany after the race, in which she did much better than expected. She has only been in full training for a few months following an injury.

"I am very satisfied and a little surprised at finishing fifth," said the 22-year-old bookbinder.

Miss Holm approached an Associated Press reporter during the morning and said: "I don't believe in necessarily going to the press, but things have gone too far. I don't care if I'm kicked off as Olympic coach."

"They told us not to discuss Olympic selection policies but we simply don't have (all) our best skaters entered," she said.

Miss Holm specifically accused Krumm of forcing U.S.

speed skating officials to reverse themselves on a plan to hold skate-offs to select the third starter for the 1,000 and 3,000-meter women's races and the 1,500-meter men's race.

She said the skating selection committee had voted 6-3 to hold the skate-offs, but reversed itself in a 7-6 vote after Krumm put pressure on four officials who had not voted.

In both cases, skaters who have been consistently better are not on the U.S. team because of a complicated selection process involving the U.S. speed skating committee and — according to Miss Holm — Krumm.

"Krumm should be the first person to want to have our best people skating," said Miss Holm, who won the 1,500-meter gold medal in the 1972 Olympic Games at Sapporo.

Miss Holm said Krumm also accused her of "psyching out"

Grand Haven Drops Tigers Out Of First Place Tie

Staff Sports Writer

For the second time this season, Grand Haven showed Benton Harbor the importance of free throws.

The Bucs hit 17 of 21 charity tosses, including 14 of 18 in the fourth quarter, as they downed the Tigers 75-70 Friday night in a Lake Michigan Athletic conference battle at Benton Harbor's gym.

The loss drops the Tigers out of a tie for first place in the league. Benton Harbor is now 4-3 in conference action and 9-6 overall. Grand Haven, now 13-2 overall, stays tied with Traverse City for the league lead at 5-2.

In the initial clash between the two clubs, the Bucs hit 30 of 39 free throw attempts en route to a 72-64 victory.

"We've got to be lucky to just get a tie now," said Tiger head coach Earl McKee about his conference title's chances.

Benton Harbor's head mentor indicated that one of the keys of the game was his club's inability to defend against Grand Haven's baseline men when the Tigers were in their half-court press. "I thought we were just sluggish covering up," he said.

a 36-29 count at halftime, Benton Harbor stopped the baseline passes, and with Russell Steele going five for five from the floor, the Tigers cut the margin to 51-49 after three quarters. Steele ended the game as high scorer with 20 points.

After the Bucs made three free throws, Benton Harbor outscored its foe 10-2 to take a 59-56 lead with 5:23 left in the game. But it was the last lead the Tigers were to have, as the Bucs notched five straight points to take a 61-59 lead with 3:32 remaining.

The Tigers were able to tie it up at 61 and 65 apiece, but Grand Haven kept canning its charity tosses to put the game out of reach.

"We were very poised down to the wire and I was pleased with that," Schaffer said. "We made some mistakes, but I don't know if we could play any better."

McKee said that he wanted to use his half-court and his man-to-man defenses to speed up play. "I wanted to get the game moving and almost came close to doing it," he commented.

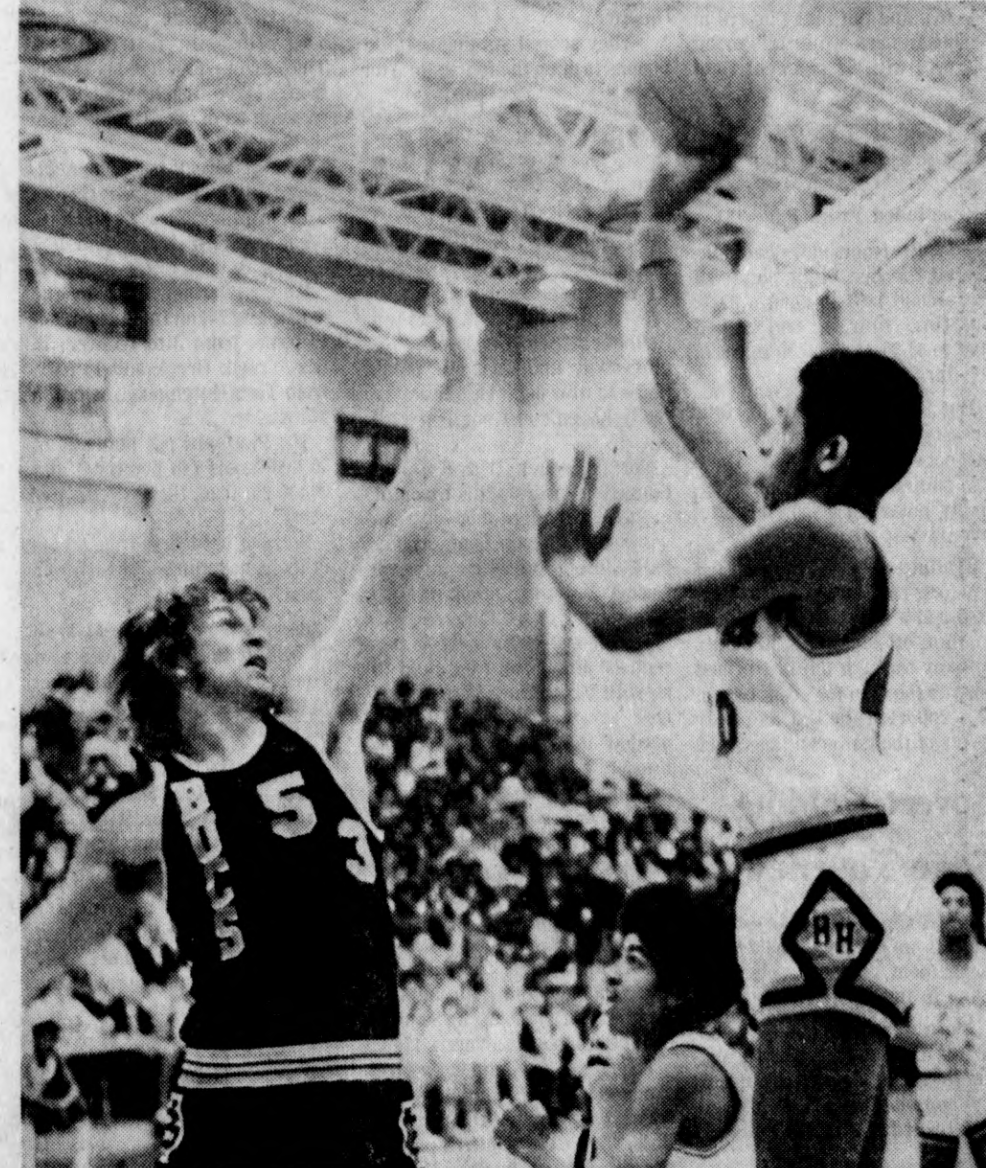

The Tigers had some trouble with Grand Haven's zone defense in the first half and shot only 37 per cent. But they forced the Bucs to change in the second half when they hit 61 per cent from the floor.

Moeller, the area scoring leader going in at 28.9, was 13 of 23 afield and 12 of 14 at the foul stripes. The scoring ace hit 17 points the last quarter to finish with his career-high total of 38. He also pulled down 19 rebounds.

James DeBoe swished 18 points for Covert. Rodney Barnes 17 (all in the last half) and Starks 14. Lyle Schut added 16 points for Fennville.

Covert, rated No. 10 (tie) in the latest Class D poll, hit 32 of 74 shots for 43 per cent and 17 of 28 free throws. Fennville, which was only three of 21 afield in the opening period, was 28 of 76 for 37 per cent and 23 of 30 in foul shooting.

Fennville had a 47-25 rebounding margin. The Bulldogs, 14-2 overall, are now 5-1 in the league with only Hopkins left on its loop schedule. Fennville falls to 2-4 in the A-O.

Covert won the jayvee game 85-76.

NCAA Orders Suspension Of Seven Spartan Players

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University must bar seven football players from competition or else face additional rule violations from the National Collegiate Athletic Association, MSU officials said Friday.

Athletic Council Chairman John Fuzak said if MSU does not rule, the seven players ineligible, the university would risk further NCAA penalties. The NCAA recently found MSU guilty of numerous football recruiting violations.

Fuzak said he will confer with each of the seven players next week. Among other things, Fuzak said he will tell them, "Michigan State is subject to additional penalties if we do not declare you ineligible."

Under NCAA rules, a school must suspend any player involved in a violation when his school is found guilty of breaking association rules. The suspension covers intercollegiate play and an NCAA official said the suspension can be permanent.

A special NCAA subcommittee may, however, give MSU permission to reinstate the players immediately or after a brief suspension.

Fuzak said the school could appeal a negative decision by the subcommittee to the NCAA Council, which meets in mid-April and August.

Fuzak and acting Athletic Director Jack Shingleton did not name the players, but another top MSU source said they were:

- Defensive back Joseph Hunt, 20, a Toledo, Ohio, junior.
- Tight end Michael Cobb, 19, a Youngstown, Ohio, junior.
- Tailback Ted Bell, 19, a Youngstown sophomore.
- Quarterback Edward Smith, 19, a Pittsburgh, Pa., sophomore.
- Middle guard Melvin Land, 19, a Campbell, Ohio, sophomore.
- Defensive tackle Larry Belcher, 19, a Newport News, Va., sophomore.
- Defensive end Jim Epeltis, 20, a McKeesport, Pa., junior.

Cobb, Belcher and Hunt are considered crucial Spartan players next fall, when MSU attempts to top its 7-4 record of last year. Their suspension would open gaping holes at their positions.

Bell was one of the most highly sought high school players in the country two years ago, but has been hobbled by injuries since joining MSU.

This fall will be the first season which the Spartans play under a three-year NCAA probation levied last month against the school. The team cannot take part in a bowl game or appear on television.

Football Coach Donny Stolz said he had not been told the seven players must be suspended and Fuzak said he has not yet told them.

"I've been so busy, I just haven't had the time," Fuzak said.

He said he would explain to the players why they were involved and what violation applies to them.

"I just want them to understand fully and that we're not playing games with them," Fuzak said.

Players may request a formal hearing by the university, but Fuzak said MSU is all but forced to declare the players ineligible anyway.

"If we don't declare them ineligible, they can't play without jeopardizing Michigan State even further," he said.

MSU officials say Hunt and Cobb have acknowledged they used a credit card belonging to an MSU booster that they found in the car of assistant coach Howard Weyers. The NCAA banned Weyers from recruiting for three years.

The school did not divulge which violations were linked to other players.

In all, MSU was found guilty by the NCAA of 34 violations or questionable practices. Those violations included Weyers driving two players to Cleveland for the Thanksgiving holiday, letting others use his car, and alleged special treatment for football players by an East Lansing travel agency.

MSU has denied the agency gave any special treatment to athletes, and said Weyers did not know he was breaking NCAA rules by letting athletes use or ride in his car.

Russian Icemen Beat U.S.

INNSBRUCK (AP) — The United States ice hockey team goes into Sunday's second round of Olympic competition against Czechoslovakia as the underdog.

But that is not a strange feeling for this young team, and if they are frisky as they were against the Russians, an upset could be in the offing.

The youngest team ever fielded by the United States, buoyed by cheers from a capacity crowd of 8,000 at the Olympic Ice Hall, staged an impressive performance before bowing to the rugged Soviets 6-2 in the first round of medal play Friday.

The Czechs, meanwhile, barely edged Finland 2-1 on the strength of two goals by Jiri Novak. In the other medal game Friday, West Germany defeated Poland 7-4. Each team in the six-nation medal round plays the other once, and the teams with the best records win medals.

The spirited U.S. squad skated hard and took the momentum away from the Russians in the second period, but the damage had already been done.

Referees Raimo Sepponen of Finland and Josef Kompalla of West Germany called two straight penalties on goalie Jim Warden midway through the first period.

"The first was a good call," said Warden, of Alhambra, Calif. "Boris Mikhailov likes to stand in front of the net. I know this from playing against him in the World Games last year. I tried to make him get the idea I didn't want him there. It's legal until you get caught."

That penalty was for slashing. "The second penalty was a bad call," Warden insisted. "The Russians skated through the crease. That's my area. He tripped over me and I got called."

Warden was called that time for holding.

Defenseman John Taft of Minneapolis fired in one goal past Soviet ace Vladislav Tretiak, and Steve Jensen of Crystal, Minn., got the second.

"We knew we would have to shoot high on Tretiak to beat him, but only Taft did that," Warden said. Taft's 30-footer, blasted waist-high past the Russian.

"Our defense played well," said U.S. Coach Bob Johnson. "That team (the Russians) can score on anyone. We cleared the puck pretty good, too."

Johnson admitted the Czechs are almost as good as the Russians but held out hope that the United States, in the running for a bronze medal, could match the silver-medal feat of the 1972 squad at Sapporo.

"We kept to our game plan and the score remained close," Johnson said. "We sent one man into the Russian zone and kept four back to defend when the Russians had the puck."

Despite the struggle they had against Finland, Czech trainer Jan Stalr boasted that his team expected no major challenge from the American collegians, whose average age is only 21.

"We can beat the Americans, always, at any time and any place," he said.

Six players scored for the powerful Soviet team, seeking its fourth straight Olympic title.

Some observers thought the Russians, made up of two clubs that beat five National Hockey League teams last month on a tour of North America, played as hard as they had to but no harder.

Art Berglund, manager of the U.S. team, said the Americans were happy. "They did as well as most of the NHL teams did when they played the combined Russian all-star team."

And while the Czechs may be tough, the U.S. Olympians beat the Czechs' leading club team, Kladno, in its U.S. tour last December.

In addition to the U.S.-Czechoslovakia game Sunday, Finland will play West Germany and the Soviet Union will meet Poland. The Russians should use the game as a workout, and the Finns are heavily favored over West Germany.

Taft's 30-foot shot past Tretiak was the first U.S. goal at 7:30 in the second period. At that time, the Soviets led 4-0.

With the score 6-1, forward Steve Jensen of Plymouth, Minn., got the second American goal from just left of the net at 17:37 of the third period. He had assisting passes from Bob Dobek and Doug Ross, both of Detroit.

Warden was extremely impressive in stopping 66 Soviet shots. But six different Russians, executing the Soviet passing game to perfection, scored as the Russians got off an incredible 66 shots. The Russians ran up a 3-0 lead after the first period and increased it to 4-0 before Taft scored for the U.S. team.

"I was nervous," admitted Warden. "I knew I was going to have to play a great game to win. I feel I played a good game, but it wasn't enough."

Water Peggy Crowe of St. Louis, who is a controversial starter over Kim Kostrom of St. Paul, Minn., in the 1,000-meter race.

Krumm was not immediately available for comment.

Miss Holm said the team is "filled with dissension" over the Olympic committee's "tampering with our team and influencing selection of starters."

"Everyone knows some of our best skaters weren't being allowed to start," she said. The men's team squabble centered around the selection of Charles Gilmore of Anaheim, Calif., instead of Eric Heiden of Madison, Wis., in the 1,500 meters.

Miss Holm said that, in the trials at West Allis, Gilmore's time was four-hundredths of a second faster than Heiden's in the faster of two races and that Miss Crowe was four-tenths of a second faster than Miss Kostrom in the faster of two races.

The speed-skating committee decided that since Miss Kostrom and Heiden had been consistently better than Miss Crowe and Gilmore, skate-offs would be held in Europe to determine the third U.S. starters in their races.

Nine U.S. speed skating officials, including Krumm — who also is on that committee — voted 8-3 to hold the skate-offs, Miss Holm said. Then, she added, Krumm disputed the vote because of an Olympic rule which says all 13 members of the selection committee must vote on proposed changes in the selection process.

She charged that Krumm "informed the other four members and told them to vote the other way."

"These four members weren't at our speed skating convention in May, they didn't attend the trials, they don't know the skaters," Miss Holm said.

But they voted against the change and swung the vote 7-6 against the skate-off proposal, leaving Miss Crowe and Gilmore as the third-spot members in their events.

Father Feels Exhilaration Of Sheila's Big Triumph

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Clair Young is not unlike many American fathers. From his child's infancy, he dreamed of the sibling turning into a world class athlete.

But the long and tortuous road to the lonely peak of athletics is reached by few. Sheila Young has made it — to the pinnacle of the Winter Olympic Games — and she and her father Clair are among the few who understand the indescribable exhilaration of taking a dream and turning it to reality.

Now Miss Young, 25, who has worked as such odd jobs as being a waitress to further her athletic career, admits she did it without socks.

"I like to wiggle my toes. It gives me more rapport with my skates," she said after winning the Olympics' 500-meter speed skating race in record time.

The exhilaration of victory was Sheila's, and it was Clair's, who remembered 23 years ago when he bought his daughter's first pair of skates. There had been great moments before, the kind few experience. Few athletes — women or men — are world champions in two sports. Sheila has been world champion in cycling as well as speed skating.

But there is little that can match what happened here Friday — an Olympic gold medal.

"This is my life," said Clair Young, who used to speed skate himself. "And when she won the gold medal, there were tears in my eyes."

Miss Young streaked around the glazed ice stadium track in 42.78 seconds, breaking Anne Henning's Olympic record and capturing her second medal in two days. She finished second to Russia's Galina Stepanovskaya in the 1,000 meters Thursday.

Ripley Sets Vault Mark

Twins Appoint Harry Warner

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins announced Thursday the appointment of Harry Warner as manager of the team's farm club at Wisconsin Rapids in the Midwest League.

Warner has been managing in the Twins' system since 1960. Last year, he led Reno to the California League championship.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Athletes from the world over captured most of the events, but it took a couple of powerful home-grown products to earn the headlines at the 17th Los Angeles Times Indoor Games track meet.

And no one looks more like the All-American boy than Dan Ripley, who established a world record of 18 feet 2 1/4 inches in the pole vault Friday night, despite not feeling all that good.

"I really wasn't psyched tonight, but I was very relaxed and able to concentrate on my jumping," said the 22-year-old, who has now set world amateur indoor marks three times.

Ripley hit the world mark on his first try and that brought 15,156 fans at the Forum to their feet for almost the first time after a dozen non-Americans had captured events.

The meet started when France's Guy Druet won the 70-yard high hurdles in 7.0 and continued when Jamaican sprinter Don Quarrie won the 60 in 6.1.

One American victor was Mac Wilkins, the massive discus thrower from Oregon.

It's impossible to throw the discus indoors, so Wilkins has switched to the shotput for training purposes and turned a good group with a lifetime best 66-4 1/2.

"Everything just seems to be clicking for me right now, but I don't think I'll try to double at Montreal unless I can get around 70 feet in the shot," said the 6-foot-4, 235-pound Wilkins. He has a lifetime best in the discus of 210-1 and appears a cinch to make the U.S. Olympic team in that event.

Ripley, who broke his own world mark of 18-1 1/4, rebounded from disappointment last week.

In a meet at Albuquerque, Ripley attempted what he thought was 18-1 1/2, which would have been a new record. He made it, but the bar was remeasured and found to be only 18-1 — no record.

"I didn't know the bar was at 18-2 1/4 tonight, but it didn't make much difference," he said. Ripley cleared the height by at least three or four inches. Tom Woods and Dwight Stokes battled until past midnight in a thrilling high jump that finally was settled when Woods cleared 7-2, and Stokes missed on a jumpoff. Both athletes failed to clear a world record 7-4 after making 7-4 and a jumpoff was necessary to determine the winner. As the bar was raised and lowered, Woods made the 7-2 vault and Stokes missed.

The foreign flavor continued most of the evening with athletes from Tahiti, Barbados, Ireland, South Africa and Trinidad capturing events. The final race of the night went to Rod Dixon of New Zealand when he ran 4:50.2 to win a stirring mile run.

Now Miss Young, 25, who has worked as such odd jobs as being a waitress to further her athletic career, admits she did it without socks.

"I like to wiggle my toes. It gives me more rapport with my skates," she said after winning the Olympics' 500-meter speed skating race in record time.

The exhilaration of victory was Sheila's, and it was Clair's, who remembered 23 years ago when he bought his daughter's first pair of skates. There had been great moments before, the kind few experience. Few athletes — women or men — are world champions in two sports. Sheila has been world champion in cycling as well as speed skating.

But there is little that can match what happened here Friday — an Olympic gold medal.

"This is my life," said Clair Young, who used to speed skate himself. "And when she won the gold medal, there were tears in my eyes."

Miss Young streaked around the glazed ice stadium track in 42.76 seconds, breaking Anne Henning's Olympic record and capturing her second medal in two days. She finished second to Russia's Galina Stepankaya in the 1,500 meters Thursday.

Tallon Ends Hawk Losing Streak

From Associated Press
Chicago defenseman Dale Tallon was just hanging around his own half of the ice with nothing to do once he got rid of the puck.

"I kinda dumped it out and Ivan Boldirev deflected it and picked it up."

Tallon decided to head up ice to see what Boldirev was going to do with it.

"I saw Ivan burst in all alone and I thought I'd skate up to the blue line and see what was happening."

Nothing much was happening, but something was about to.

"No one was coming with me, so I yelled at Boldirev, who gave me a perfect backhand pass and I put it in the net. I was surprised that none of the players were around me for the breakaway."

Tallon's sixth goal of the season with 51 seconds remaining gave the Black

Hawks a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames Friday night. Tallon came in alone on goalie Dan Bouchard after taking Boldirev's return pass and beat him from in close to snap Chicago's four-game losing streak and give them a 10-point lead in the Smythe Division over the second-place Vancouver Canucks, who lost 6-3 to the St. Louis Blues.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Red Wings nipped the New York Islanders 4-3 and the Montreal Canadiens trounced the California Golden Seals 7-1.

Derek Sanderson and Bob Plager scored less than two minutes apart in the final period as St. Louis ended a seven-game winless string.

Steve Shutt and Larry Robinson scored two goals apiece and Guy Lafleur, Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Lemaire also tallied for Montreal.

Nick Libett and Walt McKechnie scored 37 seconds apart in the third period to snap a 2-2 tie and sharp goaltending by Doug Grant in a surprise start helped give the Red Wings their win.

The game was a makeup of a December contest that was postponed due to snow.

A slight back injury suffered by Jim Rutherford on Wednesday against Minnesota thrust Grant into the starting goalie job. Against the Islanders, Grant, called up from Detroit's New Haven farm club Jan. 24, turned away 26 of 23 shots to pick up his first victory of the season and first since Dec. 1974.

It was Detroit's sixth consecutive game without a loss (4-0-2) and moved the Wings within four points of third place Pittsburgh in the Norris Division. The Islanders had a 10-game unbeaten string snapped.

Libett got his 10th goal at 1:30 of the final period when he crashed into Islanders goalie Billy Smith, who made a save on Libett's initial shot and carried the puck into the net.

McKechnie, Detroit's leading scorer, got his score in the opening period and then then Libett scored the winner on a 35-foot drive which beat the still-shaken Smith at 2:17 of the third period.

New York, which got first period goals from Clark Gillies and Ed Westfall, closed the gap on a goal by Bob Nystrom at 13:01 of the third period.

Couch Al Arbour was bitter after the loss, saying, "We were rocked by (Ron) Wickes, the referee. (Bryan) Trottier scored a legit goal for us in the middle period on a rebound. Wickes loses sight of the puck and blows his whistle. That kills the play. He said he thought the puck was smothered by the goalie. It wasn't even close. If we got that goal it's a whole new game."

Doug Grant, in Detroit net for first time in a year, "I'm awfully tired, but I feel great. I was really surprised. I didn't find out I was going to start until just before everybody steps on the ice."

Couch Alex Delvecchio, "We didn't know who we were going to use in the nets until then. Jim Rutherford was supposed to work but his back acted up on him in our warm-ups. Grant played well; he made a lot of big saves. He's here to play, but we're taking no chances. We don't know how Rutherford will be tomorrow. We are calling goalie Terry Richardson up from our farm club in Springfield, Mass. in the American Hockey League in an emergency measure. The coach up there says he's been playing well. Grant handled the game well and the club played tighter hockey behind him. We're only four points behind Pittsburgh now and we're playing hot."

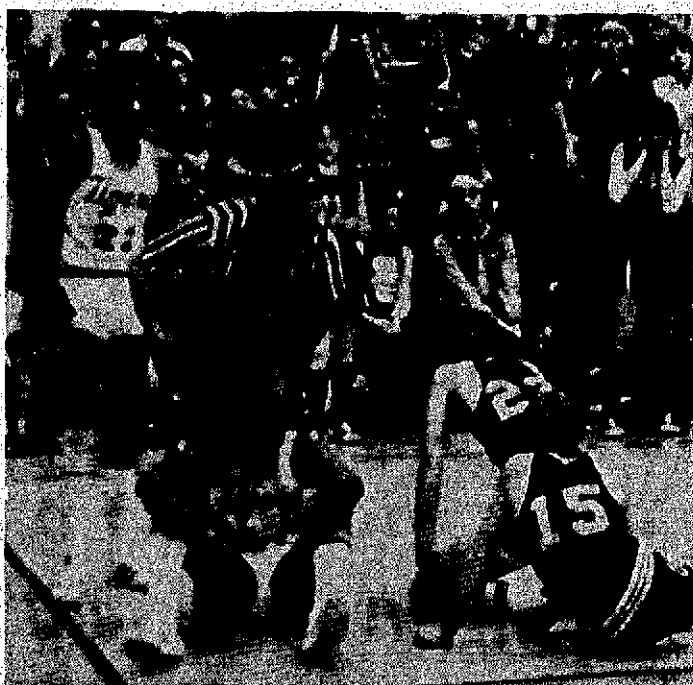

In WHA action the Edmonton Oilers were so tired they almost put Cincinnati goalie Paul Hoganson to sleep Friday night.

"I never had a night when the other team took only 14 shots," Hoganson said after recording his fourth shutout as the Stingers felled to a 7-0 World Hockey Association triumph and ended a five-game losing streak. "There were almost five minutes there I almost fell asleep."

The victory moved Cincinnati back into second place ahead of the Cleveland in the East Division. Jacques Lacosse had two goals and John Hughes got assists to lead the Stingers. Claude Larose slammed in his 25th goal of the season to open a four-goal second period for Cincinnati while Dave Inkpen, Dennis Sobchuk, Pierre Guite, and Bernie McNeil got the other Cincinnati goal.

In other WHA action, the Winnipeg Jets edged the Toronto Toros 7-6 and the Houston Aeros nipped the Indianapolis Racers 4-3. Winnipeg blew leads of 3-0 and 6-4 and then edged Toronto on Mike Ford's 10th goal of the season with 53 seconds left in the third period.

Andre Hincos scored the tiebreaking goal 18 seconds into the third period.

DOWN FOR THE COUNT: The referee checks with Blair Smircina (23) of Grand Haven to see if he is all right after some rough action in the game played Friday night at Benton Harbor. ## Gobles Snaps Nine-Game Loss String With Tense 52-51 Victory At Lawton

LAWTON — Gobles ended its nine-game losing streak Friday night the hard way, by winning on the road.

The Tigers, bunched by a 35-point second half, squeaked by Lawton 52-51 here in a Southwest Athletic conference basketball game.

The win gives Gobles a 2-7 league mark and a 4-10 season record. The Blue Devils slip to 4-6 in the SAC and 6-9 overall.

Lawton started off the game like gangbusters and led 31-17 at the intermission. "We started off in a full-court press in the first quarter and changed to a half-court," said Blue Devils' coach Bruce Bendix. "Their shooting was bad in the first half."

Even though Gobles took the offensive in the second half, Lawton held a 47-40 lead with 2:35 left in the game. But the Tigers outscored their foes 12-4 from then on to ice the contest. Bryan Clement of Gobles led all scorers with 14 points. Teammates in double figures included Jeff Price with 12 and Kendall Smith notched 10.

John Lepley led Lawton with 11 points and Kevin Durkin 10.

The Blue Devils made 17 of 43 floor attempts for 40 per cent while the Tigers canned 21 of 37 shots for 57 per cent. The rebounding edge went to Lawton by a 43-35 count. Gobles tough defense helped force the Blue Devils into 33 turnovers while the Tigers made 18.

ACC's Cage Record 70-8

By The Associated Press

Think the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams have been tough on each other this year? Look at what they've been doing to everyone else.

The ACC teams, who have knocked each other around with little regard to national or conference ranking, have a stunning, won-lost record against outside opposition.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked North Carolina State improved that record to a dazzling 70-8 with victories Friday night. The Tar Heels beat Georgia Tech 79-74 and the Wolfpack routed Furman 102-78 in the annual North-South doubleheader at Charlotte.

"I enjoyed the game, but it probably wasn't very exciting for the fans," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan, indicating relief from the tension of the mad ACC race.

Kenny Carr, scored North Carolina State's first 18 points and wound up with 20 in the lopsided contest. "He pushed himself and played real hard," Sloan said. Phil Ford scored 20 points and North Carolina overcame the loss of center Mitch Kupchak with an eye injury to beat Georgia Tech.

"I was pleased by our performance and the way our team hung on to win," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "This was the kind of game you need to win. Maybe we weren't ready for Tech but that was my fault."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas was upset by Pepperdine 83-81, and No. 15 Princeton whipped Columbia 88-83.

Carr, a 6-foot-7 sophomore who led the ACC with a 29-point scoring average before the game, equaled that figure in the first half against Furman, hitting 13 of 18 shots. Most were layups or short jumpers as he hit eight times in less than eight minutes for a 16-10 Wolfpack lead over the Southern Conference team.

Carr finished with 18 of 24 shots from the field, 8 of 13 from the foul line and 20 rebounds on his team, 16-3, hit the century mark for the eighth time this season.

Kupchak, North Carolina's top rebounder and a 17.9 points-per-game scorer, was struck in his left eye in the fifth minute against Georgia Tech and never returned. He complained of double vision and was taken to a hospital for examination.

Without Kupchak to contend with, Georgia Tech, 9-11, ran up an early 24-10 lead. After North Carolina battled back with 18 straight points, the teams were tied at the half at 42. North Carolina took the lead for good at 65-63, then resorted to its four-corner spread offense over the last five minutes to stay in front.

Ollie Matson, Jr., hit a jump shot with five seconds left to give Pepperdine a shocking upset over previously unbeaten Nevada-Las Vegas. It was the first loss in 23 games this season for Jerry Tarkanian's team, which had swamped Pepperdine 118-101 in their last meeting. Barnes Hauptfuhrer scored 18 points in lead Princeton past Columbia and host the Tigers' Ivy League record to 6-0.

Allegan Threesome Upstages Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Allegan had three men score in double figures as the Tigers downed Paw Paw 70-58 in a Wolverine conference basketball game played here Friday night.

Dave Hodge led the Allegan scoring parade with 22 points. John Huffman added 18 and Brent Cook had 16 for the Tigers, now 8-4 in conference action and 10-5 overall.

Kiri LaPine was the only Redskin to hit double digits, scoring 13 points. Paw Paw still finds itself in the cellar of the league with a 2-10 mark. The Redskins are 4-11 overall.

Shumate Stars In Buffalo Debut

From Associated Press

John Shumate was just getting used to National Basketball Association play. Now, he's got to get used to NBA wheeling and dealing.

A member of the Phoenix Suns last weekend, Shumate suddenly is playing for the Buffalo Braves — and playing quite well, judging by his first appearance.

"It's going to take a couple of games for me to get adjusted to a new offense," said the former Notre Dame All-American after helping the Braves beat the Milwaukee Bucks 109-104 Friday night. "I know I better get in better shape. I'm playing with a bunch of jackrabbits."

Shumate, who scored 16 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and handed out 10 assists in 38 minutes, was acquired last Sunday by the Braves for Gar Heard and a second-round draft choice.

Bob McAdoo scored 32 points to lead the Buffalo offense and Jim McMillan had 27 as the Braves put down a fourth-quarter Milwaukee rally.

In other NBA games, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Philadelphia 76ers 82-67; the Chicago Bulls whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 112-106; the New Orleans Jazz stopped the Kansas City Kings 108-101; the Phoenix Suns whipped the Golden State Warriors 118-111 and the Portland Trail Blazers whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 106-100. In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers whipped the Virginia Squires 118-113, and the Denver Nuggets defeated the Spirits of St. Louis 123-100.

Cards Win At Martin

MARTIN — Bloomingdale kept alive its Southwest Athletic Conference title hopes with an easy 44-41 win over Martin here Friday night.

The Cards carved a 10-5 lead after the opening period and then increased their margin every quarter.

Bloomingdale is now 6-2 in league play and trails Marcellus and Decatur, both 8-1. Martin is 2-8 in the SAC.

Rod Adair hit 14 points for the Cards, eight in the third period, while Jeff Melvin delivered 12. Robert Vandenberg sank 12. Ken Vandenberg 11 and Chris Kelsey 10 for the looser.

The Cards hit 30 of 69 shots afield for 44 per cent and four of six free throws. Martin was 10 of 41 for 24 per cent and six of 13.

Bloomingdale is now 6-2 overall and Martin 2-12.

The Cardinals won the junior varsity game.

A member of the Phoenix Suns last weekend, Shumate suddenly is playing for the Buffalo Braves — and playing quite well, judging by his first appearance.

"It's going to take a couple of games for me to get adjusted to a new offense," said the former Notre Dame All-American after helping the Braves beat the Milwaukee Bucks 109-104 Friday night. "I know I better get in better shape. I'm playing with a bunch of jackrabbits."

Shumate, who scored 16

minutes, was acquired last Sunday by the Braves for Gar Heard and a second-round draft choice.

Bob McAdoo scored 32 points to lead the Buffalo offense and Jim McMillian had 27 as the Braves put down a fourth-quarter Milwaukee rally.

In the other NBA games, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Philadelphia 76ers 92-87; the Chicago Bulls whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 112-106; the New Orleans Jazz stopped the Kansas City Kings 108-101; the Phoenix Suns whipped the Golden State Warriors 118-111 and the Portland Trail Blazers whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 109-100. In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers whipped the Virginia Squires 118-113 and the Denver Nuggets defeated the Spirits of St. Louis 123-109.

Cards Win At Martin

MARTIN — Bloomingdale kept alive its Southwestern Athletic Conference title hopes with an easy 64-44 win over Martin here Friday night.

The Cards carved a 10-5 lead after the opening period and then increased their margin every quarter.

Bloomingdale is now 6-2 in league play and trails Marcellus and Decatur, both 8-1. Martin is 2-8 in the SAC.

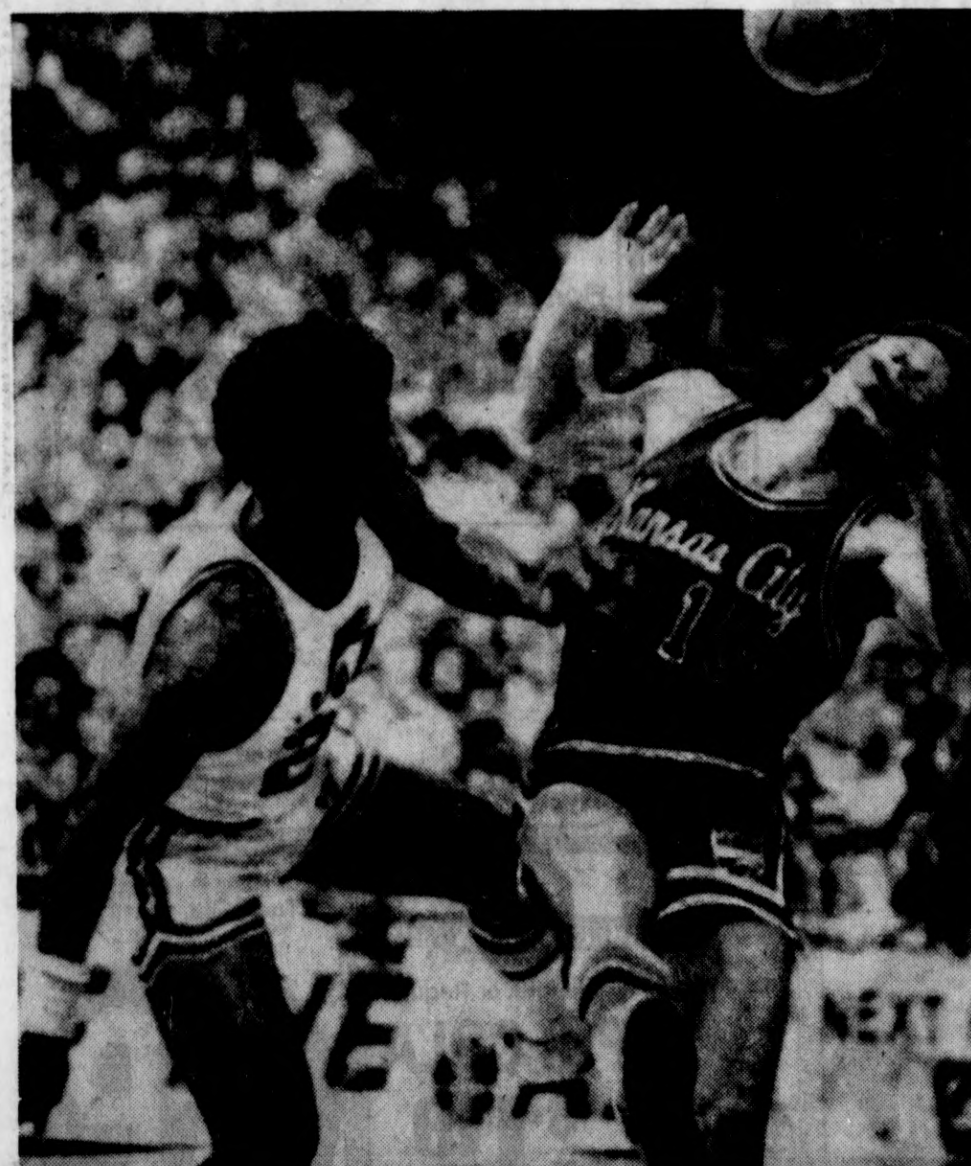

Rod Adair hit 14 points for the Cards, eight in the third period, while Jeff Melvin delivered 12. Robert Vandenberg sank 12. Ken Vandenberg 11 and Chris Kelsey 10 for the losers.

The Cards hit 30 of 69 shots afield for 44 per cent and four of six free throws. Martin was 19 of 64 for 30 per cent and six of 13.

Bloomingdale is now 6-9 overall and Martin 2-12. The Cardinals won the junior varsity game.

Gobles Snaps Nine-Game Loss String With Tense 52-51 Victory At Lawton

LAWTON — Gobles ended its nine-game losing streak Friday the hard way...by winning on the road.

The Tigers, buoyed by a 35-points second half, squeaked by Lawton 52-51 here in a Southwestern Athletic conference basketball game.

The win gives Gobles a 2-7 league mark and a 4-10 season record. The Blue Devils slip to 4-6 in the SAC and 6-9 overall.

Lawton started off the game like gangbusters and led 31-17 at the intermission. "We started off in a full-court press in the first quarter and changed to a half-court," said Blue Devils' coach Bruce Bendix. "Their shooting was bad in the first half."

Plays Fired-Up Buckeyes Tonight MSU Facing Tough Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gus Ganakas' one-two team, Craig Taylor and Larry Bolden. Now they have to be Fred Taylor.

The dean of Big Ten coaches is quitting after 18 years on the Ohio State job.

Taylor announced his decision to his squad after practice Thursday, a move that's sure to fire up his players for the Big Ten rematch with Ganakas' Michigan State squad Saturday night.

"I just hope the players play well the rest of the way," said the Ohio State mentor shortly after his move.

Balden, a 6-foot guard, probably won't play against the Spartans in the Big Ten game. The junior, the team's No. 1 scorer at 18 points, was hospitalized until Wednesday with a virus.

Taylor, 8-10 center, is under par, with back spasms. The big junior ranks as the second-highest scorer for the Buckeyes with a 17.3-point average.

Ganakas, after the Spartans

gave up 32 points to Taylor in a 92-82 earlier conquest, called him "the most proficient scorer in the league."

So instead of Taylor, Michigan State likely will see Rick Smith, a seldom-tested 8-8 freshman, in the pivot. And Mark Bayless and Jud Wood, a pair of sophomores, will team as the regular guards.

Still, Ganakas fears Ohio State, if only because his players might be looking ahead to a game at top-ranked Indiana Monday night.

"I always figure playing Ohio State anywhere is a tough task," said Ganakas, "and to play them in Columbus is really tough."

Individually, Michigan State is the brightest team in the conference. The Spartans, third in the Big Ten at 5-4 behind Indiana's 9-0 and Michigan's 8-2, have three leaders.

Terry Furlow, seeking a second straight scoring title, leads that department with 32.4

points, more than six points ahead of runnerup, Mike Thompson of Minnesota.

Furlow also leads free throw accuracy with 88.9 per cent. Greg Kulser, a 6-8 freshman forward for the Spartans, is the Big Ten's No. 1 rebounder with an average of 12.1.

Ohio State is spending its first week out of 10th place. The Buckeyes, 2-7 in the league, are ninth. They are 6-11 overall. Michigan State is 10-8 for all games.

Nicklaus, in deep trouble before his dramatic 2-3 finish at La Quinta for a 72, was at 211. He was tied with Casper, who had a 74. Dwight Nevil, 73, and obscure Dave Newquist, 87.

Rik Massengale shot a 71 in the rain and cold and wind and was two shots back at 212. The group at 213 included defending champion Johnny Miller, 73; Mason Rudolph, 71; and John Mahaffey, who went over par for the first time this year with a 73.

Arnold Palmer, the 46-year-old, five-time winner of this event who shot a 94 Thursday, hit one shot out of bounds on his way to a 76 that left him four strokes back at 214. Shortly after the completion of his round, Palmer was informed of the death of his father in La-Trobe, Pa.

Nicklaus Counting On 'Tactical' Edge

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Buddy Allin still has the lead, but Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper have a tactical advantage going into the windup rounds of the $180,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"Yes, I have to admit it's a little bit of an advantage," Nicklaus said after he salvaged a round of par with a spectacular eagle-birdie finish Friday in the third round of this five-day, 90-hole, four-course tournament.

"Even if it isn't the easiest of the four courses, playing consecutive rounds on the same course has to be a help," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus and the veteran Casper, one stroke back of Allin, play their next two rounds at Indian Wells, the shortest and easiest of the four par 72 desert courses used in this unique event. Allin, on the other hand, must play today's fourth round at La Quinta, probably the toughest of the four.

All players have one round each at Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta and Eldorado before the field is cut. All survivors then play the final fifth round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Allin, a skinny, 135-pound Vietnam veteran, had to birdie his final two holes at Eldorado to regain a one-stroke lead with a wildly-erratic 75 that included five birdies, three bogeys, a double-bogey and a triple-bogey seven.

Allin, who has led or shared the lead all the way in the longest tournament on the schedule, had a 54-hole total of 210, 10-under-par.

Michigan Tech Opens Up Five-Point Hockey Lead

Michigan Tech snatched victory from near certain defeat and opened up a five-point bulge in the once top heavy Western Collegiate Hockey Association race.

Tech scored three times in the final two minutes to defeat Michigan 4-4 Friday night for its ninth victory in 10 games while second-place Minnesota slipped back with a 4-2 loss on its home ice to Michigan State.

In other games, North Dakota rolled over Minnesota-Duluth 8-2 and Denver slipped Notre Dame 3-2 to create a three-way tie for seventh place with the UND, Denver and Duluth knot-led up at 8-14. One of the trio, perhaps two, will not be in the playoffs.

Wisconsin, which has been buried in last place most of the season, climbed to within three points of the seventh-place teams with a 4-3 overtime victory over Colorado College.

Mike Zuke, Warren Young and Dave Johnson scored in Tech's comeback victory. Zuke scored twice for the Huskies, who are now 17-6 in league play.

All-America Tom Ross shook loose for a breakaway goal midway through the final period to give Michigan State a 3-1 lead enroute to its victory at Minnesota. The two teams combined for only 43 shots on goal in the game.

Freshman defenseman Rob Mihulka slammed in the go-ahead goal early in the second period to ignite North Dakota's romp.

Bob Grainger's 40-foot slap shot hosted Denver to its victory and Murray Johnson scored on a breakaway in overtime to give Wisconsin its win at Colorado College.

Johnson scored the game-winner on a pass from Les Grauer, who had given Wisconsin an early 2-0 lead on a pair of goals.

Saginaw Maintains IHL Lead; K-Wings Lose To Port Huron

Center Marcel Comeau and wingman Dave Westner scored three goals apiece and newly acquired center Wayne Zuk picked a goal and an assist as the Saginaw Gears pounded the Columbus Owls, 8-4, Friday in the International Hockey League.

Saginaw is now 26-17-7 for first place in the North Division. Columbus is 18-25-8 for last place in the South.

In other IHL action, Flint's right-winger Bob Law scored three goals as the Generals defeated the Muskegon Mohawks, 5-2.

Flint's record is 22-20-10 for fourth place in the North. Muskegon is 23-20-9 for third place in the North.

Meanwhile, the Port Huron Flags jumped off to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by right-wing Len Chalmers and center Len Fontaine, and went on to defeat the Kalamazoo Wings.

Port Huron is now 26-18-7 for second place in the North. Kalamazoo is 17-27-7 for fifth place in the North.

In Toledo, Dave Johnson and Tom Sundberg each scored two goals as Toledo defeated Port Wayne 8-4. The triumph snapped a 10-game Toledo losing streak and improved the Goldiggers' South Division record to 16-25-13.

The Komets, led by Terry McKeough with a pair of goals, suffered their 24th loss against 18 victories and 11 ties.

Odom Top Player

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Sz Odono, who returned 42 kickoffs for 1,034 yards last season, has been named the Green Bay Packers' special teams player of the year.

Odom was selected by the coaches, who announced various awards after having graded each player assigned to special teams.

Center Larry McCarren was cited for the "play of the year," a tackle which jarred the ball loose from Dallas' punt returner Golden Richards Oct. 19. Steve Luke recovered the fumble at the Dallas 31 yard line, setting up the go-ahead touchdown in a 19-17 Green Bay upset.

Morgan, Johnson Pace Bangor's Runaway Win

GALESBURG — Bangor outscored Galesburg-Augusta 40-23 in the second half to run to a 66-42 win here Friday night.

The Vikings only led 20-18 at the half but then started to move and get their game together.

Bangor, now 10-5 overall, had Skyler Morgan and Carl Johnson both with 16 points to pace the attack.

The Vikings made 23 of 58 shots for 40 per cent and 14 of 23 free throws. Galesburg was 19 of 70 for 27 per cent and four of seven in free throws.

Bangor held a 33-31 rebound edge with Johnson getting 12

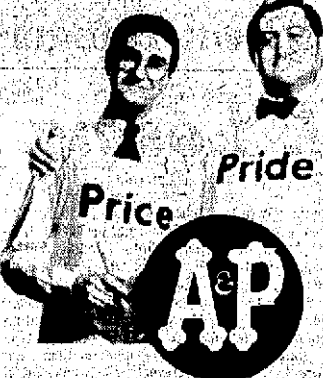

caroms. The Vikings made 25 turnovers, the hosts 18.

Galesburg falls to 2-13 with the defeat.

The Viking Jayvees upped their season's mark to 14-1 with a preliminary victory.

Plays Fired-Up Buckeyes Tonight MSU Facing Tough Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gus Ganakas' one-two fears about Ohio State were Craig Taylor and Larry Bolden. Now they have to be Fred Taylor.

The dean of Big Ten coaches is quitting after 18 years on the Ohio State job.

Taylor announced his decision to his squad after practice Thursday, a move that's sure to fire up his players for the Big Ten rematch with Ganakas' Michigan State squad Saturday night.

"I just hope the players play well the rest of the way," said the Ohio State mentor shortly after his move.

Bolden, a 6-foot guard, probably won't play against the Spartans in the Big Ten game. The junior, the team's No. 1 scorer at 18 points, was hospitalized until Wednesday with a virus.

Taylor, 6-10 center, is under par with back spasms. The second-highest scorer for the Buckeyes with a 17.2-point average.

Ganakas, after the Spartans

gave up 32 points to Taylor in a 92-82 earlier conquest, called him "the most proficient scorer in the league."

So instead of Taylor, Michigan State likely will see Rick Smith, a seldom-tested 6-6 freshman, in the pivot. And Mark Bayless and Jud Wood, a pair of sophomores, will team as the regular guards.

Still, Ganakas fears Ohio State, if only because his players might be looking ahead to a game at top-ranked Indiana

Monday night.

"I always figure playing Ohio State anywhere is a tough task," said Ganakas. "and to play them in Columbus is really tough."

Individually, Michigan State is the brightest team in the conference. The Spartans, third in the Big Ten at 5-4 behind Indiana's 9-0 and Michigan's 8-2, have three leaders.

Terry Furlow, seeking a second straight scoring title, leads that department with 32.4

points, more than six points ahead of runnerup Mike Thompson of Minnesota.

Furlow also leads free throw accuracy with 89.9 per cent. Greg Kelsner, a 6-8 freshman forward for the Spartans, is the Big Ten's No. 1 rebounder with an average of 12.1.

Ohio State is spending its first week out of 10th place. The Buckeyes, 2-7 in the league, are ninth. They are 6-11 overall. Michigan State is 10-9 for all games.

Nicklaus Counting On 'Tactical' Edge

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Buddy Allin still has the lead, but Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper have a tactical advantage going into the windup rounds of the $180,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"Yes, I have to admit it's a little bit of an advantage," Nicklaus said after he salvaged a round of par with a spectacular eagle-birdie finish Friday in the third round of this five-day, 90-hole, four-course tournament.

"Even if it isn't the easiest of the four courses, playing twonecutive rounds on the same course has to be a help," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus and the veteran Casper, one stroke back of Allin, play their next two rounds at Indian Wells, the shortest and easiest of the four par 72 desert courses used in this unique event. Allin, on the other hand, must play today's fourth round at La Quinta, probably the toughest of the four.

All players have one round each at Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta and Eldorado before the field is cut. All survivors then play the final fifth round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Allin, a skinny, 135-pound Vietnam veteran, had to birdie his final two holes at Eldorado to retain a one-stroke lead with a wildly-erratic 75 that included five birdies, three bogeys, a double-bogey and a triple-bogey seven.

Allin, who has led or shared the lead all the way in the longest tournament on the schedule, had a 54-hole total of 210, 10-under-par.

Nicklaus, in deep trouble before his dramatic 2-3 finish at La Quinta for a 72, was at 211. He was tied with Casper, who had a 74. Dwight Nevil, 73, and obscure Dave Newquist, 67.

Rik Massengale shot a 71 in the rain and cold and wind and was two shots back at 212. The group at 213 included defending champion Johnny Miller, 73, Mason Rudolph, 71, and John Mahaffey, who went over par for the first time this year with a 73.

Arnold Palmer, the 46-year-old, five-time winner of this event who shot a 64 Thursday, hit one shot out of bounds on his way to a 76 that left him four strokes back at 214. Shortly after the completion of his round, Palmer was informed of the death of his father in La-trobe, Pa.

Michigan Tech Opens Up Five-Point Hockey Lead

Michigan Tech snatched victory from near certain-defeat and opened up a five-point bulge in the once top heavy Western Collegiate Hockey Association race.

Tech scored three times in the final two minutes to defeat Michigan 6-4 Friday night for its ninth victory in 10 games while second-place Minnesota slipped back with a 4-2 loss on its home ice to Michigan State.

In other games, North Dakota rolled over Minnesota-Duluth 6-2 and Denver nipped Notre Dame 3-2 to create a three-way tie for seventh place with the UND, Denver and Duluth knotted up at 9-14. One of the trio, perhaps two, will not be in the playoffs.

Wisconsin, which has been buried in last place most of the season, climbed to within three points of the seventh-place teams with a 4-3 overtime victory over Colorado College.

Mike Zuke, Warren Young and Dave Joelson scored in Tech's comeback victory. Zuke score twice for the Huskies, who are now 17-6 in league play.

All-America Tom Ross shook loose for a breakaway goal midway through the final period to give Michigan State a 3-1 lead enroute to its victory at Minnesota. The two teams combined for only 43 shots on goal in the game.

Freshman defenseman Rob Mihulka slammed in the go-ahead goal early in the second period to ignite North Dakota's romp.

Bob Grainger's 40-foot slap shot boosted Denver to its victory and Murray Johnson scored on a breakaway in overtime to give Wisconsin its win at Colorado College.

Johnson scored the game-winner on a pass from Les Grauer, who had given Wisconsin an early 2-0 lead on a pair of goals.

Saginaw Maintains IHL Lead; K-Wings Lose To Port Huron

Center Marcel Comeau and wingman Dave Westner scored three goals apiece and newly acquired center Wayne Zuk picked a goal and an assist as the Saginaw Gears bombed the Columbus Owls, 9-4, Friday in the International Hockey League.

Saginaw is now 28-17-7 for first place in the North Division. Columbus is 18-28-6 for last place in the South.

In other IHL action, Flint's right-winger Bob Law scored three goals as the Generals defeated the Muskegon Mohawks, 5-2.

Flint's record is 22-20-10 for fourth place in the North. Muskegon is 23-20-9 for third place in the North.

Meanwhile, the Port Huron Flags jumped off to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by right-winger Len Chalmers and center Len Fontaine, and went on to defeat the Kalamazoo Wings.

Port Huron is now 26-18-7 for second place in the North. Kalamazoo is 17-27-7 for fifth place in the North.

In Toledo, Dave Johnson and Tom Sundberg each scored two goals as Toledo defeated Fort Wayne 8-4. The triumph snapped a 10-game Toledo losing streak and improved the Goadiggers' South Division record to 16-25-13.

The Komets, led by Terry McDougall with a pair of goals, suffered their 24th loss against 18 victories and 11 ties.

Odom Top Player

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Sz Odom, who returned 42 kickoffs for 1,034 yards last season, has been named the Green Bay Packers' special teams player of the year.

Migrants Sue For Damages

Three migrant farmworker families have filed suit in Grand Rapids Federal District court seeking damages from two Sedus township fruit growers and a migrant crew leader.

Damages in an amount to be set by the court are sought from Alfred Hauch, 5602 River road, his son Vernon and their alleged crew leader, Andres Colunga.

Colunga was not a registered migrant, the suit claims, and he allegedly made false statements about pay and living conditions when he recruited the families last spring in Texas to work on the Hauch farm.

The suit, filed in the name of the Hauch family, seeks $15,000 in damages, is sought from the Hauchs alone for allegedly having an unsafe and unsanitary migrant camp. Plaintiffs worked at the Hauch farm last summer, according to Paul Lechowick, staff attorney for the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance project who filed suit on their behalf. They are Jose and Maria Castillo and Carlos and Rebecca Diaz, of McAllen, Texas, and Manuel and Ann Maria Vasquez, of Donna, Texas.

In August, Alfred Hauch pleaded guilty in Berrien Fifth District court to a charge of overcrowding at the camp. He paid fine and costs of $31, according to court records.

BH Board Advertises

The Benton Harbor board of education is advertising for applicants for the job of group director of personnel and labor relations currently held by John Fehsenfeld.

Fehsenfeld told The Herald-Palladium "I'm hoping to get back into a superintendency and told Supt. (Richard) Helser some number of months ago."

Fehsenfeld said he is looking but has nothing definite yet. He came to Benton Harbor in 1974 from Comstock Park, near Grand Rapids, where he had been superintendent since 1968.

The Benton Harbor board last year continued Fehsenfeld on the second year of a two-year contract through June 30, 1978, at $23,380 annually.

Use of marijuana - Charlie B. Karnes, 41, of Kansas City, Mo., $155 or 30 days in jail; Sam R. Williams, 19, of 429 South Wilkins, Benton Harbor, $101 or 20 days in jail; Willie "Big" McGee, Jr., 21, of 1043 Edgar, Benton Harbor, $51; Elijah Smith, Jr., 26, of Kalamazoo, $90.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Migrants Sue For Damages

Three migrant farmworker families have filed suit in Grand Rapids Federal District court seeking damages from two Sodus township fruit growers and a migrant crew leader.

Damages in an amount to be set by the court are sought from Alfred Hauch, 5902 River road, his son Vernon and their alleged crew leader, Andres Colunga.

Colunga was not a registered agent, the suit claims, and he allegedly made false statements about pay and living conditions when he recruited the families last spring in Texas to work on the Hauch farm.

A total of $15,000 in damages is sought from the Hauchs alone for allegedly having an unsafe and unsanitary migrant camp.

Plaintiffs worked at the Hauch farm last summer, according to Paul Lechowick, staff attorney for the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance project who filed suit on their behalf. They are Jose and Maria Castillo and Carlos and Rebecca Diaz, of McAllen, Texas, and Manuel and Ann Maria Vasquez, of Donna, Texas.

In August Alfred Hauch pleaded guilty in Berrien Fifth District court to a charge of overcrowding at the camp. He paid fine and costs of $31, according to court records.

Work Session By BH Board Open To Public

The Benton Harbor board of education will hold a work session at 7 p.m. Monday in the central administration building, 711 East Britain avenue. Work sessions are open to the public.

STOCKS' WEEK: The stock market declined over the past week with the Dow Jones average closing at 954.90 Friday, down 20.38 from the week prior. Analysts blamed profit-taking and the Thursday House vote to continue natural gas price regulations for the slump. (AP Wirephoto)

Gerber Hikes Dividend

FREMONT, Mich. — Directors of Gerber Products Company have declared an increased quarterly dividend of $3.00 per share, payable on March 5, 1976, to shareholders of record Feb. 17, 1976. This is an increase of 2.5 cents per share.

Announcement of this 123rd consecutive quarterly dividend was made by John C. Suerth, chairman and chief executive officer of the baby needs firm. Directors of the company held a regular quarterly meeting at corporate headquarters here this week.

Announcement of the dividend action follows record high sales and earnings in the first nine months of the company's fiscal year which were reported earlier. Sales of the first three quarters of the year were $275,655,946, an increase of 13.4 per cent over sales of $243,005,334 in the same period a year ago. Earnings in the nine months ended Dec. 31, 1975, were $16,258,503, or $2.00 per share, compared to earnings in the same period last year of $11,186,051, or $1.37 per share. This is an increase of 45.3 per cent.

"Although the fourth quarter of our current fiscal year will be compared to a strong quarter of a year ago, we anticipate a significant improvement this year over last year's fiscal year-end results," Suerth said.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SEN. JESSE HELMS (R-N.C.)

Is it true that many Congressmen vote to spend tax money without knowing—or caring—how many millions of dollars are involved?—A. Kravitz, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● Yes. The Senate recently approved a record-breaking budget for operating Congress. But the closest estimate of the figure that any of my colleagues came up with was low by $200 million! Government has grown so enormous and Congress is so flooded with expensive legislation that many Congressmen get frustrated. Instead of trying to keep up with legislation, they often cast their votes on a "party line" basis. That's why the federal debt is in excess of a half-trillion dollars, and still rising. It's a lousy way to legislate, but it's a fact of life.

FOR GENE SARAZEN, former golf champion

Has golf changed much since you started out?—B.L., Santa Monica, Calif.

● It sure has! Now golf balls and clubs are made to perfection, and the courses are watered and manicured. In the early days, rough grass was like pasture, and greens were as hard as pavement. You were compelled to pitch and run. Today, because of the heavy watering, golfers can play the ball right to the pin. But that takes a lot of skill out of the game. Now it's power golf—and putting.

FOR MORLEY SAFER, co-host of "60 Minutes"

Could you please quote Mrs. Ford's answer to your question about abortion?—J.B., Amherst, N.Y.

● Her exact answer was: "You have to be honest exactly how you feel, and I feel very strongly that it was the best thing in the world when the Supreme Court voted to legalize abortion and, in my words, bring it out of the backwoods and put it in the hospitals where it belonged. I thought it was a great, great decision."

FOR ROBERT MITCHUM, star of "Farewell, My Lovely"

Of all your films, which one is your favorite?—E.D.B., Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

● "The Last Time I Saw Archie," because I got $100,000 for it. It was the first time I ever made that kind of money. Although I liked my salary, I didn't like my role, nor the way I played it. But since the checks didn't bounce, I guess someone thought I was doing a good job.

FOR NANCY WALKER of TV's "Rhoda"

Your daughter is an only child. Do you believe in small families?—M.W., Vancouver, Wash.

● Before Miranda was born, I was praying for a girl. David and I soon realized she was the most marvelous child in the whole world and everything we could have wished for. When she arrived, our family was complete and perfect. Perfection can't be improved on, and it's silly to try. Yes, I do believe in small families—for me.

FOR DONNA THEODORE, star of Broadway's "Shenandoah"

I just made my first trip to New York and saw "Shenandoah." Are you the same Donna Theodore that I keep seeing on TV? You look different.—H.C., Miami Beach, Fla.

● Yes, they're both me. On TV I go in for the low-cut dresses and sexy hairdos (that's the "real me"). In "Shenandoah" I'm the reverse—a pioneer housewife, living off the land during the Civil War.

FOR ADM. WILLIAM M. LUKASH, M.D., Physician to the President

When the President gets sick, what kind of a patient is he?—S.S., Willoughby, Ohio

● An ideal one, because he realizes the importance of maintaining good health. President Ford has a very high regard for the medical profession, and all he asks is a simple explanation of his illness and treatment. Then he follows the doctor's advice to the letter.

FOR REP. PETER RODINO (D-N.J.)

Why can't we make it unlawful for employers to knowingly hire illegal aliens?—A.K., Anderson, S.C.

● We're trying to. The Judiciary Committee has held numerous hearings on the problem over the last four years, and the Committee has approved legislation that would hold employers responsible. It is the belief of the Committee that employers should make reasonable inquiries as to the eligibility of their employees to seek employment in the U.S.

FOR JULIA CHILD

Is there any way to get children to eat their vegetables?—Mrs. Russell Lewis, Dubuque, Iowa

● Take them grocery shopping, let them help pick out the vegetables (as well as other foods), then let them help in the preparation and cooking. And to help make eating an adventure, explain to the children how and where each vegetable grows. You might even make some new discoveries and broaden your own horizons!

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

It seems the romance has gone out of romance today. Does anyone agree?—S.P., Corpus Christi, Texas

● John Wayne said: "There's still puppy love, where boy gets girl (and vice versa for Women's Lib). I don't think anything will kill romance except one of the two human beings involved." Art Buchwald reported: "Soft lights and sweet music are not gone forever. Everything comes back eventually. Now kids are dancing the way we did in the forties. They're finding it's fun to hold each other." Lawrence Welk sighed: "Romance has taken on a different form. We've gotten away from God's laws. Sexual, not spiritual, desires have become fashionable. Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SEN. JESSE HELMS (R-N.C.)

Is it true that many Congressmen vote to spend tax money without knowing—or caring—how many millions of dollars are involved?—A. Kravitz, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● Yes. The Senate recently approved a record-breaking budget for operating Congress. But the closest estimate of the figure that any of my colleagues came up with was low by $200 million! Government has grown so enormous and Congress is so flooded with expensive legislation that many Congressmen get frustrated. Instead of trying to keep up with legislation, they often cast their votes on a "party line" basis. That's why the federal debt is in excess of a half-trillion dollars, and still rising. It's a lousy way to legislate, but it's a fact of life.

FOR GENE SARAZEN, former golf champion

Has golf changed much since you started out?—B.L., Santa Monica, Calif.

● It sure has! Now golf balls and clubs are made to perfection, and the courses are watered and manicured. In the early days, rough grass was like pasture, and greens were as hard as pavement. You were compelled to pitch and run. Today, because of the heavy watering, golfers can play the ball right to the pin. But that takes a lot of skill out of the game. Now it's power golf—and putting.

FOR MORLEY SAFER, co-host of "60 Minutes"

Could you please quote Mrs. Ford's answer to your question about abortion?—J.B., Amherst, N.Y.

● Her exact answer was: "You have to be honest exactly how you feel, and I feel very strongly that it was the best thing in the world when the Supreme Court voted to legalize abortion and, in my words, bring it out of the backwoods and put it in the hospitals where it belonged. I thought it was a great, great decision."

FOR ROBERT MITCHUM, star of "Farewell, My Lovely"

Of all your films, which one is your favorite?—E.D.B., Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

● "The Last Time I Saw Archie," because I got $100,000 for it. It was the first time I ever made that kind of money. Although I liked my salary, I didn't like my role, nor the way I played it. But since the checks didn't bounce, I guess someone thought I was doing a good job.

FOR NANCY WALKER of TV's "Rhoda"

Your daughter is an only child. Do you believe in small families?—M.W., Vancouver, Wash.

● Before Miranda was born, I was praying for a girl. David and I soon realized she was the most marvelous child in the whole world and everything we could have wished for. When she arrived, our family was complete and perfect. Perfection can't be improved on, and it's silly to try. Yes, I do believe in small families—for me.

FOR DONNA THEODORE, star of Broadway's "Shenandoah"

I just made my first trip to New York and saw "Shenandoah." Are you the same Donna Theodore that I keep seeing on TV? You look different.—H.C., Miami Beach, Fla.

● Yes, they're both me. On TV I go in for the low-cut dresses and sexy hairdos (that's the "real me"). In "Shenandoah" I'm the reverse—a pioneer housewife, living off the land during the Civil War.

FOR ADM. WILLIAM M. LUKASH, M.D., Physician to the President

When the President gets sick, what kind of a patient is he?—S.S., Willoughby, Ohio

● An ideal one, because he realizes the importance of maintaining good health. President Ford has a very high regard for the medical profession, and all he asks is a simple explanation of his illness and treatment. Then he follows the doctor's advice to the letter.

FOR REP. PETER RODINO (D-N.J.)

Why can't we make it unlawful for employers to knowingly hire illegal aliens?—A.K., Anderson, S.C.

● We're trying to. The Judiciary Committee has held numerous hearings on the problem over the last four years, and the Committee has approved legislation that would hold employers responsible. It is the belief of the Committee that employers should make reasonable inquiries as to the eligibility of their employees to seek employment in the U.S.

FOR JULIA CHILD

Is there any way to get children to eat their vegetables?—Mrs. Russell Lewis, Dubuque, Iowa

● Take them grocery-shopping, let them help pick out the vegetables (as well as other foods), then let them help in the preparation and cooking. And to help make eating an adventure, explain to the children how and where each vegetable grows. You might even make some new discoveries and broaden your own horizons!

By Larry Bortstein

FAMILY WEEKLY Contributing Editor

Most men in the National Basketball Association can shoot the ball into the basket with great regularity. But there are shooters and there are shooters. FAMILY WEEKLY decided to find out which shooters come through best in the clutch, and to do so we consulted a panel of seven men closely associated with the NBA. Five are currently active stars in the league, one is a coach, and the other, Jerry West, who played 14 years with the Los Angeles Lakers, is almost universally regarded as the top clutch shooter the game has ever known.

Each member of the panel was asked: In the closing seconds of a game, with the score tied, or with one team one or two points ahead, which player would be most effective in pulling out the victory for his team? Here's the way the panelists responded:

RICK BARRY

Rick Barry was the key man in the surprising four-game sweep by the Golden State Warriors in last spring's NBA championship series over the Washington Bullets. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the playoffs.

"As far as I'm concerned, the opponent I'd least like to see have the ball in the last few seconds of a close game is the guy who creates opportunities. To me, the best guy in this category is Walt Frazier. There's no way of playing him exactly right in a situation like that. You can't play him to take the jump shot, because he'll drive around you. He's going to do something with the ball; you know that—but it could be one of three things, and that's what makes him so dangerous. He'll either take the shot himself, set up a teammate or drive into somebody and draw a foul. Sometimes he'll get a three-point play out of it.

"Guys like Walt, and John Havlicek of Boston, and Nate Archibald of Kansas City, who can do so many things—these are the guys who get the ball at the end of the game because they're the people who will do something constructive to try to win the game for their clubs. They're just as dangerous shooting or not shooting.

"But I think you have to talk about foul shots, too. There's no such thing as a cheap free throw. You either make it or you don't. Frankly, I think I'm the best foul shooter around, and the averages seem to bear this out. There are other good free-throw shooters, too, like Mike Newlin and Calvin Murphy of Houston and Jack Marin of Chicago. I think the main problem a good foul shooter has late in a game is getting tired after playing hard for four periods. In my case, I take a couple of extra seconds before I shoot a free throw late in a game. It's not because I'm more nervous about it, but because I want to take a deep breath."

WALT FRAZIER

A perennial All-NBA selection at guard, Walt "Clyde" Frazier of the New York Knicks has averaged better than 20 points per game in each of the last six seasons.

"The last couple of years with the Knicks have been the toughest for me since I came to the NBA. When we won the championship in 1970 and 1973, we had a lot of stars in the lineup. But it's been different now. Now I'm their top star. When you're the star, you're the guy who's going to get the ball for the last shot—and the guy the other team is going to double-team to get you to cough up the ball. Talk about pressure. Wow! Every night has pressure for me.

"A lot of this is pressure I've put on

BOB McADOO

The Buffalo Braves' 6-foot-10 center, Bob McAdoo, has led the NBA in scoring average the past two seasons and was elected the league's Most Valuable Player for the 1974-75 campaign.

"It's in the jump shooting. There are lots of great jump shooters in our league—guys like Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier of Washington, and Walt Frazier of New York. They can hit the jumper better than 50 percent of the time. That's the kind of guy I'd want taking the last shot in a close game.

"A lot of times the last shot of a game comes down to one thing: Who's been having a good shooting night? On a team like ours, which is one of the better shooting teams in the NBA, that's how we generally look at it. If I happen to be hitting that night, I might get the ball at the end, but if Jim McMillan or Ernie DiGregorio has been hitting, we'll try to myself. When you're the veteran, the other guys need your help and leadership. The Warriors won the championship last year because even though they had a young team that wasn't expected to do well, they had Rick Barry, who's a great clutch player. Rick once said he didn't consider himself a great shooter but a great scorer. There is a difference. He may not be able to stay outside and pop jumpers all night like a Bob McAdoo or a Phil Chenier can, but Rick can kill you in so many different ways, setting up his teammates as well as getting many of his own points.

"People are always saying that the best players are those who can perform in the last quarter the way they perform during the other quarters. In other words, consistency is everything. That's not always true. You have to feel some pressure in the last period that you don't feel early in the game. I guess the difference is that some guys don't show it. I know my facial expression doesn't change during a game very much, so people assume that nothing bothers me. That's partly how I got a nickname like 'Cool Clyde.' But inside, you have to react to what the game situation is or you're not human."

work a play for one of them.

"When I'm on defense, the guys I worry about most are Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles and Bob Lanier of Detroit. It's almost impossible to keep Kareem from getting the ball when he wants it. And when he gets off his sky-hook, it's impossible to stop him. He has great accuracy with that shot, so the Bucks would often go to him when the game was on the line. Lanier is an excellent shooter and also very strong. He can outmuscle you underneath the basket to go in for a good shot, and he can also beat you from outside."

GENE SHUE

Gene Shue is in his third year as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers. Before that, he was coach of the Baltimore Bullets for nearly seven years.

"I have to think about clutch situations all the time as a coach—both when we need a shot to win and when we have to stop the other team from making its shot to win. First, the guy I want taking the last shot for me is a guy I know can get a good shot on his own. There are many outstanding shooters in the NBA, but there are different kinds of shooters.

ENJOY ON 30 DAY FREE TRIAL — YOUR PICK OF FABULOUS SIMULATED

NATURAL GOLD TONE SETTINGS

- AMAZING MAN-MADE GEMS!
- EACH 100 POINT OR MORE
- CUSTOM JEWEL CASE GIVEN

TRY THEM FREE!

You don't pay $5 or even 1¢ unless you're 100% satisfied!

2 for $9.

No words or pictures can possibly do justice to these superb golden rings. You will agree that seeing is believing. That's why we invite you to examine them in your own home. Test them. Wear them without risking a penny! See for yourself the fine, jeweler's natural goldtone finish... the artistic workmanship. See how every ring has at least a grand total of 100 points of KRYSTAGEMS — the amazing man-made stones that rival nature-made diamonds costing $1250 or even more!

AMAZE YOUR FRIENDS

Take your pick, then clip the pictures of the rings you want on no-risk home trial. We'll gladly rush them to your door, but please do us a favor. When they arrive, let your friends look. See how surprised they are and maybe a little envious too! Almost everybody seeing Krystagems wishes he could afford one too! Little do they know they aren't genuine diamonds. That's because Krystagems are quite different from cheap, phoney-looking plastic stones. Prove the big difference for yourself! Make the easy test that follows:

(A) Drop Krystagem and a plastic stone in acetone. (B) Next day remove both stones. The fake plastic diamond is mushy and useless. But Krystagem comes out unharmd. (C) Notice how precisely the Krystagem facets are cut — virtually like costliest diamonds! Krystagems are so hard, so dense, so dazzling — they even sparkle in dim moonlight! You'll love them!

NOW LESS THAN 1¢ ON DOLLAR!

Because Krystagems cost only $5 — don't mistake them for dull, plastic fakes. Of course, a Krystagem is different from a nature-made diamond. But the nicest difference is that you can get it for $5 — not $1250 or more!

WHY DO MILLIONAIRES WEAR SIMULATED DIAMONDS?

Wise millionaires and Movie Stars keep costly jewels in bank vaults to escape burglaries. They secretly wear simulated diamonds at parties. By making special tests, diamond experts can tell the difference. So what? Do as millionaires do! Wear simulations and invest the savings!

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Back Remember... you don't risk a single penny! You may test and wear any or all of these rings for a full month. If not 100% satisfied, return them and get back every penny you paid — by return mail. Purchases may be charged to your BankAmericard or Master Charge. See coupon.

KRYSTAGEM DIVISION 1232-B
7375 Sunrise Station
Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33304

NOTICE: This offer may never be repeated again, due to rising costs of gold, base metals, and labor. Please rush coupon at once to avoid disappointment. BankAmericard and Master Charge members may telephone their orders to save time. DIAL: 305-772-0375 for same day delivery. Call between 9 AM and 4 PM Monday thru Friday, Eastern Standard Time.

If you do not know ring size do this to ensure perfect fit:

1 Cut straight strip of paper 3 inches long and about 1/4 inch in width.

2. Wrap paper strip around finger on which ring is worn. Then place a mark on strip where it meets the end.

3. Now place mark on strip of paper at point "A" on Ring Guide. The number at end of strip is correct ring size. Write size in coupon. We guarantee perfect fit!

WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU GET

(1) Each ring has at least 100 points of famous quality Krystagems. (2) All stones hand set into durable rings of burnished goldtone—guaranteed to wear! (3) Deluxe Safeguard Box with each ring!

GOLDEN PROMISE—Large Centre and 4 side Simulated Diamonds—total of 120 points! Truly exquisite and impressive! (No. UJ-111)

WEDDING BAND matches "Golden Promise" ring. Has 7 Multifacet Simulated Diamonds—guaranteed flawless and full of fire. (No. UJ-112)

FEMME FATALE Pseudo Tiger Eye attracts, holds attention! 7 simulated diamonds sparkle around it. Rich antique Goldtone finish. (No. UJ-122)

MULTIFACET MARQUISE with 4 simulated side diamonds. Looks so genuine! Only experts can detect it from $1000 ring! (No. UJ-126)

RUBY RED SPLENDOR — 2 Marquise blood-red Pseudo Rubies and 2 petite Simulated Diamonds. Nice to give... wonderful to wear. (No. UJ-119)

MEN'S GOLDEN KNIGHT — latest style for modern men. Handsome! Massive! Heavy Goldtone. Large Pseudo Diamond. (No. EJ-704)

TRINITRON MEN'S RING — with 3 medium size Simulated Diamonds—totaling 150 points. Commands respect. Great gift. Heavy Goldtone. (No. EJ-705)

LUCKY HORSESHOE—famous symbol of good luck in games, love, business. Offered only as a fine men's ring with 11 simulated diamonds. (No. EJ-718)

ROMAN CONSUL — golden men's style worn by the Caesars of Ancient Rome. Large 125 point diamond is held aloft by a Roman Arch. (No. UJ-720)

ANY RING ABOVE ONLY $5

NBA's "Mr. Clutch"

Bill Bradley of the Knicks, for example, is maybe the most deadly shooter when he's open, but for him, to get open you have to set up a complicated play that may take several passes before the ball gets to him. If you only have a few seconds, that would be difficult to do. Also, the defense would be able to cover him more easily by double-teaming than they could cover a guy like Walt Frazier or Earl Monroe or Pete Maravich of New Orleans. Those men go out and make their plays, and it's more difficult to defend against them in those clutch situations.

To me a guy who was really tough with the ball at the end of a game was Chet Walker of the Chicago Bulls. He was in the league 14 years, and at 6-foot-7 he was not the biggest or the strongest forward around. But he had a great ability to get fouled when he was going one-on-one, even when the defender knew Chet was going to have the ball at the end."

RUDY TOMJANOVICH

One of the top forwards in the NBA, 6-foot-8 Rudy Tomjanovich averaged 20.7 points per game last year for the Houston Rockets.

"I've seen Walt Frazier make so many pressure shots, it's amazing. He's a real clutch shooter from the field and from the foul line. He must have nerves of steel. And he's so darned good at drawing a foul when the Knicks might need a three-point play to get back into a game or win it. He causes the defense to make switches, and that usually leaves someone open that Frazier can pass to if he doesn't have a shot himself.

"A lot goes into being a clutch player. I consider myself one of the top shooters around. But when the game is up for grabs, a one-on-one player has the best chance to help the team out because he can do a lot of things. I'm not a good one-on-one player. Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia is the kind of forward that is excellent one-on-one. He's so intelligent and has such great moves that he forces a defensive player into a mistake and draws a foul. This gives him many three-point plays."

WES UNSELD

Wes Unsel, center for the Washington Bullets, made a remarkable comeback from several knee operations and led the league in rebounding last year.

"This may surprise you, but to me the best clutch shooter in the NBA is Earl Monroe of the Knicks. Walt Frazier is great, sure, but in my mind Earl is the only guy who can get off a shot anytime he wants. We were teammates on the Bullets for three seasons, and Earl hit the big shots for us night after night. When he had the ball and started spinning toward the hoop with all those moves he has, you just knew he'd take his man all the way in and get off a shot.

"The guys who have shot the best under pressure since I came into the NBA in 1968 have been Earl, Frazier, John Havlicek and Rick Barry. What it comes down to is their versatility. You can shut off a pure shooter, make sure he can't get to the ball or that he doesn't get into position if he does get the ball. But these guys create their own opportunities, and that makes them very tough to stop.

"After a while, an experienced player can see which guys don't like the ball in the closing seconds of a close game. I've tried to help our younger players each year by letting them know which guys on the other clubs are the least likely to have the ball for a last shot. This way, a young player can learn which guys he can lay back from on defense when a situation like that arises. Then we can go double-team that clutch player till the final buzzer."

JERRY WEST

When Jerry West came to the NBA in 1960, someone wrote that his scrawny 6-foot-3 frame would never last five seasons in the pros. Despite having his nose broken nine times, West became one of the game's all-time superstars.

"My pet peeve in pro basketball is the excess publicity given to guys who just score points. Every year guys come up who score 20 points per game but really aren't all that talented overall, and people call them 'stars.' It's just not so.

"There are lots of guys who can score points in the NBA who would be the last guys you'd want to have handling the ball at the end of a tight game. Actually I always found it easier to score in clutch situations. Many players are afraid to be aggressive on defense in those situations because they don't want a foul.

"The guys I'd most want to see with the ball if my team needed a big play to win a game in the last few seconds would be John Havlicek, Rick Barry and Walt Frazier. Havlicek didn't have a real great year last season, but he's still capable of making the big play. Frazier and Barry are guys you can't defend against because they can shoot and pass so well. That's what I mean about guys who not only can score but can do other things, too."

Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

New 9 mg. tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' proves taste no longer depends on amount of tar.

Until now, cigarette flavor pretty much depended on the amount of tar that went along with it.

Regardless of "low tar, good taste" claims, regardless of fancy-filters and "space-age" filtering systems—you couldn't get high taste without high tar.

Nor low tar without low taste.

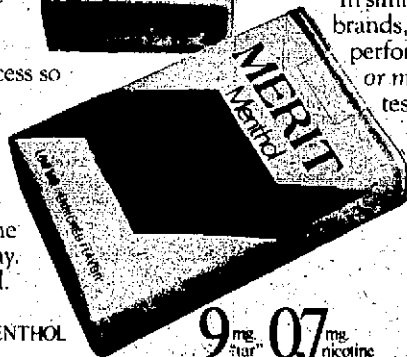

That was the theory.

Until now.

By isolating certain "key" ingredients of tobacco in cigarette smoke, ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar, researchers at Philip Morris have developed an 'Enriched Flavor' process so successful at boosting flavor, the resulting cigarette actually delivers as much—or more—taste than brands having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

The cigarette is 9 mg. tar MERIT. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. If you smoke—you'll be interested.

Taste Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself—all tested at home.*

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly, too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette: MERIT. Unprecedented flavor at 9 mg. tar. From Philip Morris.

*American Institute of Consumer Opinion. Study available free on request.

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Besides Valentine's Day (on Saturday), this month contains the famous birthdays of two of our greatest Presidents, Washington and Lincoln. We thought it might be nice in this Bicentennial year to bring you a menu of favorite recipes from the Presidents' pantries. Try them on your family. We think you'll enjoy them.

BAKED SMOKED HAM TRUMAN STYLE

Variation of Callaway County Country Ham

- 1 fully cooked smoked ham*
- 1/2 cup prepared mustard
- 2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 2 cups pineapple juice

1. Preheat oven to 325°F. Place ham, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan.
2. Insert meat thermometer so that tip is in thickest part of meat and does not touch bone or fat.
3. Roast ham 10 to 15 minutes per lb., or until meat thermometer reads 130°F.
4. Remove ham from oven 30 minutes before it is done. Pour off drippings and skin ham, using sharp knife and scissors.
5. Combine mustard, 1 cup bread crumbs, cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Using spatula spread all over ham. Then sprinkle with remaining cup of crumbs.
6. Return ham to oven and continue baking for 30 minutes. Baste every 5 minutes very gently with pineapple juice, taking care to leave crust intact.

*Editor's Note: Allow about 1/2 lb. ham per person.

MARYLAND CARAMEL TOMATOES

An original recipe from the Hoover collection

- 6 large, firm tomatoes
- 6 teaspoons butter or margarine
- 6 teaspoons sugar
- Salt
- Parsley sprigs
- 6 toast rounds

1. Preheat oven to 325°F.
2. Cut off the tops of tomatoes, and make a cavity in each tomato.
3. Fill each cavity with 1 teaspoon butter and top with 1 teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle lightly with salt.
4. Bake about 15 to 20 minutes, until tomatoes are just tender. Garnish tomatoes with tiny parsley sprigs and serve on rounds of toast.

Makes 6 servings

DELMONICO POTATOES

One of Lincoln's favorites

- 8 medium all-purpose potatoes
- Boiling water, salted
- 8 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 2 1/2 cups light cream or half-and-half
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Few twists freshly ground black pepper
- 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs

1. Preheat oven to 400°F.
2. Wash, peel and dice potatoes. Boil in lightly salted water until just done, but not mushy.

3. Drain potatoes and place in a 2-qt. lightly greased casserole or baking dish.
4. In medium saucepan, melt 6 tablespoons butter, and blend in 6 tablespoons flour. Gradually add cream, stirring.
5. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt and a bit of pepper. Pour over potatoes. Top with grated cheese.
6. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter; stir in bread crumbs, mixing until coated. Sprinkle buttered crumbs over casserole.

7. Bake until cheese melts and casserole is bubbly, about 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings

SALAD OF MIXED GARDEN GREENS

Jefferson was famous for his interest in fresh-grown foods.

- 1 head Bibb or Boston lettuce
- 1 bunch watercress
- 1 small head endive
- 1 small head iceberg lettuce
- 1 small head chicory
- 2 cups fresh young spinach leaves

STRAWBERRY BLITZ TORTE One of Betty Ford's Favorite Desserts

- 1 cup sifted cake flour
  - 1 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup shortening
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 4 egg yolks
  - 3 tablespoons milk
  - 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
  - Meringue (see recipe below)
  - Filling and topping (see recipe below)
1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease 2 8-inch layer-cake pans.
  2. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together.
  3. In large bowl, with electric mixer set at medium speed, beat shortening until creamy. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until light and fluffy.
  4. Beat egg yolks in separate bowl and add to creamed mixture. Stir in milk and vanilla.
  5. Add dry ingredients at low speed and beat until batter is smooth. Pour batter into cake pans.

6. Lightly pile half of the meringue mixture over the batter in each pan, spread evenly. Bake in 350° oven until cake tests done and meringue is pale gold, about 35 minutes.
7. Remove from oven, loosen sides of tortes from pans and remove them to wire racks, keeping the meringue side up. Add filling and topping.

Jimmy Stewart: Delicious Spareribs from a Lean, Spare Eater

Barbecue Sauce

- 1 yellow onion, grated
- 1 small clove garlic, pressed (optional)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon chili powder

- 1/4 teaspoon celery seed
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup vinegar

- 1 cup chili sauce
- 1 cup ketchup
- 2 cups water
- Few drops Tabasco Sauce

- 1. Sauté onion and garlic in butter.

- 2. Add remaining ingredients and simmer slowly for 30 minutes, stirring often. Serve along with spareribs.

By Jimmy Stewart In Conversation with Helen Dorsey

I normally only pass through the kitchen on my way to the garage! I've never been a huge eater. Early in my life, I used to try to find ways to keep from being skinny. Hank Fonda has always had much the same problem. We used to try everything to gain weight. One time somebody told us a wonderful way to put on weight was to drink a huge malted milk mixed with two eggs in the morning. To give us an appetite for it, we were told to spike it with a little brandy. But we noticed the malted milks kept getting darker. We didn't gain very much weight, but by midmorning we were in "fine shape." So we had to cut that out!

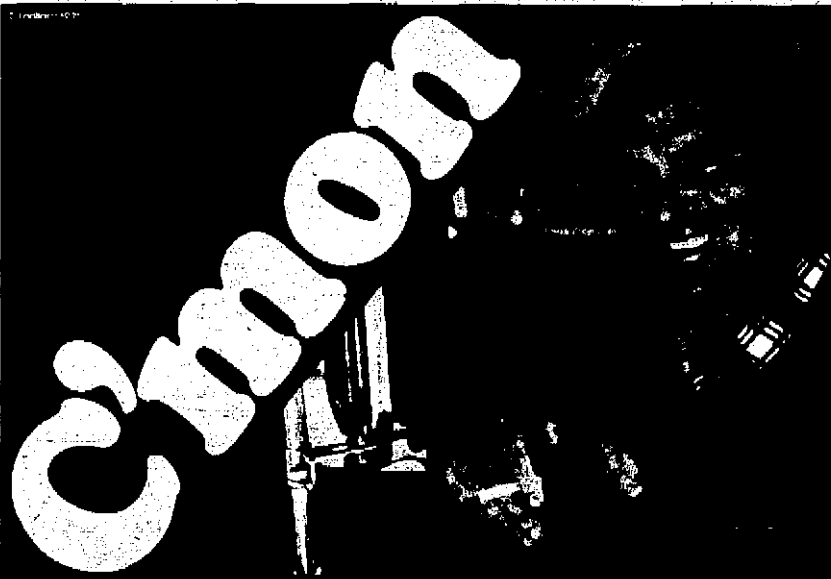

Gloria and I are not big party givers. We like small dinners for six or eight people; and then it's always something simple like barbecued spareribs. Everyone helps himself from the sideboard, and it's comfortable and relaxed.

SPARERIBS STEWART

- 8-10 lbs. spareribs, cut into 2-rib pieces
- Salt
- Dash freshly ground pepper
- 1 large onion, chopped
- Barbecue Sauce (see recipe below)

1. Have butcher cut spareribs for you.
2. Preheat oven to 350°F. Arrange spareribs in shallow baking pan and sprinkle liberally with salt and pepper. Place a slice of lemon on each piece, then top with chopped onion.
3. Bake for about 45 minutes, basting occasionally with Barbecue Sauce. Turn meat several times so it cooks evenly.

A Sampler of Great White House Recipes

Continued

GLAZED ONIONS

President Washington's Favorite Vegetable

12 medium-sized onions
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
12 teaspoons honey

1. Preheat oven to 450°F.

2. Cut onions in half crosswise, dot with butter and arrange in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

3. Pour 1 teaspoon honey over each onion. Bake uncovered for 45 minutes, until tender. Makes 5 servings

BOULA-BOULA

One of Jackie Kennedy's favorite soups

3 cups frozen peas, cooked
¼ cup liquid from peas
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash ground black pepper
3 cups canned green turtle soup or beef bouillon
1½ cups dry sherry
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

1. Using electric blender, purée peas with ¼ cup liquid from peas until very smooth.

2. Heat pea purée in medium saucepan, add butter, salt and pepper. Stir until butter melts.

3. Add green turtle soup and sherry; heat just to the boiling point.

4. Ladle soup into serving cups and top each with a little plain whipped cream. If desired, quickly place cups under the broiler to lightly brown the cream.

Makes 6 servings

MILLION-DOLLAR FUDGE

President Eisenhower named this fudge recipe of Mamie's

1 can (13½ ozs.) evaporated milk
½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Dash salt
1 pkg. (12 ozs.) chocolate bits
1 bar (12 ozs.) sweet chocolate, broken into pieces
1 jar (8 ozs.) marshmallow whip
2½ cups chopped walnuts

1. Mix evaporated milk, sugar, butter and salt in a saucepan and bring to boiling. Stir and boil for 7 minutes.

2. Combine all remaining ingredients in large bowl, mix well. Pour boiling evaporated milk mixture over all. Beat until fudge is creamy.

3. Pour into buttered 9x9-inch square pan to cool. Cut into squares when cold. Makes 30 squares

Family Weekly Foodshelf

SPINACH SOUFFLE

Combine 1 can (10¾ ozs.) cream of chicken soup, 1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese and ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg in saucepan. Heat slowly until cheese melts. Beat 6 egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; gradually stir into soup mixture. Add 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well-drained. Beat 6 egg whites until stiff in large bowl. Fold in soup mixture. Pour into a 2-qt. casserole. Bake at 400°F. for 30 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings

CHICKEN RICE 'N' EASY

Preheat oven to 400°F. In 7x11x2-inch greased, glass baking pan, combine ½ cup dry white wine, ¼ cup chicken broth or water, ½ teaspoon salt and 1½ cups quick cooking rice. Place 1½ to 2 lbs. chicken breasts, split, over rice mixture. Combine 1 can (6 ozs.) sliced mushrooms, undrained, with 1 can (10½ ozs.) cream of mushroom soup. Spread over chicken. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon thyme leaves, 1 tablespoon fine bread crumbs and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Cover lightly with foil and bake about 1 hour, or until chicken is done. Makes 4 servings

Arthritis, Rheumatism Sufferers!

Time Proven ICY-HOT PUTS PAIN TO SLEEP

"Without taking Pills"

If you're one of the many, many folks who have "tried everything"—taken pills by the thousand, capsules until you've gagged on them, spoon-fuls of evil-tasting liquids until you can't stand the sight of your medicine cabinet, then it's time you get ICY-HOT!

ICY-HOT has been making friends for just about 50 years.

You don't "take" ICY-HOT. Instead you just rub its creamy balm over the affected joints or muscles. That's all there is to it. ICY-HOT must get you the results you want—blessed temporary relief from the pain of arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, soreness, stiffness. You begin to sleep peacefully again. You can actually feel the pain lessening. If you don't have relief in 24 hours, we'll return your money. Yes, you must be 100% thrilled with the speed with which ICY-HOT puts pain to sleep, or we'll return

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

That Strange Breed We Call "Phonies"

True or False? Women are better at spotting phonies than men are. (See number 5.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Phonies come in all shapes, sizes and varieties.
2. It's not hard to spot a phony if you know what to look for.
3. Phonies frequently use laughter as a cover-up strategy, laughing when nothing is funny.
4. Being a phony can be dangerous to your health.
5. Women are better at spotting phonies than men are.
6. There's virtually no way to get a dyed-in-the-wool phony to straighten out and fly right.

ANSWERS

1. True. Their various specialties may include freeloading, gate-crashing, name-or place-dropping merely to impress the impressionable, as special routines designed to soften up acquaintances for loans, etc. And there are some who operate just for the kicks, as a sort of ego trip.
2. True. All you need is a telltale clue. For example, if he's the place-dropping, been-everywhere, knows-everybody type of phony, throw him a subtle curve by asking him if that quaint bistro, "The Purple Onion," around the corner from Madame Marchand's place is still popular with the jet set. If he replies yes, you've got him cold! For, of course, you've made up the place. You can use a similar technique if he begins telling you of the famous authors among his personal acquaintances. To check him out fast, give him the non-book treatment. Say to him, "You must have read the new book (think up an imposing title) that's creating such a stir in literary circles." If he's a phony, he's likely to reply with a sage nod that "It's a remarkable work," or some such "safe" comment. If he's really in form, he may even volunteer that the publisher sent him advance proofs. Anyway, you've got his number.
3. True. As psychological studies have demonstrated, the person who is playing a spurious role frequently uses laughter as a smoke screen to mask the nervousness and anxiety that every pretender feels now and then. When asked pointed questions which he feels may come close to exposing him as a fraud, he will simply laugh, and then change the subject. Such people, as one authority has pointed out in summing up his findings, "have come to use laughter chronically as a substitute for the expression of genuine feelings and thoughts." And it's pointed out that mirthless laughter—when it occurs repeatedly—is frequently a tip-off of attempts to conceal the truth.

4. True. Physical and emotional tensions produced by the practice of deceit can seriously interfere with the proper functions of vital organs, according to studies. In addition to affecting our bodily well-being, deceiving others produces inner conflicts that can seriously affect mental health. And, as studies of accident proneness have shown, the worry, anxiety and cumulative guilt feelings resulting from a lifestyle of pretense tend to make such people accident and illness prone.

5. True. Studies show that women are better socially oriented than men, quicker to sense a false note in another's speech or demeanor. Women also tend to make fuller use of their intuitional faculties, which enable them to "see through" the spurious facade that a person may use to conceal his real motives. A wife may typically remark to her husband, "I can't explain why I feel that way, but I don't quite trust that man. There's something about him that doesn't ring true." And human behavior specialists have found that, more often than not, such an impression is quite valid.

6. True. To most phonies, spurious behavior is a way of life. That's why there are virtually no ex-phonies. For, as one psychologist has observed, they derive a kind of perverse satisfaction from trying to convince others, as well as themselves, that they really are what they pretend to be.

People Quiz

That Strange Breed We Call "Phonies"

True or False? Women are better at spotting phonies than men are. (See number 5.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Phonies come in all shapes, sizes and varieties.
2. It's not hard to spot a phony if you know what to look for.
3. Phonies frequently use laughter as a cover-up strategy, laughing when nothing is funny.
4. Being a phony can be dangerous to your health.
5. Women are better at spotting phonies than men are.
6. There's virtually no way to get a dyed-in-the-wool phony to straighten out and fly right.

ANSWERS

1. True. Their various specialties may include freeloading, gate-crashing, name-or place-dropping merely to impress the impressionable, as special routines designed to soften up acquaintances for loans, etc. And there are some who operate just for the kicks, as a sort of ego trip.
2. True. All you need is a telltale clue. For example, if he's the place-dropping, been-everywhere, knows-everybody type of phony, throw him a subtle curve by asking him if that quaint bistro, "The Purple Onion," around the corner from Madame Marchand's place is still popular with the jet set. If he replies yes, you've got him cold! For, of course, you've made up the place. You can use a similar technique if he begins telling you of the famous authors among his personal acquaintances. To check him out fast, give him the non-book treatment. Say to him, "You must have read the new book [think up an imposing title] that's creating such a stir in literary circles." If he's a phony, he's likely to reply with a sage nod that "It's a remarkable work," or some such "safe" comment. If he's really in form, he may even volunteer that the publisher sent him advance proofs. Anyway, you've got him number.
3. True. As psychological studies have demonstrated, the person who is playing a spurious role frequently uses laughter as a smoke screen to mask the nervousness and anxiety that every pretender feels now and then. When asked pointed questions which he feels may come close to exposing him as a fraud, he will simply laugh and then change the subject. Such people, as one authority has pointed out in summing up his findings, "have come to use laughter chronically as a substitute for the expression of genuine feelings and thoughts." And it's pointed out that mirthless laughter—when it occurs repeatedly—is frequently a tip-off of attempts to conceal the truth.

4. True. Physical and emotional tensions produced by the practice of deceit can seriously interfere with the proper functions of vital organs, according to studies. In addition to affecting our bodily well-being, deceiving others produces inner conflicts that can seriously affect mental health. And, as studies of accident proneness have shown, the worry, anxiety and cumulative guilt feelings resulting from a lifestyle of pretense tend to make such people accident and illness prone.

5. True. Studies show that women are better socially oriented than men, quicker to sense a false note in another's speech or demeanor. Women also tend to make fuller use of their intuitional faculties, which enable them to "see through" the spurious façade that a person may use to conceal his real motives. A wife may typically remark to her husband, "I can't explain why I feel that way, but I don't quite trust that man. There's something about him that doesn't ring true." And human behavior specialists have found that, more often than not, such an impression is quite valid.

6. True. To most phonies, spurious behavior is a way of life. That's why there are virtually no ex-phonies. For, as one psychologist has observed, they derive a kind of perverse satisfaction from trying to convince others, as well as themselves, that they really are what they pretend to be.

What My Retarded Sister Taught Me About Life

"She reacted to the warmth of another human being. She laughed when held. She returned love by laughing when you entered a room—by trying to touch your hand with hers."

By Alan Ebert

It's tough for a little boy to have a retarded baby sister who is constantly left in his care. But Tony Orlando credits who and what he is to Rhonda Marie, the sister for whom he cared until her death last year at 21.

Tony's education never progressed beyond the eighth grade since he was needed at home to care for his sister. And her development never progressed beyond that of an eight-month-old child because of the retardation and palsy that crippled her for life. Yet Tony learned much from her about compassion and about some of the harsh facts of life.

To care for his sister, he spent much of his time indoors. The family, unable to hire outside help and reluctant to put Rhonda Marie in a home for the retarded, undertook the continuous care she needed. "Until the day she died; Rhonda could only eat strained foods," Tony remembers. "She always wore Pampers. It wouldn't be true if I claimed her presence didn't negatively affect the family. My mother was totally dedicated to her care, but it took a tremendous toll. Since she refused to give up Rhonda, her job was a 24-hour-a-day involvement. As mine often was. There was little time left for what others consider a normal family life. But my mother wouldn't have it any other way, and I wouldn't be the same person the public seems to have accepted if it weren't for my experience with Rhonda Marie. I'll tell you why.

"Rhonda couldn't speak. Nor could she reason. She could just react. When she was sad, she cried. And when she was happy, she laughed. She never learned, as we all do, to build up defenses. In other words, everything about Rhonda's reactions was real. There was no guile or pretense. I couldn't fake emotions with her. She couldn't be fooled. I either gave her what I was feeling or I gave nothing. It's the same thing: you do with your audiences. You can't try to be what you're not. So what you see on TV is what you get if you meet me on the street."

"Rhonda also taught lessons in being observant—in being sensitive to the moods and feelings of others. Because of Rhonda, I can now look at an audience, see how they're sitting, and know if I'm reaching them."

Perhaps most important, Tony says Rhonda Marie taught him about love and what it is. "And how basic it is to survival," he says. "Rhonda was fed, sheltered and clothed, but she reacted to the warmth of another human being. She laughed when held. She returned love by laughing when you entered a room—by trying to touch your hand with hers. It was beautiful. It was also beautiful when I learned that love—real love—is wanting nothing back in return. We loved Rhonda Marie and did what we could for her, knowing the best she could return was a smile. And that was quite enough. It's a pity that we lose the simplicity of love as we mature."

Tony credits his performing ability to his day-to-day involvement with his sister. When he discovered she would kick her feet in time to the music on the radio, he began singing to her. When that wore thin, he learned to play the guitar. Then a few dance steps completed his "act."

Says Tony: "When I was failing it—just trying to pass the time for Rhonda—she would turn away. I could never give less than 100 percent; she knew when I did. To reach Rhonda,

Mental Retardation: Tony Orlando Tells What to Do

Tony is actively engaged in the fight against mental retardation. He cites staggering figures: "There are six and a half million mentally retarded in the U.S. with another 126,000 born yearly. There is no cure because mental retardation is not a disease. But there is a preventive and few people are aware of it. Malnutrition—poor diet—is one of the major causes of retardation. We must educate people to that fact. Poor people are most likely to produce mentally retarded children because expectant mothers can't get good nourishment. But even affluent people aren't immune. Women who live on junk food can give birth to a mentally retarded child no matter how much money they have."

"Most of us love children," says Tony, "and most who marry want a family. Why is it we take so few precautionary measures to prevent giving birth to retarded babies? Very few people know that there are over 200 conditions leading to mental retardation, many of which can be determined through simple tests in a doctor's office—and then corrected if they exist!"

I had to dredge up something—no matter how I felt, good or bad.

"My need as a performer," continues Tony, "is to reach people. I've been accused of being corny and sloppily sentimental, but I want to touch people. My need is to reach in and share who and what I am and have it received. What I want in return is what I got from Rhonda... a smile. If I can't achieve that with an audience, I'm cheating them in some way. I'm being cheap with Tony Orlando, not really sharing him, and the audience senses it."

"Tony seems to be a happy man. 'I have never done anything I haven't wanted to, and I do everything today that I want to do. I always try to please me because if I'm pleased, I can be pleasing to others.'"

The others who are very important in his life are his wife, Elaine, and his sons, Jon and Kenny. "I thank God every day that my own kids were born healthy."

"Rhonda was fed, sheltered and clothed, but she reacted to the warmth of another human being. She laughed when held. She returned love by laughing when you entered a room—by trying to touch your hand with hers. It was beautiful. It was also beautiful when I learned that love—real love—is wanting nothing back in return. We loved Rhonda Marie and did what we could for her, knowing the best she could return was a smile. And that was quite enough. It's a pity that we lose the simplicity of love as we mature."

Tony credits his performing ability to his day-to-day involvement with his sister. When he discovered she would kick her feet in time to the music on the radio, he began singing to her. When that wore thin, he learned to play the guitar. Then a few dance steps completed his "act."

Says Tony: "When I was faking it—just trying to pass the time for Rhonda—she would turn away. I could never give less than 100 percent; she knew when I did. To reach Rhonda,

Mental Retardation: Tony Orlando Tells What to Do

Tony is actively engaged in the fight against mental retardation. He cites staggering figures. "There are six and a half million mentally retarded in the U.S. with another 126,000 born yearly. There is no cure because mental retardation is not a disease. But there is a preventive and few people are aware of it. Malnutrition—poor diet—is one of the major causes of retardation. We must educate people to that fact. Poor people are most likely to produce mentally retarded children because expectant mothers can't get good nourishment. But even affluent people aren't immune. Women who live on junk food can give birth to a mentally retarded child no matter how much money they have.

"Most of us love children," says Tony, "and most who marry want a family. Why is it we take so few precautionary measures to prevent giving birth to retarded babies? Very few people know that there are over 200 conditions leading to mental retardation, many of which can be determined through simple tests in a doctor's office—and then corrected if they exist!"

I had to dredge up something—no matter how I felt, good or bad.

"My need as a performer," continues Tony, "is to reach people. I've been accused of being corny and sloppily sentimental, but I want to touch people. My need is to reach in and share who and what I am and have it received. What I want in return is what I got from Rhonda . . . a smile. If I can't achieve that with an audience, I'm cheating them in some way. I'm being cheap with Tony Orlando, not really sharing him, and the audience senses it."

Tony seems to be a happy man. "I have never done anything I haven't wanted to, and I do everything today that I want to do. I always try to please me because if I'm pleased, I can be pleasing to others."

The others who are very important in his life are his wife, Elaine, and his sons, Jon and Kenny. "I thank God every day that my own kids were born healthy."

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Inflammation. Relieves Pain & Itch...

Gives prompt temporary relief in many cases from hemorrhoidal pain and burning itch in such tissues.

There's an exclusive medication which actually helps shrink painful swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. And in many cases it gives prompt relief for hours from rectal itching and pain in such tissues.

showed while it gently relieved such pain, it also helped reduce swelling of these tissues.

The medication used in the tests was Preparation H®. No prescription is needed for Preparation H. In ointment or suppository form.

WALTER AND BETSY CRONKITE
"We've been lucky"

Betsy Cronkite on life with Walter: "It was love at first sight for both of us, although I must admit that Walter is much better-looking today. He used to be such a string bean that my mother insisted on having us over for dinner all the time to fatten him up. Also, for many years he wore his hair slicked back, as was the fashion—but it wasn't extremely flattering. We've been happily married for 35 years, but if I hadn't been trained as a journalist as well, we might not have made it. All the stories you hear about life with a newsman are true—chasing fire trucks, crazy hours and company they keep, all for the sake of getting the whole story. During our first years of marriage, we were apart more than we were together. Money was hard to come by, too. Walter earned $25 a week working the night desk and I had a day job. Certainly it helped that we had no social ambitions. Walter's been known to drive the tackiest car on the block. Quite happily. Neither one of us thinks much of working on a marriage. That sounds so dreary. I pretty much go along with what Walter decides, and he never questions my running of the household or the way I spend money. We've been very lucky."

SENATOR HENRY JACKSON
"Never a little kid"

An old sweetheart of Scoop Jackson's recalls the Senator as a young man: "Scoop and I went out for nine years many years ago. Our values matched in that I didn't have to go to expensive restaurants. Scoop would talk of his Norwegian thriftiness. He's a poor boy from a small town, and I don't know if he'll ever get over it. One reason we got along was that I could tell him off. He respects people who'll stand up to him. But he's a perennial boss. He always wants to take charge. He doesn't have much of a sense of humor. He was never very good at letting loose. I had a feeling he was never a little kid. He's like an elephant: he never forgets. He's also stubborn. If he believed something, he'd stick with it. He was a good listener and a good country boy." From "Scoop: The Life and Politics of Henry M. Jackson," by Peter J. Ognibene (Stein and Day $8.95).

BALLERINA BROOKS

A near-fatal auto accident two years ago left Jacqueline Brooks with one leg an inch-and-a-half shorter than the other. This was particularly tragic because she had dreams of a career with the Royal Ballet. Said her mother of Jacqueline's boundless optimism and courage: "Dancing is my daughter's life, so she couldn't give up hope. An orthopedic surgeon operated, twice broke and reset her injured leg. Many a night my husband and I sat up with her because the pain was so bad. But she's not a quitter." Today, Jacqueline is dancing again and has been accepted as a student at the Royal Academy of Dancing.
